Visitors Hold Spotlight This Week

By Jerome English
Statesman Society Editor

Early autumn news centers around numerous visitors in the capital and informal parties planned in their honor. Vacationists still hold the limelight with many planning trips during the fall months.

Tea to Fete Visitor
Mrs. Paul Theodore Karschnia (Carroll Jean Gragg) has sent out invitations to an informal tea for which she will be hostess on Saturday afternoon at the North Capital street home of her parents, the Albert C. Graggs, in compliment to Mrs. Donald O. Wells of Modesto, Calif., who has been visiting in the capital since July.

Mrs. Wells and son, Steven, plan to leave for their home the end of the month. While here they have been guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Lester Newman. The hostess has invited fifty of Mrs. Wells' friends to call between 4 and 5 o'clock.

Luncheon Thursday
Mrs. Robert Maldock of Portland was in Salem on Thursday as the overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ronald Hudkins. On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Hudkins entertained a few friends at luncheon at her country place on Cunningham Lane in honor of Mrs. Winston Williams, who recently returned from Germany, and Mrs. Baldock.

Here from South
Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ferguson of Long Beach, Calif., formerly of Salem, are guests for a week of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Werner Brown. They are spending a few days at the Brown's beach home at Neskeoin and this weekend Mrs. Brown and sons, John and Clifford, will join the visitors at the beach.

Mrs. and Mrs. Norman E. Hayward (Mrs. Hillpot) who were married in August at the Scio Baptist church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Miller and the groom is the son of the E. H. Haywards, all of Scio.

Hello Autumn

Fall Fruits Make Good Salads; Here's Some Enticing Suggestions

By Maxine Buren
Statesman Woman's Editor

Though we never thought such a thing could happen to us, we are getting just a little tired of tomato-cucumber-lettuce-onion salad.

Tossed green salads have been ours, and no doubt your most frequently served dish, though looking at many figures one wonders how a summer diet of salads can produce such buxom individuals.

Fall fruits and vegetables can be gathered together to make some pretty enticing salads.

Melons, water and cantaloups combine to make attractive salads. We note that water cress is in the market, and combined with the varied colors of the melons, it makes for good looking dishes.

Avacados, tomatoes and melons may alternate to make another pretty salad. Cut in wedges and lay on endive or lettuce and top with French dressing.

Onions and oranges make a salad welcomed after a summer of vegetables. Large, late mild onions and oranges blend well in flavor and the color's interesting.

Artichoke hearts, either fresh cooked or canned, when arranged on a green with pickles and thousand island dressing make a dinner salad or buffet special.

Grapes are one of the best salad makers for fall. Dark or light, seedless or seeded, they go alone or with other fruits of melons.

Fill the center of a small melon half with fruit cocktail or use an avocado half as the container.

There's wonderful variety in greens in the fall, which fortunately can be employed to vary the salad fare. Cress is coming in, chicory (or endive as it's sometimes called), occasionally and some real French endive, red and Savoy cabbage.

If you've some nasturtiums in the garden, you'll find them attractive for garnishing and good to put into green salad. The flavor is spicy and adds much to the somewhat pale flavor of late summer lettuce. The nasturtium seeds are nippy for vegetable salads too.

And going deeper into the garden, you may find some of those largish clover-like leaves one sometimes brings in with wild ferns or flowers and which is called sorgrass. It, too, gives individually to a salad.

Peaches, plums and pears make salads too, we must not forget them. If the fruit darkens, dip in the French dressing before arranging on the plate.

Don't misunderstand us about the tomatoes and cucumbers, we love them, but one does like a change now and then.

Norma Hamilton New Advisor

Norma Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hamilton was elected worthy advisor of the Chadwick chapter, Order of the Rainbow for Girls at a meeting on Tuesday night. Also elected were Donna Phelps, associate advisor, Joan Ricketts, Charity; Joan Wegner, Faith; Shirley Jones is outgoing worthy advisor.

Public installation will be held September 26. Announcement was made at the meeting of the picnic to be held near Taylor's Grove on the north fork of the Santiam and the search for the treasure which was hidden in the early years of the chapter and never found. This picnic and treasure hunt are set for September 24, weather permitting. Girls wanting to go should contact Mrs. Wayne Henry, mother advisor.

On Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. Should a boy or girl who is entering college ask a fraternity or a sorority member for a recommendation to any group?

A. Never. Such advances must be made by a member of the fraternity or sorority. To make such a request would be the same as asking for an invitation to some social affair.

Q. When one receives an announcement of a birth, should a note or card of congratulation be sent?

A. Yes, and as promptly as possible. It is also customary to send a gift to the baby, depending, of course, upon your wishes in the matter.

Q. How far in advance of the wedding should the invitations be mailed?

A. These should be mailed out two or three weeks in advance.

it stays on YOU... not on Him!
