

Soviet Praises China Reds for Intervention

By Thomas P. Whitney
MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (AP)—Deputy Premier Nikolai Bulganin Monday praised the Chinese Communists as a "mighty people fighting actively for peace" and inferred that despite present military reverses the North Koreans would finally emerge victorious.

Bulganin asserted it is time for the American ruling circles to understand the Russian people are "not weak-nerved and the Soviet people are not so easily frightened. The Soviet people are able to defend themselves and defend their motherland—with arms in hand if necessary."

In a 12,000 word speech at Bolshoi theater on the 33rd anniversary of the Soviet revolution, Bulganin, a member of the Politburo, said the United States had "lunged into Korea their entire far eastern armies, forces and troops of other (United Nations) countries. As a result of this the Korean people suffered a measure of defeat at the hands of the interventionists."

"Heroic Fight"
But the former defense minister added that the United States had not smashed the will of the North Koreans who heroically "fought on strongly for independence." Of the future, he said:

"Reverses occur in every war. At one time our Soviet state, too, during the foreign military intervention and the civil war, experienced enormous difficulties. However, the interventionists were defeated and driven out."

He declared that "recently the imperialists of the United States of America have moved from a policy of preparing for aggression to direct acts of aggression. The most naked manifestation of this policy is the armed intervention by the USA in Korea."

"By Peaceful Means"
Bulganin asserted that the Soviet government, "true to its unchanging policy of peace," from the outset of the conflict in Korea has insisted on its settlement by peaceful means.

"The People's Democracies (Communist nations) march shoulder to shoulder with the Soviet Union in the struggle for peace, and side by side with the People's Democracies and the Soviet Union fights and stands the mighty Chinese people, led by Mao Tse-tung," said Bulganin.

"The great Chinese people, under the leadership of the Communist party of China, headed by Comrade Mao Tse-tung, is fighting actively for the cause of peace," he added.

Bulganin said "Korea has become a banner for all oppressed people fighting for their liberation."

Boy Missing On Farm Near Pudding River

A searching party combed the Pudding river brushland Tuesday night for Theodore Sweeton, Jr., missing from his farm home on the Chemawa-Silverton highway since yesterday afternoon.

Sweeton, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Sweeton, Salem route 2, box 176, left his home about 4 p.m. His parents said he was carrying a .22 calibre rifle.

He said he was going to get his horse in a neighboring field. Later the horse was found, still in the field. The boy, whom his parents described as "very reliable," did not return. State police checked off the search late last night and said they would take it up again this morning if the lad is still missing.

Theodore's parents said he had planned to attend a school affair at Silverton high school Tuesday night. He is a student at the school. The Sweeton farm is located near where the highway crosses the Pudding.

The answers to everyday insurance problems *
By Sid Boise

QUESTION: Competition for the skilled craftsman in my business is very keen. If a bad fire threw my men out of work I'm sure they'd be hired immediately by competitors and I wonder if there is any form of insurance which would guarantee my payroll in event of fire.

ANSWER: Yes, there is. It is variously called "Use and Occupancy" and "Business Interruption" insurance. It is a valuable protection for a business man and you should consult your agent about it.

* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.

Plywood, Door Price-Fixing Charge Filed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—On an allegation of improper business activities between 1935 and 1941, the federal trade commission today issued two orders against price-fixing in parts of the Douglas fir industry.

One order involves Pacific northwest Douglas fir plywood products; the other Douglas fir doors.

The commission held that in the 1935-41 period there was activity to restrain and suppress competition by agreements to fix and maintain prices, terms and discounts.

The order brought a prompt response from O. Harry Schrader, Jr., of Tacoma, managing director of the Douglas Fir Plywood Association, that the basis of the complaints is "ancient history." He said that in plywood sales promotion today "there is no conspiracy and there will be none."

The order on plywood products was against the plywood association, the Douglas fir plywood information bureau, 15 corporations, and Wallace E. Difford of Seattle, former managing director of the association.

The order on doors named the Fir Door Institute of Tacoma, eight corporations and Difford, as well as heads of the plywood association. In the door case, the commission said the price-fixing agreement extended over a four-year period, 1938-41.

Schrader said the industry considered the complaints obsolete but "agreed to entry of the order solely to dispose of the case and avoid long drawn-out hearings."

John O'Hara Harte, managing director of the Fir Door Institute, at Tacoma, branded the cases as "election year politics." He said the practices complained of were originally instituted at the suggestion of government agencies.

A-Work Given High Priorities

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—The national production authority Monday gave the atomic energy commission more priorities authority.

The effect is to permit the use of "DO" (defense order) priority ratings in the construction or operation of plants that serve the atomic energy commission but are not owned or operated by that agency.

A "DO" rating requires contractors and subcontractors to put an order ahead of orders that don't have this rating.

Last week the NPA broadened the priorities authority of the defense department so that this authority now applies to other government agencies that carry on programs closely connected with the defense effort.
