Frozen Foods Excellent if Combined With Non-frozen Things; Recipes Here

By Maxine Buren
 Statesman Woman's Editor

Somebody is always thinking up something to help the housewife in her work. She's come a long way in these past few years, and no help has been more valuable to her than the development of frozen foods.

We have used frozen fruits and vegetables, meats and fish for a long time but usually we eat the food prepared pretty plain. Now, however, the frozen food packers offer suggestions for making even greater use of the frozen foods, this time, combining with other foods. Here are three recipes promoting the idea of using packaged frozen foods along with other things to make dinner preparation a simpler affair:

FROZEN LIMA BEANS WITH ONIONS AND GROUND BEEF
 1 pound ground beef 1/2 cup tomato juice
 2-3 tablespoons fat 1 package frozen lima beans
 1 medium onion, chopped Salt and pepper to taste
 Fry ground beef until almost done. Add onions and seasonings, cook until brown. Add frozen or defrosted lima beans and tomato juice. Cover and cook slowly until beans are tender. 4-5 servings.

BUTTERED FROZEN BROCCOLI WITH LEMON JUICE
 1 package broccoli 3 tablespoons lemon juice
 3 tablespoons butter Parmesan cheese, optional
 Cook broccoli according to instructions on package, drain. Add butter and lemon juice, toss lightly with fork until butter is melted and covers broccoli. Sprinkle with parmesan cheese, if desired.

FROZEN CAULIFLOWER AND CHEESE
 1 package frozen cauliflower 1/4 cup grated sharp cheese
 2 tablespoons butter Paprika
 Cook cauliflower according to instructions on package until almost done, drain. Arrange in greased baking dish, dot with butter, sprinkle with grated cheese. Either bake in moderate oven or broil under low flame until cheese is melted. Sprinkle with paprika. Makes 3-4 servings.

WIND-UP FOR LAMP CORDS
 Bad wiring and exposed sockets aren't the only home lighting dangers the National Safety Council warns us about. There's a threat, too, in wandering lamp cords that adds to the totals of accidents in the home. Tangles of lamp cords on the floor are the stumbler's worst enemy, and they're certainly ugly and untidy to look at besides. Try this trick to take the lamp cord situation in hand both for greater safety and better looks. First detach the plug from its socket, then wind the cord around a broom handle, as sketched at upper right. This trick works even if the cord goes to great lengths. Ask your husband to do it for you and it will give him an idea to solve an office problem, too.

Mrs. Wood to Head District

The semi-annual meeting of the Salem district Girl Scout association was held Thursday morning, October 19 at the Y.M.C.A., at which time election of officers took place and highlights of Girl Scouting in this territory were outlined.

Mrs. Frank Manbeck, former district chairman, was in charge of the meeting, in the absence of Mrs. John R. Wood, the present chairman.

The slate of new officers voted on is as follows: Mrs. John R. Wood, chairman; Mrs. Edwin Keech, first vice-chairman; Mrs. Gertrude Ayres, second vice-chairman; Mrs. Joanna Bope, secretary; Mrs. Gerald Wing, organization; Mrs. Lloyd Fress, organization co-chairman; Mrs. R. B. Stringham, program chairman; Mrs. Carl G. Collins, registrar; Mrs. William D. Troth, publicity; Mrs. Lloyd DeGroot, Juliette Low chairman; Mrs. Edgar Morris, cookie sale chairman; and new mittee, Mrs. Walter Spaulding, members of the nominating committee. Mrs. B. J. Cleary, and Mrs. Gerald Wing.

Several members of the Santiam area Girl Scouts were present at the meeting, including Mrs. Walter Spaulding, Mrs. Edwin Flanery, Mrs. Edwin Keech, Miss Marjorie Harris, all of Salem, and Mrs. Ivan Marble from Polk county.

The general plan for the proposed development of a Girl Scout council of this will be held at a meeting November 7, the time and place to be announced later.

Coffee was served by the Englewood school neighborhood, with Mrs. John Basewich, chairman.

Mrs. Ellis to Be 93 on Sunday

Mrs. G. B. Ellis, well known Salem woman and widow of the late Dr. G. B. Ellis, will be honored on her 93rd birthday with an open house Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Oak Street Guest house, 805 Oak st.

Receiving guests with Mrs. Ellis will be her daughter-in-law, Mrs. R. Vincent Ellis, widow of Dr. R. Vincent Ellis, who returned recently from Alaska following the death of her husband.

All friends of both women have been invited to attend.

Past Presidents At Turnbull's

Mrs. James H. Turnbull was hostess to members of the Past Presidents of Capitol unit, American Legion auxiliary Thursday night.

A dessert was served at a table centered with autumn flowers. Mrs. Merle Travis presided. Mrs. B. M. Bennett is secretary-treasurer; Mrs. E. W. Richey, good cheer; Mrs. James Garson, rehabilitation; Mrs. W. W. Woodruffe, publicity.

Mrs. E. E. Voight, formerly at Stanley, Wisc., and Miss Letitia Abrams, past president of the Roseburg unit were introduced as new members. Christmas plans were discussed and a miscellaneous shower for the Medford Veterans hospital was arranged for.

Mrs. Mem Pearce was in charge of initiation of Mrs. Walter Spaulding, junior past president.

On Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. If an engagement is broken after the wedding invitations have been mailed, what form of announcement can be mailed out?
 A. Such an announcement may read—"Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phillips announce that the marriage of their daughter, Jane Elizabeth, and Mr. Robert Foley will not take place."

Q. Is a fruit centerpiece appropriate for a dinner table?
 A. Yes; it is very effective to have a centerpiece composed of a silver plate heaped with oranges, apples, bananas, peaches, plums, or grapes.

Q. When a man who is wearing gloves meets a girl who offers him a gloveless hand, what should he do?
 A. Remove his glove as quickly as possible.

Miss Jeanette Martin Tells Betrothal

Miss Jeanette Martin takes the romantic spotlight today with the announcement of her engagement to Darrel Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Lawrence. The news was first told Friday night at a party at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Martin, on South Church street. The wedding is planned for next June.

The bride-elect and her fiancé are graduates of Salem schools and she attended Oregon State college where she was a pledge of Chi Omega sorority. Miss Martin is employed at the Salem Memorial hospital and Mr. Lawrence is with the Oregon Pulp and Paper Co.

The cinderella theme was used for the announcement with a coach, drawn by two horses, going to the castle. Inside were the prince and cinderella with the ring on the prince's hand giving it to cinderella. Mrs. Arthur Meola, cousin of the bride-elect, was dressed as the herald. Individual pumpkin shaped cakes, with the names of the engaged duo, were served.

Attending the announcement party were Misses Joyce Vanderpool, Doris Fimple, Ruth Wesley, Beverly Kettelholm, all of Portland, Mrs. Robert Snook of Eugene, Miss Juanita McCurdy of Turner and Miss Marge Cordy of Albany, Mesdames William Shattuck, Donald Steinke, Harold Culbertson, Ronald Nairn, Arthur Meola, Clifford Ammen, Jerry Angus, Carl Weidner, Frank Pence, Virgil Norwood, Frank Osborn, Fred Sproule, Misses Patricia Fitzsimons, Betty Bangert, Joanne Jaqua, Dolores Taft, Dolly Keise, Dolly Davidson, Marilyn Reay, Marilyn Linsler, Virginia Beall, Diane Martin, Betty Ross, Marlene DeWitt, Betty Brinkley, Ann Brown, Louise Fellar, Catherine Siegmund, Joanne Bunnell, Margaret Cooper and Peggy Kuhns.

Mrs. William H. Foster entertained the Ramblers at a salad luncheon and afternoon of bridge on Thursday at her Mountain View Drive home. Members are Mrs. A. F. Parsons, Mrs. Eric Neite, Mrs. Charles Mooney, Mrs. Floyd Anderson, Mrs. Charles Stirling, Mrs. George Keortge, Mrs. Charles Kidwell and the hostess.
