Renovation of Registration Lists Starts

Clearing of non-voters from the Marion county registration lists has begun in the county clerk's office. All persons whose names are removed will be sent notices. The first 10 precincts have averaged nearly 25 per cent to be removed.

Those who have not cast ballots within the past two years will have their names scratched, along with any whom the election boards have noted as deceased, according to Mrs. Gladys White, elections deputy.

Persons who receive notices and reside in the same precinct as at last registration may be reinstated by returning a card. If they have not moved but their address has been changed, they may be reinstated but should write on the card the new address and the fact that it is a postal change.

If they are in a different precinct, they must re-register to get back on the lists.

W. A. Reeves, State Highway Engineer, Dies

William A. Reeves, 63, state highway engineer for almost 30 years, died of a sudden illness in a Myrtle Creek hospital, it was reported in Salem Wednesday.

Reeves joined the highway department here in 1919. He was office engineer in the bridge department. Reeves was taken ill while he and his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Reeves, were traveling to Medford to visit a daughter.

Reeves was born at Greenfield, Mo., and graduated in engineering from Iowa State college at Ames, Iowa, in 1914. For several years he worked for the Iowa state highway department and then for the interstate commerce commission.

He came to Oregon in 1919. That same year he was married in Portland. Reeves was a charter member of the Salem Geological society and of the Salem Gem Cutters. He was a member of the Professional Engineers of Oregon and of the Northwest Society of Bridge Engineers.

In addition to the widow, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Charlotte Reeves Keasey of Medford; a son, John William Reeves, a junior at Oregon State college; a sister, Myrtle L. Reeves and a brother, James L. Reeves, both of Salem, and a grandchild in Medford.

Funeral services will be held at the Clough-Barrick chapel Friday, November 17, at 10:30 a.m. with the Rev. Seth Huntington officiating. Interment will be at Belcrest Memorial park.

10 More Names Drawn for Jury

Ten more names for a supplemental circuit court jury list were drawn Wednesday by Marion county clerk's office, with the persons on it to report November 16 at 9:30 a.m.

The list includes Virgil L. Morgan, Carl A. Gies, Elmo C. Jory and Jim E. Hackett of Salem; Vernon D. Hill, Middle Grove; John McKillop, St. Paul; John C. Savage, Waconda; Fred Mitchell, Turner; Evelyn L. Fowler and Anton J. Kahut, Woodburn.

Police Officers Go to School in Salem

Comparing notes after a class session in the statewide police school being held at Salem city hall are, from left, Harold Edwards, 1224 Center st.; Curtis Jones, The Dalles; Ver LeRoy Flynn and W. William Nichols, both of Oregon City. More than 25 police men from over the state are attending the school, an annual event here. Studies range from duties of a patrolman on his beat to criminal investigation. (Statesman photo.)

'Preach U.S. Democracy', Reese Urges

"Talk the languages of our ideals," write to congressmen, explain real democracy through letters to friends overseas and by making ambassadors out of servicemen. These were the suggestions for implementing the American revolution of democracy, made to Salem Exchange club Wednesday by Dean Seward Reese of Willamette university law college.

Reese declared that the United States is in "a state of animated suspension" and that it's time to stop and take stock. He pointed out that Russia gets "stooges to do her fighting" while "we find reluctance to work together among our potential allies, who want us to do everything." As evidence of this he noted wide communist strength

WU Students to Hear Howard Pierce Davis

Howard Pierce Davis, lecturer on international affairs, will address the Willamette university student body at 10 a.m. today in First Methodist church. Davis in the 30's studied in Europe where economic desperation and political frustration were jeopardizing the world's freedom. He made it a point to meet Hitler and his henchman Hess before their names were of headline calibre. Thereafter, he followed Fascism's developing phases and became an authority on its nature and growth.

As to conduct for individuals, he added that "we can't sit back and not protest or make suggestions" for it may soon be too late to "kick the rascals out."

Reservists to Hear Talk on Soviet Regime

Outline of Soviet Russia's economic and political structure, told by a former government economic adviser who lived for four years behind the Iron Curtain, will be presented to Salem area organized military reservists tonight.

The program, in city hall council chambers at 8 o'clock, is sponsored by the 9414th volunteer air reserve training squadron.

Speaker will be Dr. J. A. Joudeka, associate professor of political science at University of Portland. In this country only two years, Dr. Joudeka was economic adviser to the Lithuanian government for seven years. During and after World War II he spent four years in this country, by then under Russian domination.

A question and answer period will follow the talk. The air reserve has invited organized army and navy reserve groups and friends of members, or anyone interested in the topic, to attend.

The McMinnville flight of the Salem squadron is expected.

Special guests will include Col. John M. Gerrish, Portland, commander of the 9090th volunteer air reserve training group, parent outfit to the Salem squadron, and staff officers Major Sandstrom and Capt. Andrew M. Pascal. Presiding will be Lt. Col. R. C. Irwin, squadron commander.
