

St. Paul's Is Setting for Nuptials

The early autumn colors were selected for the gowns of the attendants and the flowers by Miss Dona Jean Pence, when she became Ronald Wesley Naim's bride on Saturday night. The ceremony took place at St. Paul's Episcopal church at 8 o'clock with the Rev. George H. Swift officiating.

Miss Pence is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pence and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Naim of Dallas, Gordon Pratt was the soloist and Miss Ruth Bedford the organist. The altar was banked with bouquets of gladioluses in shades of yellow and gold.

The petite brunette bride wore an eggshell satin gown for her wedding. The long sleeved bodice was of ecru lace and at the waist was a peplum. The full skirt terminated in a train. Her fingertip illusion veil was of ecru and cascaded from a headpiece of orange blossoms and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of cream colored gladioluses, talisman roses and stephanotis tied with silk lace ribbon. Mr. Pence gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. William Amls, cousin of the bride, was the honor attendant and Miss Patricia Fitzsimmons and Miss Carol Weinstein were the bridesmaids. Their satins and frocks were in shades of toast, gold and maize designed with boat shaped necklines, rolled collars, and the skirts were of unpressed pleats which fell into an apron effect. The honor matron's skirt was slightly entrench. They all wore matching braided satin halos caught with flowers and their cascade bouquets were of yellow gladioluses tied with ribbons the color of their dresses. Joan Hoevet, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl and her frock was of moss green satin.

Attend the Groom
Wayne Taylor served as his cousin's best man and seating the guests were Bud Foster, Dale and Donald Pence, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Pence attended her daughter's wedding in a pink linen gown with black accessories and a corsage of rubrum lilies. Mrs. Naim's gown was of beige linen with black and gold accessories with a corsage of Talisman roses.

The newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception in the parish house. Mrs. A. A. Hoevet and Mrs. Ora Pence, grandmothers of the bride, presided at the coffee urns and Mrs. C. L. Foster of Dallas cut the cake. Mrs. L. K. Lawrence was in charge of the dining room and assisting were Mrs. Dale Pence, Miss Elsie Younger, Miss Katherine Siegmund, Miss Joann Bunell, Miss Jeanette Martin, Miss Betty Keeker and Miss Florence Hyde. The bride's table was covered with a blue satin cloth and centered with a heart shaped tiered cake adorned with yellow roses.

After a wedding trip to the coast the couple will be at home in Dallas. The bride's going away outfit was a white gabardine dress with navy accessories.

Art Exhibit of Colored Sketches

A collection of pen and ink sketches by P. M. Hart are on display in the small print gallery at Elstrom's. Mr. Hart, who had a photograph studio in Salem in the early part of the century, moved away many years but has returned to live here. He has been doing the drawings the past five years as a pastime.

The sketches are of birds, flowers and butterflies in considerable detail. The charming pictures are quite unusual and reflect the art of bygone days.

Don't Look Now...

but... seeing those new Hopalong Cassidy skates with the spurs on the back, we were thinking that a fellow has to learn to fall with his heels in the right direction these days.

1950 slogan for gardeners... "Is this Trip Necessary?"

Four sheets to the wind... A young housewife who has to make up five beds every week found that a few sheets had gone to pieces and upon attempting to buy enough to carry her through a complete change for the week, she had to pay a very high price for four new ones. She tossed them into her convertible and went about her shopping. When she came back, the sheets were gone. That's a mean trick.

Oh well... A local woman invited a fellow guest to ride home this week from a luncheon in "her new car." The guest asked the proud owner what make, to which the latter replied "I don't know, but I think it begins with a P." Whereupon the rider asked "Pontiac, Peerless (I love that) or Packard?" Well, the owner decided maybe Packard sounded more familiar. Ho hum, what's one Packard or so between friends, anyway?

Pride goeth... the other day in a brave attempt to say something funny, we commented that no robust hostess should worry about rain if she planned a garden party. Well, we had a modest little outdoor affair for 37 ladies of more or less our own vintage on Thursday. Do you remember Thursday just about supertime? Oh well, the girls all brought their mink coats... Maxine Buren

Couple Leaves For South On Trip

Miss Rosanna McMeekin received her wedding ring from Daryl Wayne Willecke on Saturday afternoon at a ceremony performed at the First Baptist church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McMeekin and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Willecke.

Dr. Lloyd T. Anderson performed the 3 o'clock rites before a setting of white gladioluses, fern and tapers. Soloists were Miss Eileen Acton and Dale Bull. Mrs. John Schmidt, jr. was the organist. Miss Kathleen McMeekin and Miss Nancy Zolezzi, in orchid taffeta frocks, lighted the tapers.

Of white satin was the bride's gown fashioned with a draped skirt in front and ending in a full train. The bodice was designed with a low rounded neckline filled in with a pearl encrusted white lace yoke. A pearlized orange blossom crown held in place her lace edged fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Gerald Bull, the honor matron, wore a yellow taffeta frock and Miss Barbara McMeekin, bridesmaid, wore pale green taffeta. Their bouquets were of roses and stephanotis.

Waldo Willecke stood with the groom as best man and ushers were Norman E. Mann, Robert Cook, Douglas Coe and Gerald Bull.

A dusty rose afternoon gown was chosen by Mrs. McMeekin for the wedding and Mrs. Willecke's dress was of pale green. Their corsages were of yellow roses.

A reception was held in the church parlors and pouring were Mrs. Walter Willecke and Mrs. Myrl E. Burns. Mrs. L. T. Smith cut the cake. Assisting were Mrs. S. E. Underwood, Mrs. Walter Judd, Mrs. Norman Mann, Misses Barbara Burns, Phyllis Johnston, Arlene Combs, Wilma Jane Kerr of Portland, Doris Dierks and Shirley Bosell.

The couple went south on their wedding trip and for traveling the bride donned a beige suit with navy blue picture hat, white and navy accessories. She pinned a white orchid to her ensemble. The newlyweds will make their home in Canby.
