Shirley Jones, Louis Lorenz Engaged

By Jermye English
Statesman Society Editor
Taking the romantic spotlight today is Miss Shirley Jones, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Jones, Jr., whose engagement to Louis Lorenz, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lorenz, was revealed Monday night at a smartly arranged party for which Miss Elaine Stanley and Miss Patricia Elfrstrom were hostesses at the former's home on Rose street.

No wedding date has been set by the engaged duo. Miss Jones and her fiancé are graduates of Salem schools and he has been attending Willamette university. He is now employed at the Ladd and Bush branch, United States National bank. The bride-elect is now serving as worthy advisor of Chadwick Assembly, Order of Rainbow Girls.

Guests learned of the betrothal when they found favors at each place. A chocolate wedding cake centered the supper table. After the dessert supper the evening hours were spent informally.

Bidden to the announcement party were the Misses Shirley Jones, Janet Gaiser, Bonnie Belle Stewart, Joyce Armstrong, Marilyn Power, Nancy Miller, Leslyn Burdette, Anne Forristal, Carol Fuhr, Donna Beard, Joan Marie Miller, Edna Marie Hill, Barbara Flagg, Sharon Plunkett, Pebbie DeSart, Elizabeth Johnson, Betty Cooley and Mary Feike.

New Citizens Are Greeted

To Mr. and Mrs. William H. Egan (Lois Mansfield) go felicitations on the birth of a daughter, Carol Ann, on August 19 at the Salem General hospital. The little girl, who weighed eight pounds, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Egan of Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mansfield of Portland. Her great-grandmothers are Mrs. Frank Deckebach of Salem and Mrs. E. Ehmman of Gresham.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Dewey, Jr. (Nancy Lou West) are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Michael West, on August 17 at the Salem Memorial hospital. The little boy weighed six pounds, fifteen ounces and his grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis West of Berkeley, Calif. and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Dewey of Corvallis. The great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Wassam of Salem and Mrs. Wharton West of Berkeley. Mrs. West has come north from the bay city to greet her first grandchild and will be joined later in the month by Mr. West.

The hostesses were Mrs. John Richards of McMinnville, Miss Nellie Ferguson of Portland, Miss Carol and Miss Carolyn Ferguson, twins of the hon or guests.

Fifty friends called during the afternoon. Bouquets of summer flowers were used about the rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson were married in Beaverton on August 16, 1925 and have resided here the past three years.

Designing Woman

By Elizabeth Hillier
GLASS CURTAINS
Glass for the window today can mean the window pane only—and it can mean the curtain that hangs there, too. New glass marquisettes, tailored panels and ruffled curtains, are as truly glass as the window pane. They begin the same way, as solid glass, which is melted and drawn out into strong fibers which are finer than a spider's web. These fibers are spun into yarn, and the yarn is woven. From the brittle brilliance of the original glass comes a soft, translucent fabric that hangs in graceful folds, and the good qualities of the original material that can make a window fabric better than rain, light or heat can't affect them. They cannot mildew or rot and are proof against insects. They're easy to wash, need no ironing and keep their shape. Some of the newest glass fabrics are drapery weight, in modern textured weaves, small stripes and checks.

Elizabeth Hillier's booklet, FURNITURE REFINISHING—HOW TO DO IT YOURSELF starts you off to success on the first refinishing job you ever tried—gives advice on stain repair, too. ## Patricia Doss Is Married

At the Calvary Baptist church on Saturday night, Miss Patricia Doss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Doss, became the bride of Richard H. Wallace, son of Mrs. Victoria Wallace, all of Salem. The Reverend Mr. Barth performed the 8 o'clock double ring nuptials. Mrs. R. H. Ermel sang and Katherine Cracroft was the organist.

Mr. Doss gave his daughter in marriage and she wore a white marquisette gown designed with panel insertions of lace with long sleeves. The full skirt and train were enhanced with a wide marquisette ruffle and the square neckline of the dress was outlined with lace and ruffling. Her bridal bouquet was of white glamelias. Her headpiece of satin and orange blossoms held in place her French illusion veil.

Mrs. Dean Davenport, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor and wore a pastel pink marquisette gown with ruffled bodice and skirt. She carried a crescent bouquet of white glamelias. The bridesmaids were Mrs. James Sneddon, sister of the groom, and Miss Donna Ekblad, who wore identical marquisette frocks of yellow and aqua. They carried colonial nosegays of glamelias.

James Sneddon was his brother-in-law's best man and ushers were Richard Fall, Rodney Anderson, Dean Davenport and Richard Orav. Mr. Doss selected a navy dress with navy and white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias and pink rosebuds, for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Wallace wore a navy blue suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of white gardenias and pink rosebuds.

A reception followed in the fire place room. Mrs. Mary Kirkham cut the cake and Mrs. Richard Orav poured. Assisting were the Misses Joan Weber, Dorothy Englehart and Edith Doss, younger sister of the bride.

The couple went to Washington for their honeymoon and for traveling the bride chose a navy blue suit with short jacket, white veiled velvet hat and white accessories. To her navy blue suit she pinned a corsage of red roses and white bouvardia.

Program Outlined For Volunteers

On Etiquette

By Roberta Lee
Q. In the Protestant faith, what is the proper age for a child to be christened?
A. There is no definite age. The parents may choose any time they wish, but the general rule is before the child is six months old.
Q. If a couple are entertaining a few guests for the evening, who should meet them at the door?
A. The husband should take care of this and should assist the woman guests in removing her wraps.
Q. When a girl is standing talking with a man, and the drops some article she is holding, should she make any attempt to pick it up?
A. No; she should wait for the man to pick it up.

More for Your Money

New Lamp Styles Show Much Variety In Size and Material. Bases Unusual

By Sue Gardner
There is a great deal of freshness and originality in new lamps now being shown for distribution to stores early in the fall. One of the most noticeable trends appears in primitive figurines used as lamp bases. Dancing figures carved from mahogany or other woods, molded metals or sculptured stone are used for many of the new lamps. For more traditional settings, cut crystal and milk glass stage a comeback in favorites with homemakers, decorating or redoing their homes. Many new glazes have appeared in the new collections and spatter effects give new color and depth to a lamp base. Driftwood in all shapes and sizes is also a new trend this season.
