OSC Club Improved;
Aiken Has Green Crew

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1-(P)-With several hundred candidates turning out fall football practice got underway today at the nine member schools of the Pacific Coast conference and at the major independent institutions.

Attention centered on the big threats for the Rose bowl assignment next Jan. 1 in the Coast conference, with California, Stanford, and Southern California rated the chief threats and Washington and UCLA regarded as "sleeper" candidates for the honor.

Coach Lynn O. Waldorf of California, the Coast's beaten Rose bowl representative the past two years, lost many key men from his 1949 aggregation but listed the nucleus of another potential powerhouse in the near-100 who answered today's opening session.

Linenmen seemed to be the problem for most of the squads, while backfield talent appeared excellent on almost all fronts.

Santa Clara, the leading coast independent, listed only two of the starting eleven which defeated Kentucky in the Orange bowl last winter. St. Mary's and Loyola of Los Angeles also initiated practice today and both shape up as improved over 1949.

Oregon State is rated much improved over the Kip Taylor team of a year ago. At Oregon, Jim Alken terms his club green but willing. Forest Evashevski, the one-time blocker for Tommy Harmon at Michigan, makes his Coast coaching debut at Washington State. It appears, though, that he has lost too many men to the armed forces even before he could count noses. Dixie Howell at Idaho has his usual undemanded squad.

50 Out at OSC

CORVALLIS, Sept. 1-(P)-Oregon State football Coach Kip Taylor looked over 50 men who turned out for the first fall football practice today and predicted he's to have a better offensive team than last year's. The 1949 squad set a school scoring record of 232 points for the season.

Only three weeks remain before the Beavers meet Michigan State at East Lansing. Taylor plans to put his men through two workouts a day to whip them in shape for the tough opener.

Cravath Greets 75

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1-(P)-Coach Jeff Cravath of the University of Southern California greeted about 75 football players today and promptly made a couple of switches in his lineup. Halfback Pat Duff was shifted from right halfback, where he performed creditably last year, to fullback, and big Jess Swope was moved from tackle to guard.

81 Aspirants at UCLA

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1-(P)-Eighty-one players turned out today for football practice at UCLA but letterman fullback Hal Braly was missing.

Coach Red Sanders was surprised when the 195-pound Los Angeles boy failed to show up, although he knew Braly had complained of a knee re-injured at a national guard training camp this summer.

Cougar Squad Totals 55

PULLMAN, Wash., Sept. 1-(P)-Forest Evashevski made his September debut as a Pacific Coast conference football coach today by sending 55 Washington State college grididers through their first fall drills. The Cougars, who will work from the single wing this year after several "T" seasons, split into four squads for signal drills in the afternoon.

Empire' Open Begins Today

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 1-(P)-The $15,000 Empire State Open Golf tournament gets off to a rain-delayed start tomorrow.

A revised schedule of play calls for 18-hole rounds tomorrow and Sunday, and a 36-hole windup Monday.

Most of the nation's top professionals will vie for the $2,600 first prize. Among the favorites are Lloyd Mangrum, Jim Ferrier, Henry Ransom, Cary Middlecoff and Skip Alexander.

However, the top money winner of the touring pros, Sam Snead, will not compete. Snead, off his game, decided to go fishing instead.

The victorious Cochell will get a shot at another Davis Cup stalwart when he faces Gardner Mulloy of Miami in one of tomorrow's two remaining quarter-finals. The way he polished off Sedgman today, the little red head will be favored to win it, too. Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Billy Talbert of New York City clash for the other semi-final berth.

The day's two women's quarterfinals strictly followed form. The champion, Mrs. Margaret Osborne Dupont of Wilmington, Del., erased Mrs. Pat Canning Todd of La Jolla, Calif., 6-3, 6-2. In the opposite bracket, Doris Hart of Jacksboro eliminated Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, 6-4, 6-4. Unless something remarkable happens, Margaret and Doris will meet in the final again.

Beaver Hope

Sammy Baker (above), the touted ex-prep star, is among the sophomore prospects Oregon State Coach Kip Taylor hopes will help him in 1950 grid drills open.

Lesser Captures Girls' Golf Toga

BUFFALO, N.Y., Sept. 1-(P)-Patricia Ann Lesser, a trim tanned youngster from Seattle, Wash., won the second annual USGA junior girls golf championship today by trimming Mary Kathryn (Mickey) Wright of La Jolla, Calif., 4 and 2. Pat whipped over Wanaqua Country club's 6,313 waterlogged yards in five-over-par figures in spite of a few shaky moments on the front nine.

LIGHTED WAY WINNER
SPokane, Sept. 1-(P)-Lighted Way, a six-year-old Chestnut gelding, came up from last place at the first turn to win the $800 inaugural handicap at Playfair track by two lengths today before 2,566 fans. The winner paid $11.20, $4.70 and $3.70.

but Hornsby never made use of his great speed on the bases. He had no adventure on the paths at all. Robinson certainly outshines him there."

Waikus' Life in Flickers

A forthcoming baseball movie may feature the life of Eddie Waikus. Universal International is said to be considering doing the yarn. . . Tom Swope of the Cincinnati Post has suggested to Ford Frick, National League president, that because of the sameness of the umpires' summer uniforms of solid blue shirts and trousers, which make them resemble city firemen, especially at night, that Frick have "N. L." lettered on their shirt fronts in white, collars edged with white, and white piping down the outside seams of the trouser legs, and that white belts be worn. . . Swope also came up with another swell idea when he proposed that for next year the umpires be assigned scoreboard numbers. This, Tom believes, not only would enable John Q. Fan to identify the umpires more readily, but would relieve the sameness of the uniforms by having the umpires wear white numbers on their backs. . . Branch Rickey has turned goose caller in making recordings on his Maryland farm, so that when he goes shooting in the early morning he can rest his vocal cords by taking a portable phonograph along with him. . . Walter Briggs, Sr., owner of the Detroit Tigers, won't let the pro football teams set foot in Briggs Stadium until after the World's Series, regardless of where it is played. . . Clark Griffith has weakened in his determination to throw television out of his park next season, but he plans to hike the price to the sponsors. . . An interested reader, G. J. Flournoy of Mobile, wants to know why ball players don't use the small end of the bat for bunting. Years back, some of the best bunters did a quick switch with the handle end of the bat to lay down a bunt. Maybe that never occurred to some of the boys today, Colonel Flournoy.
