

Miss Paulsen Mr. Skopil Are Married

Gowned in a white wedding dress of imported French rose-point lace, Miss Janet Mary Paulsen became the bride of Robert Ralph Skopil, at a ceremony held at St. Joseph church in Seattle July 18. Father William Codd performed the 4:30 o'clock ceremony. The bride, daughter of George W. Paulsen of Seattle, was given in marriage by her father. The wedding gown was fashioned with tight fitting bodice of the lace, and with full skirt of lace and starched tulle. A small Dutch cap held the finger-tip illusion veil. The bride's Colonial bouquet was all white, of bouvardia, lilies-of-the-valley and stephanotis. The honor attendant was Miss Marjorie Miller, Seattle, who wore a light blue organdy with matching Dutch hat and carried flowers of white and navy blue. Bridesmaids were Miss Mildred Tyler, Portland, Miss Jean St. Onge, Roseburg, Miss Marilyn Morse, Astoria and Miss Muriel McLaughlin of Seattle, all in navy blue and white and carrying bouquets similar to Miss Miller's. Otto R. Skopil, Jr., was best man for his brother. Seating the guests were Richard Page and Leland Hoar of Salem, Travis Cross, Eugene and Tim Preston of Silverton. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Skopil, sr. of Eugene, formerly of Salem. Mrs. Skopil wore a full length

ERROR THE BATHROOM
Try a trick that's both handsome and practical on that lazy lower half of the bathroom window. Make it mirror bright and use the sill for a powder shelf. So often, the lower half of the bathroom window is seldom opened gives little light—air and light are counted on from the upper section of the window alone. Have mirror cut to cover the entire lower half of the window including the window frame. The mirror fastens easily to the frame, and with the window handles removed, fits down to the sill. Now you have a mirror that's really big enough to see yourself in, and with the whole window freshly curtained and beauty boxes and bottles on the shelf the effect is big decoration for the room. This is an idea particularly for the small bathroom that has almost no room in it to put on glamorous airs. The new powder niche adds decoration without subtracting an inch of valuable space.

Underneath those layers of dingy varnish you may have something there—a beautiful piece of furniture that needs only to show its fine wood grain. Learn how to work refinishing wonders with the help of Elizabeth Hillyer's new booklet Furniture Refinishing—How to Do It Yourself. It's yours for 15c in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to Miss Hillyer at this newspaper. (Copyright 1950 by John F. Hillyer Co.)

Collection of Glassware and Furniture From Finland Has Arrived in Country

A new collection of glassware, modern furniture and decorative accessories has just arrived in this country from Finland and will soon be in stores around the United States. Among the Finnish designs shown are a group of lamps and lighting fixtures by Paavo Tynell and a collection of glassware by his wife, Helena Tynell.

A hall mark of this designer, appear in many of the pieces. Mrs. Tynell has a number of water pitchers and tumblers in both clear glass and bright emerald green. She also uses green glass, from a pale shade to the emerald hue, in bowls, vases and ash trays. A vase of pale green glass, rises from a heavy base in a fountain-like column and is delicately etched in a line pattern. Inspired by Northern Lights, a bud vase pattern in heavy crystal, has the same type of etching. Knock-down and practical styling is featured in the Finnish furniture. Dining tables to be assembled in the home are round or rectangular with screw-in legs. Tops of hand-rubbed natural mahogany or elm contrast with natural Finnish birch legs in occasional tables, and matching chairs can be stacked compactly when not in use.

On Etiquette

By Roberts Lee

Q. Is anything at all written on the inner envelope enclosing a formal wedding invitation?
A. Only the names of those to whom you are mailing the invitation—no address. This envelope is then placed in the second, or outer, envelope which is sealed and addressed.
Q. When introducing a relative, is it proper to use the possessive pronoun and mention the relationship?
A. Yes, this is perfectly proper. One may say, "My father, my mother, my sister, my uncle."
Q. If a divorcee retains her husband's surname, how should she be known?
A. By her given name, her family name and her married name, as, "Mrs. Mary Brown Williams."

Shower Given

GERVAIS — Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hood, Mrs. Jacob Cutforth and Miss Viola Bierly, entertained Friday evening for the pleasure of Miss Luzerne Hanes, bride-elect, with a miscellaneous shower at the church parlors of the Gervais Presbyterian church.
