Sooners Take Over as Top Grid Club

SPORTSLIGHTNER

by Al Lightner

Gardner Knapp, school board member now speaking: "We'll definitely not hire anyone for the high school coaching job until March. Despite what you may hear otherwise, no one has an inside 'track' on the job. We'll take applications from any and all interested and will select the new coach after screening all applicants." . . . . So might as well forget all about Viking touchdown troubles until income tax time. . . . Only application now formally filed for the job, says Knapp, came in from George Emigh, deposed Salem Senators biz boss. . . . Come to think of it, the board may have some difficulty in landing a "name" coach inasmuch as most of that caliber in the state who are interested in the Viking post are now plucking salaries in excess of $5000, where the Villa berth has been paying less than five-thousand. . . . Whether they actually signed it or not we don't know. But a heavily black bordered "In Sympathy" card "To Loren Mort" arrived in our mail the other morning, same autographed by "Tom Drynan" and "Frank Brown," remembered as coaching gents who, not unlike Loren spent many a previous day as Viking helmsmen. . . . Sign of the times: News service item out of Chicago provides this. "A Chicago Book and Antique shop is now offering a copy of 'How to Box,' by Joe Louis, marked down from two dollars to 49c" . . . . Were one to create confusion within the Salem high cage ranks these days, all he would have to do is holler, "Hey, Larry!" Three of H. Hauk's more prominent performers are handled Larry—Chamberlain, Paulus and Baggett. Now if Hauk only had Dallas high's Larry Cook, or Albany's Larry Larios, or Mt. Angel's Larry Traeger, well—never mind. . . . Speaking of prep athletes, Central (Independence-Monmouth) Coach Sam Ramey, former OCE grid star is high on the ability of his fullback Allen Posey, a 5-foot, 9-inch 160-pounder. Posey played both offense and defense for the Centrals and as fullback averaged six yards per carry. "He definitely would help the Upstate team in the next Shrine game in Portland," attests Ramey, "and I'd surely like to see him selected by whoever coaches that team."

MILT BAUM

Anderson Now Assistant Cage Coach at Sandy

At least one new basketball mentor in the Willamette Valley league setup for the coming campaign. He's Erland (Andy) Anderson, now assistant under Henry Pete at Sandy high. Andy is the onetime Silverton blond bomber who went on to greater cage achievements at Oregon State. . . . And Bob Funk, former Viking, Salem Academy and OCE athlete, is Dale Parnell's assistant with the Academy Crusaders cagers this trip. Up at Willamette it will be Sam Vokes as Johnny Lewis' lieutenant with the Bearcat cagers. Which is enough proof within itself that the Bearkittens, to be bossed by Vokes, will be a fiery flock. . . .

When Parks, Dusette, Wallick, et al take out after the bearded Gorkys tonight at the armory in Maestro Owen's battle royal (and what a whoop-de-do that should be!), no doubt some of the clients will be thinking of joining in to help out the more heroic side of the pitch. Better not, however. And here's a good reason why:

Down in Klamath Falls the other night one of the residents took it upon himself to join Dusette as his partner in a joust against Soldat Gorky, older and nastier member of the Russian duet. The uncautious customer had just finished accepting a challenge by Soldat to

Thanksgiving Early for Him

A vicious mister when in rasslin' action, Soldat (Russian) Gorky shows above how he takes care of his huge appetite. Soldat and brother Ivan tonight appear in the local armory battle royal with Herb Parks, George Dusette, Leo Wallick, Andy Tremaine and Cowboy Carlson.

Sure to Be Gorkys Against Field . . .

Battle Royal Heads Mat Fare at Armory Tonight

The bearded Gorkys return to the village armory tonight. But what they're apt to find waiting for them won't please the Russian duet, even though it may provide the customers with one of their more mayhemish as well as hilarious Tuesdays in many a month.

The Gorkys, a vicious pair, are to engage in Matchmaker Elton Owen's 7-man battle royal, one of those things in which it's generally every man for himself. Tonight's royal will quite likely be considerably different, however. First of all, it's a certainty the Gorkys will team up, as three of their prominent enemies, Leo Wallick, Herb Parks and George Dusette will be among the other five gladiators in the melee. But Owen has connived right along with the disliked Bolsheviks. He has put up $100 in cash as a bonus to he who spills a Gorky first, thus eliminating the latter from the royal. And what a rassler will do for an extra hundred bucks is something for the crunch customers to see for sure.

Going in with the Gorkys, Parks, Dusette and Wallick will be Andy Tremaine, the world lightheavy champion who has appeared here in the past under the name of Truman, and Cowboy Carlson, a classy newcomer from Texas.

A 2-of-3 fall prelim will start the show at 6:30 o'clock. It involves Glenn (Buddy) Knox, meanie from West Virginia, and George (Indian) Craig. Then will come the 7-man royal, expected to be one of the best ever produced here by Owen. The first three eliminated from the melee (and all hands will be happy if the Gorkys are included) will be through for the evening. The next two will later return for a single-fall semiwindup and the final pair will come back for the main event, a 2-of-3 faller for the regular $300 purse.

Because of his good job last week, when Wallick beat Ivan Gorky here, Gordy Hessell will referee. The armory doors will be open at 7:30 o'clock and the sponsoring American Legion post urges an early arrival for the better seats.

Stayton Gridmen Feted Tonight

STAYTON, Nov. 20-(Special)-The annual Stayton high school football banquet will be held in the cafeteria of the new school Tuesday night starting at 6:30. Main speaker of the evening will be Sam Vokes, line mentor at Willamette university.

School boards of district 4-J and 77 will be guests.

McLaughlin high of Milton-Freewater will meet Marshfield at Coos Bay at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The board also set times for class B semi final games. Garibaldi and Bandon will meet at North Bend at 8 p.m. Friday, and Maupin will play Union at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Thanksgiving day.

Six-man semi-final contests are yet to be set. It is possible that Westport and Triangle Lake will meet at Junction City on Thursday and Talent and Pilot Rock will meet at Pendleton Friday.

Dallas Turns To Cage Play

DALLAS, Nov. 20 - (Special) - Home from Milton - Freewater where they were eliminated last weekend in state quarterfinals football play, the Dallas Dragons already have turned to basketball. Coach Gordy Kunke has around 25 aspirants out for the team. Kunke steps up from an assistant coach role in football to head mentor in the cage sport, and Ken Jacobsen, headman in football, is Kunke's cage assistant.

Lettermen returning are all-Willamette Valley league forward Wes Ediger, Center Read and Guards Larry Cook and George Clark. Gene McFarland, Wally Entz and Bob Davis are varsity prospects also at this time. Read stands at 6-3, Ediger at 6-1, Cook at 5-11 and Clark at 5-7. McFarland also is a six-footer.

Dallas opens play December 5 at Central high and then plays Willamina here and at Willamina on December 8 and 14. The WVL jamboree at Molalla will take place December 15.

Junior Ballers Prime for '51

The 1951 baseball season is far away but the Salem Junior leaguers are already taking steps to assure themselves of a sound organization when the first ball is tossed out. Four committees were set up last night at an organizational meeting at the high school and those committees will begin work at once on their respective tasks.

Vince Genna was named chairman of the Constitution committee, Ben Clagett heads the Divisions and Boundaries group, Don Hendrie chairmans the Sponsors committee and Jim Vittone was named to handle publicity.

Claggett also was named secretary of the organization, succeeding Amby D'Eagle, who resigned.

President Fritz Kramer announced that a new step will be taken this next season with the splitting of the city into four sections for the drawing of player talent.

Elk Toll High Special Hunt

ASTORIA, Nov. 20-(AP)-A barrage of warlike gunfire opened a special elk hunting season in Clatsop county today and by nightfall many hunters considered themselves lucky to be out of the woods alive.

There were demands from farmers that the governor halt what some described as a slaughter that might exterminate the elk herds. But State Police Sergeant Gerald P. Cochran reported "things are not out of hand." Estimates of hunters in the area ran as high as 500 and one state officer said there may have been 125 elk shot in the first day.

They Meant Business When They Went Elk Hunting

When Clarence Rickard, Al Shannon, Ray Lane and Andy Beardsley (l-r), all of the Keizer district, went elk hunting last week near Baker they meant business. Net result of the hunt is pictured above — three huge 6-pointers, each shot last Thursday and weighing close to 800 pounds. The hunters intend having their trophies mounted. (Tom Wright photo).

'Griff' 81, Eyes Future

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20-(AP)-Clark Griffith, 81 years young, celebrated his birthday today with a huge party, and the accent was on the future, not the past.

Ordinarily, when an oldtimer like the president of the Washington Senators reaches another milestone the tendency is to dredge up the past.

To recall the days of New York Highlanders, when Griff was a star pitcher . . . to relive the days when the Great Walter Johnson mowed 'em down for the Senators.

But not Griff.

He disclosed he has two main objectives:

(a) To persuade Lou Boudreau, late of the Cleveland Indians, to sign with the Senators, and

(b) To live to be 100. "That's my goal," he said.

On the Boudreau matter, Griffith expects to hear something probably next Monday.

72 Officials At Hoop Clinic

A record-breaking 72 hoop officials of the Salem area took examinations last night at the annual clinic held at the high school under sponsorship of the Oregon State High School Activities association.

Oden Hawes, secretary of the OSHAA, gave the exams and showed movies illustrating application of new rules to basketball play.

President George Sirnio of the Salem Officials' Association was in charge of the program.

Results of the exams will be made known next week.

President's Cup Foes Texas A&M, Maryland?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20-(AP)-Texas A. and M. and Maryland were reported today to have been selected to meet in the President's Cup football game at nearby College Park, Md., on December 9.

The Washington Post and the Houston Chronicle said the two teams would meet in the contest to be played for the benefit of the American Legion welfare fund.

Sponsors of the game would not confirm officially or deny the selection of Maryland's Terrapins and the Aggies. They said, however, that an announcement of the contestants in the game — for which 50,000 seats will be available—will probably be made tomorrow.

Earlier it had been announced the list of prospective contestants had been narrowed to 10 teams. The officials acknowledged that Maryland and Texas Aggies were in that list.

The contest is being sponsored by the American Legion in the District of Columbia, which plans to make it an annual "climax game" for the football season.

A board of 38 sportswriters and sportcasters from coast to coast participated in naming prospective opponents.

Maryland this year has a record of six won, two lost and a tie.

The Texas Aggies have won six and lost three.

Hamey Named To Yank Post

NEW YORK, Nov. 20-(AP)-Roy Hamey, general manager of the Pittsburgh baseball club for the last four years, is coming back to the New York Yankees as an assistant to the general manager.

The Yankees announced today the 48-year-old executive, who served 12 years in the New York organization, would sever connections with Pittsburgh Dec. 1 and join the club in spring training.

Hamey's status with Pittsburgh had been up in the air since Branch Rickey left Brooklyn and moved into the Pirate front office as vice president and general managere.

The Yankees said Hamey will serve as an aide to General Manager George Weiss. His duties, they said, would not be operational but would deal with player personnel and farm clubs.

Schwartz, Cal Skipper Worry

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20-(AP)-California's Rose Bowl-bound football team meats its oldest and keenest rival, Stanford, in the crucial test this Saturday. The undefeated, untied Bears must win this one to assure themselves of an undisputed claim to represent the Coast conference in the Big New Year's Day game.

Coaches of the two schools exchanged compliments today at the football writers meeting. Marchie Schwartz of Stanford said he is convinced "California is the best team I have seen in my ten years of coaching out here."

Genial Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf professed to have worked up a good-sized fear of Stanford. "This is a traditional game. Anything can happen and probably will."

Commish Order Stirs Up Battle

GRANTS PASS, Nov. 20-(AP)-A fight over fish protection loomed today.

The Grants Pass Irrigation district insisted that it was the state game commission's responsibility to take protection measures. The district announced it would not comply with the commission order directing the Irrigation district to put screening over a turbine at Savage Rapids dam.

The commission recently said the turbines was killing young fish. The commission explained it often installs small screens in waterways, but said that when large screens were required the irrigation districts were responsible.

Chairman Victor Boehl of the Irrigation district insisted however that the law does not apply to sub-surface intakes, such as at the dam. The district's board of directors further held that the commission cannot legally impose such expenses on others.

The game commission said it would take up the matter at a December 1-2 meeting in Portland.

Army Second, 'Cats Move Up to 3rd Slot

By Jack Hand

NEW YORK, Nov. 20-(AP)-Oklahoma zoomed into first place in the Associated Press football poll today with 173 of 333 first place votes. Ohio State, last week's leader, tumbled to eighth after its loss to Illinois.

Powerful Oklahoma, unbeaten in 29 straight games, ran away from the other contenders with a total of 2,964 points, 526 better than runner-up Army.

More than half of the football writers and sportscasters ranked Oklahoma in the No. 1 spot after its 41-7 romp over Missouri. The Sooners were second last week.

Army lost first place support as it shaded Stanford, 7-0, in a mud battle but the Cadets picked up enough points to advance a notch from last week's position. Only 36 put Army first compared to 72 a week ago.

Kentucky drew attention with its 83-0 rout of North Dakota, moving from fifth to a strong third with 55 firsts.

There were no changes in the top 10 membership. Four teams held the same positions. The biggest shuffle was Ohio State's drop from first to eighth.

After the first three came California, Texas, Illinois and Princeton. Ohio State was followed by Tennessee and Michigan State in that order. Only Michigan State has completed its schedule.

Oklahoma (8-9) has two more games to play. After its test with
