

Salem Mother to See Fighting Son on Screen

A Salem mother is going to the movies this noon to see a special showing of a new reel that pictures her son who was injured at the Korean front.

Laurel ave., is the mother. She learned too late that a picture of her son, Stonewall, Jr., was screened here last week. But Wallace Cowen, theatre manager, traced the newsreel and had it returned here. It will be shown to Mrs. Jackson at the Capitol theatre today. Her son re-enlisted in the marines last June, five days before the Korean Reds attacked. He was injured by a grenade and machine gun fire September 4.

Passengers Miss Death in Rail Collision

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 5—(AP)—A speeding New York Central streamliner was wrecked in a terrific explosion and fire early today but its 153 dozing passengers miraculously escaped death.

More than 40 persons were injured, none seriously. The New England States Express, cruising through this lake city at more than a mile a minute, sliced into an oil tank car that popped out of a passing freight train.

There was no immediate explanation for the freight derailment which caused the Boston to Chicago express to crash at 1:15 a.m. (EST). The tanker erupted in a blast that shook downtown Erie. Huge flames licked around the express' stainless steel coaches as 11 of them zig-zagged to a grinding halt crosswise on the tracks.

The fast-working rescuers slithered in pools of thick oil from the smashed tanker and the battered diesel of the passenger.

Another tank car wrecked in the freight was loaded with powdered chemical which Fire Chief Lawrence Scully was unable to identify.

Red Massacre In Korea Set Near 25,000

TOKYO, Friday, Oct. 6—(AP)—Responsible American sources estimated today that 25,000 men, women and children have been massacred in South Korea by retreating North Korean Reds.

These sources, who are investigating the crimes, said this was only a guess. "The reason is," one source explained, "that we are finding graves, big and small, in practically every village and town. There are a great many not yet investigated."

Campaign Aid Funds Rejected By Latourette

PORTLAND, Oct. 5—(AP)—A "belated offer" of campaign funds from the national democratic committee has been sent back by Howard Latourette, democratic candidate for United States senator.

Latourette did not say how much the funds was but friends reported it as $2000. The candidate wrote in a letter to Leslie L. Biffle, secretary-treasurer of the democratic senatorial campaign committee: "It is apparent certain administration advisers prefer to retain a political straddler who will work both sides of the street rather than elect a senator who believes in honest government, and democratic principles free from socialist influences."

The reference was to his republican opponent, Sen. Wayne Morse.

Latourette said last summer Sen. Clinton M. Anderson (D-N.M.) asked him how much his campaign would cost. The candidate said he sent in a budget and was told it would not be possible to meet the full cost. He heard no more until the check arrived.
