Landlord Locks Census Office; Rent Unpaid

SEATTLE, June 19 —(AP)—A landlord's "closed door" policy in connection with the census bureau office at Caldwell, Idaho, had the Pacific Northwest census supervisor or puzzled tonight.
The supervisor, Gene H. Harris, tut-tutted that the whole thing appeared to be "an unfortunate misunderstanding."
He said he had been advised by Caldwell District Supervisor H. B. Bray that locks on the census office door there had been changed by James J. Gilgan, Jr., owner of the building in which it is housed.
Gilgan told newsmen earlier he had arranged the "lockout" because he hadn't received his May rent. Harris said he was told by Bray the landlord, instead, wanted the June rent in advance.
"Which is right, I don't know," the Northwest supervisor said. "I referred the matter to David S. Phillips, administrative officer of the census bureau at Washington, D.C. He was supposed to get in touch with Gilgan."
Harris went on to say that under government regulations, no advance payments of any kind are made. Vouchers, which come from Washington, D.C., are mailed after services are rendered.
This would rule out any June rent at Caldwell in advance. If Gilgan has failed to receive his May rent, Harris added, it must have been due to a mixup in the main census bureau accounting offices.
"I think the situation will be cleared up very soon," he said. "After all, we've got to get those locked up records."

The captain of the Nora J — unidentified — reported a "bad fire on board. Half an hour later, the captain said he and his men were safe aboard the Sandy S, which he said had effected a "smart rescue," passing "just in time."

VANCOUVER, Wash., June 19 —(AP)—If they had picked a better car two young men wouldn't have landed in jail on car theft charges so quickly.

The car crashed into a cleaning shop, setting off a burglary alarm. Hardly before they extricated themselves, the boys were in police custody. Court Allows Jobless Pay to Sawmill Men

Reversal of a state unemployment compensation commission ruling denying jobless benefits to some sawmill employes at North Bend was decreed Monday by Circuit Judge George R. Duncan of Marion county.
The suit was brought by employes against the SUCC and Irwin-Lyons company.
The benefits were denied for 12 weeks in 1948 during which the men were laid off work due to a labor dispute between two unions as to which should be employed to man the firm's lumber cargo vessels.
The decision stated that evidence showed the employes were not members of the unions involved in the dispute, apparently did not participate in the dispute, apparently failed to cross picket lines and go to work because of threats and displays of physical violence. It added that "so far as appears from the evidence the dispute was beyond the control of both the employer and the claimants."

Strange Facts about Water

Why does rain fall in drops?

Rain is derived from the masses of water vapor we know as clouds. Falling temperature causes this vapor to condense around tiny specks of dust in the air, forming drops which fall to earth.

WILL RAIN WATER MAKE GOOD BEER?

No! Ideal brewing water must be free of dust particles or undesirable minerals and vegetation which affect taste. One of the few places in the world where such pure water has been discovered is at Tumwater, Washington. Here, from deep artesian wells, the Olympia Brewing Company obtains water of constant brewing quality... rare water that gives Olympia Beer its famous delicate flavor.
