

Little Change Due Industry In Portland

PORTLAND, July 20—(P)—There will be no conversion of Portland industry for war production, industrial spokesmen said today.

That's because the area has no wartime specialties. Normal production is of such raw materials as lumber, and the only conversion necessary would be to change consignees: to ship lumber, paper, and blankets to the armed forces instead of commercial houses.

The big industrial change in the last war was the introduction of shipyards. These now are silent. One big one remains on a standby basis, and could get into production in a relatively few months.

That is not likely, though, since the shipyards left a huge reserve of merchant vessels now in storage at such points as Astoria. Several ships already have been called into service from these idle fleets. Scores more are available.

Stock Market Drives Ahead To New Gains

NEW YORK, July 20—(P)—A war-nourished stock market thrust ahead for the third day running today.

Railroad issues stole the show. On average the carriers climbed to a peak since 1948. Individual stocks rolled forward $1 to around $3 a share. It was the sharpest daily rise for this group since December, 1948.

Other war babies lagged after the rails: steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, chemicals, oils. Gains ranged from a few cents to an extreme of $5 for one high-priced stock.

The market value of all stocks listed on the exchange increased by roughly $1,000,000,000 today.

alone. For the past three days the increase amounted to around $3,500,000,000, a startling jump in paper values for a three-day period.

Trading today expanded to 3,160,000 shares from 2,430,000 Wednesday and was the highest for the past week.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks jumped 1.1 to 74.5, the best level reached in three weeks.

Elfstrom Firm Lowest Bidder

The R. L. Elfstrom company was low bidder for roofing five bachelor quarter units, 10 apartment units and 20 duplex housing units at McNary dam, army engineers reported Thursday.

The Elfstrom bid was $14,898, low of 14 bids entered. The government estimated was $22,683.
