Miss Lorraine Poindexter A Bride

By Jermye English
Statesman Society Editor

Attractive, brunette Lorraine Poindexter wore a handsome gown of blush pink slipper satin and nylon lace for her wedding Friday night when she became the bride of Guy William Jonas, jr., son of Guy W. Jonas, Portland, and Mrs. William Doughty of Salem, at the First Congregational church. Michael Carolan sang and Jean Hobson Rich was the organist.

It was at 8 o'clock that the Rev. Harold W. Lyman performed the ceremony before a setting of calla lilies, delphinium and Esther Reed daisies. The alternate pews were marked with satin bows and clusters of the daisies. Lighting the candles at the altar and on the aisle were Miss Charlotte Alexander and Miss Joanne Blaxall, who wore ice green taffeta frocks with wristlets of ivory roses and lavender sweet peas.

Bride Designed Gown
Mr. L. A. Poindexter gave his daughter in marriage. The bride designed her own gown and it was made by her mother. The high neckline was edged in seed pearls and the bodice was of lace. The skirt was fashioned with a lace panel in front and a satin peplum cascading down the sides into the train. Her nylon illusion veil was of blush pink and was held in place by a half bonnet trimmed with veiling and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink Cecile Bruner roses, and stephanotis backed by mistle and lace matching the gown with loops of pearls and satin.

Preceding the bride to the altar were Mrs. C. W. Lurvey of Martinez, Calif., who was her sister's honor matron, Mrs. Calvin Hersey (Carol Fallin) and Miss Naomi Morgan as bridesmaids. The honor attendant wore white eyelet organdy over ice green taffeta fashioned with ankle length skirt, Peter Pan collar, pearl buttons down the front and a green sash. She wore a green taffeta half bonnet with net pouff at the side and green shoes. The bridesmaids wore white eyelet organdy over orchid taffeta with orchid sashes and shoes and orchid bonnets. Their bouquets matched their dresses and were of sweet peas, candy tuft and Martha Washington geraniums looped with garlands of the flowers.

James Minturn stood with the groom as best man and ushers were Richard Hill and Leslie Roberts.

For her daughter's nuptials Mrs. Poindexter chose a portrait blue rayon crepe gown with pink accessories and a corsage of pink rubrum lilies. Mrs. Doughty attended her son's marriage in a pink gown with corsage of rubrum lilies and white calla gladioluses.

Reception in Garden
The newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception in the garden of the Chi Omega sorority house. The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth with a centerpiece of roses and ivy in a crystal epergne, flanked by hurricane lamps and tiny nosegays scattered on the cloth.

Miss Jean Sieber presided at the coffee urn and Miss Geraldine Woodroffe at the punch bowl. Mrs. Grant Fallin cut the cake and assisting were Mrs. William E. Hill, Miss Margaret Howe and Miss Ann Fallin.

The couple will spend their honeymoon at Curriers Village at Lakeside and will return to Salem to make their home. For going away the bride wore navy chiffon appliqued with white organdy flowers, white accessories and a corsage of white gladioluses and calla glads.

The Rev. and Mrs. George H. Swift will be hosts for a family dinner tonight at their Chemeketa street home in honor of their son, George, jr., on his birthday. He will be home for the weekend from his studies at the University of Oregon.

HUBBARD — Thalia Rebekah lodge met Tuesday evening with Mrs. A. L. Murphy presiding in the absence of both the noble grand and the vice grand.

Quamme Home Setting for Wedding

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Quamme was the setting for the marriage of their daughter, Marjorie, and Robert L. Singleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Singleton, on Friday night. The Rev. Carl Schulz of the Christ Lutheran church performed the 8:30 o'clock ceremony before the fireplace which was banked with bouquets of pink and white gladioluses and candles. Miss Doris Kimble played the wedding music.

For her wedding the bride chose a white summer suit with navy blue accessories and her corsage was a purple orchid.

Miss Marilyn Quamme was her sister's honor attendant and wore a navy blue suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Jerry McCormack stood with the groom as best man.

Mrs. Quamme wore a green and yellow sheer gown with corsage of white carnations for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Singleton chose a navy blue and pink dress with pink carnation corsage for the nuptials.

A reception followed and presiding at the bride's table were the bride's aunts, Mrs. Carl Quatt and Mrs. Roy Van Ottingham.

After a short wedding trip the newlyweds will leave for Oklahoma City to live, where he will attend radio engineer school under the civil aeronautics administration. Next year the couple will go to Alaska to make their home, where he will be with the CAA.

Home Ceremony Unites Couple

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hochspeir of Jefferson on June 24 at 8 o'clock Miss Mary June Spinler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapman of Salem, became the bride of Frank Schweinfurth, son of Adam Schweinfurth of Gervais. The couple exchanged their vows before the fireplace which was banked with bouquets of pastel summer flowers. The Rev. R. R. Irwin, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Preceding the rites the Rev. Mr. Irwin sang, accompanied by Mrs. Irwin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ankle length teal blue gown and carried a bouquet of carnations, lilies and roses.

Miss Bunita Gayle, in a beige suit, was the honor attendant. Her bouquet was of white gladioluses. Calvin Bursell served as best man. Mrs. Chapman wore a grey suit for her daughter's wedding and her corsage was of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Schweinfurth wore a white print dress and corsage of white roses.

A reception followed with Mrs. Lawrence Wojciechowski, aunt of the bride, cutting the cake. Miss Phyllis Ramey poured and assisting were Miss Bunita Gayle, Miss Marjorie and Miss Barbara Wilbur.

After a wedding trip to California the couple will be at home in Salem. For traveling the bride chose a wine suit with white accessories.

Couple to Live in Washington

AUMSVILLE—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Briles was the scene of the wedding of their daughter, Hazel, and Arlie A. Johnson of Raymond, Wash., on Saturday, June 24 at 8 o'clock. The Rev. P. C. Walcher of the Church of Christ at Stayton read the single ring service.

The bride wore a grey suit with white accessories and carried a bouquet of roses. Mrs. Ruth Blackburn of Orick, Calif., sister of the bride, was the matron of honor and wore a teal blue suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Leon L. Briles, brother of the bride, was best man.

At the reception Mrs. Blackburn cut the cake and Mrs. Guy Van Brunt of Amboy, Wash., sister of the bride, assisted.

The couple will make their home in Raymond, Wash.

Designing Woman

By Elizabeth Hillyer

PUT UP A NEW FRONT

Tired of battalion formations of drawer pulls on every chest, dresser, server and sideboard in the house? Here's a preview of what designers are doing about drawer design, as sketched for you at the market showings of furniture for fall in Chicago at the American Furniture Mart. This double dresser has six drawers, and if it had drawer pulls, there would be a dozen of them. Too many, said the designer, and worked his design out with no drawer pulls at all. Instead, he gave the dresser a picture frame front, and made the "frame" edges project forward to act as pulls. The picture frame design is as handsome on other bedroom furniture to match. The finish is bleached or gray, and the wood is mahogany.

Do you know how to mix paint to get the exact color you want? Do you know how to paint furniture the easiest and best professional way? Elizabeth Hillyer's booklet, SMART AS PAINT — PAINTING PROBLEMS SOLVED, tells you how. This booklet is yours for 15 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to Miss Hillyer at this newspaper. (Copyright 1950 by John F. Dille Co.)

The Raspberry

Little Red Berry Makes Good Jam And Takes Well to Freezing, too

By Maxine Buren
Statesman Women's Editor

Today it's raspberries, and pretty soon we'll have other cane berries. This berry is one of the most delicate, and has to be handled with extreme care so it will not soften. There are two ways to can the berries, recommended by this department. Here's an old family recipe for doing it:

CANNED RASPBERRIES

Fill sterilized jars with the raspberries, pour boiling syrup made from equal measures sugar and water over them, adjust lids and set into hot water bath. Bring to a good rolling boil and remove pan from heat. Cover tightly and let cool in the water. Some women wrap kettle in newspapers to cool slower. Then a second method, equally unusual and probably equally good.

CANNED RASPBERRIES

Pack berries into sterilized pint jars, shaking them down, but not mashing. Put into hot water bath, boil for 20 minutes with lids and rubbers on. Then carefully remove lids, and pour over the fruit, boiling syrup made from cup of sugar and water. Put lids back on and screw down tight.

If you plan to freeze the raspberries, handle as little as possible. Rinse lightly, put quickly into the containers with or without sugar. We prefer without, as the berries break down less than when sugar has been added. Use approximately 1 cup sugar to each two quarts of berries, or to suit the taste. Freeze immediately.

For an excellent jam, try this one which we publish each year, but which we think is excellent for raspberries, boysen, young blackberries and others.

STIRRED JAM

3 cups mashed berries 3 cups sugar
Bring berries to a hard boil, boiling for 2 minutes. Add sugar, stir until it is dissolved. Let boil for 1 minute, put over a low flame and beat hard for 4 or 5 minutes with a flat wire whip. The jam will thicken as you beat. Pour into glasses. When cold it will slice.

Raspberry shrub is an old-fashioned drink which is good for summer or winter use.

RASPBERRY SHRUB

2 cups sugar 2 quarts ripe raspberries
1 cup sharp vinegar
Heat sugar and vinegar to the boiling point and pour over the berries. Let stand for 1 hour, stirring frequently. Let drip through jelly bag. Bring to a boil and pour into sterilized jars and process for 5 minutes in boiling water bath.

You can make raspberries with this recipe:

RASPBERRY-LEMON JELLY

8 boxes berries Sugar
1 whole lemon
Slice lemon, rind and all. Cook with the berries to extract juice. Drain through jelly bag, cook juice for a few minutes (around 5 minutes), measure, and add an equal quantity of sugar. Cook about 4 minutes longer until it jells when tested on cold saucer.

Salem Man Weds Eugene Girl

A Salem man, Clarence Norman Hammer, son of Mrs. Charles G. McElroy of Salem, became the bride of Miss Peggyann Montgomery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine C. Montgomery of Eugene, on June 18 at the First Congregational church in Eugene. Dr. Wesley Goodson Nicholson officiated at the 3 o'clock service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown fashioned en train with long sleeves and sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held in place with a tара of beaded orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and orchids.

Miss Marie Hayes of Eugene was the maid of honor and wore a blue morie taffeta frock with scalloped bertha collar and full skirt. Miss Arlene Gubrud and Miss Elnora Nelson of Eugene were bridesmaids and wore orchid and ice blue gowns made similar to the honor attendants'. Their bouquets were of pink rosebuds and stephanotis.

Harry A. Hammer of Salem was best man for his brother and ushers were Herbert Appington and Roy Rice of Salem.

Mrs. Montgomery wore a rose crepe gown with grey accessories and Mrs. McElroy attended her son's wedding in a navy blue gown with pink accessories. Their corsages were of rosebuds and stephanotis.

A reception followed in the Wheeler room in the church. Mrs. Herbert Appington of Salem was among those assisting.

After a trip to Yellowstone National Park the couple will be at home in Eugene at 3906 Highway 99 South. For going away the bride wore a grey suit with green and white accessories.

Mrs. McElroy entertained for the
