Ice going into these bunkers in a railroad refrigerator car will keep Salem fruit and produce from spoiling as it is taken to consumers all over the U.S. Here Mike Battalion, chipper at the Capital Ice and Cold Storage company, breaks up a 300 pound chunk of ice into a car bunker. He wears baseball catcher's shin guards to protect his legs. Capital Ice is the Salem icing stage for the Pacific Fruit Express company, which is operated by the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific railway companies.

While blocks of ice are shoved onto a refrigerator car from building canopy, a fork lift operator hoists sacks of salt atop car during icing at Terminal Ice and Cold Storage Co. Salt reduces the temperature of the wheeled ice boxes in direct ratio to amount of salt used. At fork lift is Frances McDonald, 260 Gaines st.; while atop car are Bob Santee, 1880 N. 24th st., left, and Wayne Blair, 1225 N. 18th st. Terminal Ice serves the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railway company refrigerator cars. (Statesman photos.)

Rolling Refrigerators Take Mammoth Bites of Ice to Keep Produce on Way to Markets

Salem residents minds this summer with day after day of temperatures ranging above 90 degrees. But most of us know little about the tremendous amount of ice used in processing and preserving fruits and vegetables in this area.

Frozen strawberries and other products of the field and orchard has opened an entirely new in-dustry for the northwest in the last ten years, and has increased the use of refrigerated railroad box cars and also special refrig-erated trucks. Two Salem business firms, Capital Ice and Cold Storage Co., and Terminal Ice and Cold Storage Co., are key icing points for the refrigerator cars which speed Oregon produce to their New York consumer as fresh as when harvested. Ice Boxes on Wheels

The story starts back in the 1920's when ordinary box cars were loaded with crates of lettuce, banahas or other perishable items, and then iced down directly cent of ice weight may be salt, Ice and its cooling effects has been an item uppermost in most Temperature will range from zero degrees for frozen food, to 45 degrees for fresh produce. Car Left to Cool Cars are feed in about 5 minutes, and five to six tons of ice is used in the process. The iced car is left to cool for a 24-hour period before being loaded with its cargo. Then it is re-iced to replace the ice lost during the cooling. During transit the car is re-iced every 4 hours under standard refrigeration procedure. The cars iced by Capital Ice are used by frozen food packers in Salem. They also freeze and store fresh fruits and vegetables in their several massive cold storage rooms. Many tons of the annual Salem area strawberry crop wait each year in the cold Capital Ice vaults for consignment to eastern and southern markets.

The size of their icing opera-tions may be gathered from the fact that they are the largest users of salt in the state other than a chemical plant in Portland, ac-cording to Leslie Salt Co., officials,

Stocks Lunge Ahead to New 4-Year Highs

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 -(AP)- The stock market lunged ahead to a new four-year high today. Rails on average highballed to a 19-year peak. The 1949-50 bull market, in short, was still very much alive despite the battering which followed the Korean war. Gains ranged to around $2 a share. About 135 issues established new 1950 highs during the day while only two touched bottom for the period. Trading volume ballooned as buyers clamored for stocks. Sales Final Rites for totaled 2,600,000 shares, largest in around seven weeks, and compared with 1,680,000 Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of Slated Thurson

60 stocks jumped .8 of one point to 81.1. This was a top of Tuesday's rise of 1.1 point. At 81.1 the average was just under the 1946 peak of 82.4. That market has soared since 1931. The market was the broades since July 12 with 1,173 individual issues traded. Of these 785 ad-

Prune Harvest The Statesman, Salem Ore., Thursday, Sept. 16. 1950-17 Demonstration Slated Friday

Harvesting Italian prunes with catching frames and a field cleaner will be demonstrated at the Harry Schmeltzer farm in the Scholls district beginning at 10 a.m. on Friday, September 15, according to Palmer S. Torvend, Washington county extension as Washington county extension ag-ent. Torvend is a former Silverton Visitors from Marion county can follow the road signs from New-berg toward Scholls. About 200 yards this side of Scholls, take the right hand road from the Newberg-Scholls highway, proceed up the mountain to the first "T" cross road, and take the left hand road for about 1/4 mile. The Schmeltzer farm is the second place on the right hand side.

"These catching frames and field cleaner were used by W. R. Berndt of Salem last year," says County Extension Agent D. L. Rasmussen. "Berndt harvested Italian prunes for $5 per ton with this equipment. Since Berndt has no prune crop this year, he has loaned his equipment to Schmeltzer who has a fair crop. Persons attending the demonstration will see the equipment operating under field conditions," concluded Rasmussen.

Ross Brown, Retired Area Farmer, Dies

Ross T. Brown, 71, retired far-mer who lived recently at 679 N. High st., died Tuesday at a Salem

Born Jan. 9, 1879, in Ohio, Brown came to Salem 46 years ago. He was married in 1904 in Montana to Margaret Emily Stap-leton who died in October of 1945. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Mary R. Jackson, Newport; three granddaughters, Mrs. Savil Jean Elder, Lebanon; Mrs. Joyce Sherwood, Wallace, Idaho; and Mrs. Margaret Fail, Salem; a grandson, Tom B. Iler, Newport; and four great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday from the Clough-Barrick chapel with the Rev. Dudley Strain officiating. Interment will be in City View cemetery.

Slated Thursday

SILVERTON — Graveside services will be held Thursday at Miller cemetery for Mrs. Nettie Jam-ison Sullivan, 64, who died at her home in Centralia, Tuesday.

She was born in Scotts Mills, February 4, 1887. She was the foster daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Van Valkenberg of Silverton. Her mother was the former Susan Whitlock.

Survivors are the widower, Tom Sullivan, Centralia; a daughter, Josephine Fischer and a granddaughter, Janice Fischer, the lat-ter two living in Honolulu, T.H.

Market Down

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 -(P) - Lack of sustained demand sent the grain market lower on the board of trade today.

Wheat closed 1½-1½ lower, corn 1½ lower, torn 1½ lower, and lard was unchanged to 13 cents a hundred pounds lower.

More favorable war news from Korea — the best in some time may have restrained speculative buying and even created some selfing, traders suggested. Mills stayed out of the wheat market, reflecting poor demand for flour.

Hedging pressure appeared in wheat as the spring wheat crop came to market in great volume. One factor discouraging to bulls in wheat was the discount at which cash wheat is selling. No. 2 hard, deliverable on futures, was quoted nominally at 3 to 4 cents under the September contract price.
