5 Amity Area Boys
Arrested By Police
On Theft Charges

AMITY, Nov. 13—A Yamhill county mother who complained to police about the theft of her pickup truck led to the arrest of her two sons and three Amity youths believed responsible for a wave of burglaries in this area during the past year.

The youths, ranging from 16 to 18 years old, were arrested over the week end on specific charges of burglarizing Perrydale high school Thursday, November 9. They are also suspected of looting the Farmers Union warehouse near Rickreall the same night.

The same night of the Perrydale burglary the mother, who lives near the Polk-Yamhill county line, reported her pickup missing. The truck, loaded with loot identified as goods taken in a recent series of robberies in this area, was found abandoned near Amity.

Neighbors who found the truck identified two of the youths and led to the roundup of the gang. A third member was arrested at his Amity home and two others were apprehended by Salem police Sunday night when they were driving another pickup truck stolen from the Elliott Feed and Seed company of Amity.

State police said the first two youths arrested after being identified near the truck abandoned in the hills were attempting to transfer loot from many robberies to another hiding place. One of the pair was the son of the woman who reported the truck missing.

Three of the boys are being held in the Yamhill county jail in McMinnville and the other two at the Polk county jail in Dallas. At least three of the youths were on parole on other violations. Police believe that all five have participated in numerous burglaries in Polk and Yamhill counties recently.

The loot included a wide variety of articles including clothing, auto accessories and oil. Juvenile authorities are investigating the case.

Woodburn Sends off
Smoke Screen Friday
In Leaf Burning Bee

By Mrs. Carl Magnusson
Statesman News Service

WOODBURN—Are your leaves all raked up? Friday was a perfect day for leaf raking and the air about five o'clock that afternoon all over the town of Woodburn, and perhaps of the whole Willamette valley, was blue with smoke as if a forest fire was burning in the surrounding hills.

Of course, Woodburn is not surrounded by hills—the town could be filled with smoke from the hills—and truly named "Wood Burn" if there were any hills in which to have a forest fire. Anyway, it was "Leaf Burn" Friday night.

Some people rake leaves as fast as they fall and keep their lawns spic and span. But ours had not been raked at all until we started in that afternoon with a six-year-old and a seven-year-old for help. The gold maple leaves and the brown walnut leaves were crisp and dry from the two days' previous windy and sunny weather.

Perfect for burning and by five o'clock the three of us had a huge pile. The little ones were a lot of help—at times—taking armloads to the designated spot. Now and then, they'd have to stop to pick up pine cones which were amidst the leaves—from the two conifers—discussing who should have each cone.

Result—two large mounds of pine cones rescued from the fire. Time out too for a trip now and then to the fruit cellar for an apple or two for refreshment.

Now the yard is pretty and green again. A few leaves are yet on the trees to wander down when a hard frost comes. Perhaps there will never again this fall be such a wonderful day in which to rake leaves.

A day with no wind, grass comparatively dry, warm enough to wear just a light jacket, and sunny to put one in the mood to be out-of-doors. When the blisters are gone from our hands, we will
