Letter Clarifies Draft Handling Of Students

A letter to the Marion county draft board from state draft headquarters in Portland Wednesday clarified procedure on "handling" postponements for college students.

"There are as many methods being used in connection with the postponement of induction of college students... as there are local boards. This is causing colleges difficulty," said the letter. Up to and until an order to report for induction is issued a college student is to receive no different treatment from any other registrant, said the letter. This means, said the board, he goes through all preliminary measures such as physical examination and classification.

Upon receipt of an order to report for induction the student may request postponement until the end of the academic year. The postponement shall be granted, says the letter, if the request is accompanied by a certificate from the school that the registrant is satisfactorily pursuing a full time course of study.

It is then up to the local board to satisfy itself that the registrant continues to be a satisfactory student until the end of the academic year.

Jury Returns 2 True Bills

Two true bills and one not true bill were returned by Marion county grand jury Wednesday. Indicted were John Golden, 555 N. 20th st. on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and Delores and Dwight Robinson, both of Pendleton, on a joint charge of larceny.

Golden, 59-year-old Salem jeweler, is charged with molesting an 11-year-old girl at his store. He was arrested in July by city police and is free on $1,500 bail.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are charged with the theft of a sewing machine here in August.

A charge of non-support against Fred Davenport was dismissed by the grand jury.

Store Building To Rise Soon In School Block

Construction of a modern new Safeway store in the old Washington school building block on East Center street is scheduled to begin early in November, T. M. Medford, Safeway manager in Salem, announced Wednesday.

Sale of the block to Safeway Stores, Inc., was completed Wednesday when a deed transferring the property from Salem school district 24 to the Maryland corporation was filed in the Marion county recorder's office. Revenue stamps indicated a sale price of $150,000.

Medford said the new building will face Center street and will be located almost in the center of the block, between 12th and 13th streets. Plans will be drawn up in the next 45 days.

The store will occupy 16,000 square feet of ground space. The remaining space on the block will be used for a parking lot which will accommodate an estimated 300 autos, Medford said.

"Construction of the building will be rushed as much as possible, once it begins," Medford added.

Safeway authorities recently said the board could probably continue for a time to use the old Washington school for storage purposes while the new building is under construction.

The deed transferring the property Wednesday was signed by Harry W. Scott, school board chairman, and C. C. Ward, board clerk. Under the contract the school board must vacate the building within six months.

The old building, one of Salem's first schools, has been abandoned for educational purposes for several years. It now is being used as storage space.

Your Community Chest

19 Agencies Essential to Youth Welfare

FRED KEELER

Edwin Schreder and Fred Keeler, co-chairmen of the general gifts division, of the 1950 Community chest drive are working to meet a contribution quota of $10,480.

"The chest supports our character building agencies," Schreder said, "because they are essential to the welfare of our youth. The fact that we have had them for so long probably has led some of us to lose sight of their need. Take them away and see the penalty we would pay."

"We ask for contributions because we believe it each individual's responsibility to pay a fair share. We workers for the drive give both time and money and our work is easier when your contributions are gladly given. We are asking employers of the firms to make their contributions where they work."

"The chest," Keeler said, "is one of our community's obligations to the eight local and 11 statewide agencies."

Club Hears High School Delegation

"Know Your High School" was the topic of a Salem Exchange club luncheon program Wednesday presented by three Salem high school students and their principal.

Dick Peterson, Bob McConville, Gilbert Bateson and Principal E. A. Carleton, told the service club of several phases of the extracurricular activity program at Salem high.

"We have reason to be proud of all our departments at Salem high," said McConville, who explained band, orchestra, art and drama. McConville, manager of the school dance band, is also active in "A" band and the orchestra.

Peterson, captain of the football team, spoke on sports at Salem high. Peterson brought out that the athletic program is based on the philosophy of competition and letting the greatest number participate.

Bateson, student body president, outlined the speech and debate program. "Debate gives students a chance to learn to express themselves accurately," Bateson stated in his talk.

Carleton introduced the speakers.

Total Assessed Valuation in County Rises

Marion county's total assessed valuation of taxable property for 1950 stands at $72,617,639, compared with $70,349,212 in 1949, according to a report issued Wednesday by Marion County Assessor Roscoe (Tad) Shelton. The increase is about 3 per cent.

The total figure includes $9,546,329 in public utilities assessed by the state. This figure was $9,124,732 a year ago.

Classification of the assessed property for this year shows: Real property—All lands (810,864 acres), $22,720,810; structural improvements on unplatted lands, $8,539,620; platted lands, $7,860, $25; structural improvements on platted lands, $14,545,888.

Assessor Shelton said the increase in assessed valuation is due largely to current construction in the county. Marion county's assessment roll for 1948 was $55,856,483 and for 1947, $53,033,153.
