Ultramodern Interiors Featured in Sketches of Proposed New YWCA Building

Cancellation of Property Sale Involves Downtown Buildings

A cancellation agreement dissolving a contract of sale for Leon's and Golden Pheasant business properties in downtown Salem was filed Saturday at the office of Marion County Recorder Herman Lanke.

The property was to have been purchased by Melvin Mark of Chicago for a large business development, collapse of which had been indicated previously in The Statesman. Sellers were L. L. Balch and Charles Foulger, operators of Leon's, who own both sites.

Balch said Saturday the property had been reacquired and that both Leon's women's store and the Golden Pheasant restaurant would remain at their present locations. Plans for remodeling when conditions permit are being considered, he said.

When the contract of sale for the property was signed last June purchase price was set at $200,000. Mark paid $50,000 earnest money, the remainder to be paid Jan. 15, 1951. The cancellation instrument filed Saturday shows that only $33,000 of the down payment was to return to Mark.

Mark also has a 99-year lease on the Paramount market property but Owner George Putnam said if certain conditions are not met the lease will be cancelled.

Alienation of Affections Suit Asks $40,000
A $40,000 suit for alienation of affections was filed Saturday in Marion county circuit court by Beatrice McCauley.

Mrs. McCauley's complaint alleges that she and Matthew Edward McCauley were married May 24, 1927, and were without trouble until Jan. 8, 1949, when Mary Agnes Douglas, the defendant, sought the affections of McCauley and "induced and persuaded him by wiles" to leave Mrs. McCauley. She also alleges that the defendant persuaded McCauley to liquidate assets worth some $20,000, to withdraw deposits of some $15,000 and to travel with her.

McCauley, according to the complaint, received a "purported divorce" in February, 1949, in Reno, Nev., and April 2, 1949, "purportedly married" the defendant, with whom he returned to Marion county to reside.

'Happy New Year' May Scare Bridgeport
BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 30 (AP)—Police asked all Bridgeport factories today to refrain from sounding whistles or sirens to greet the new year at midnight tomorrow.

People might mistake the noise for an air raid alarm, Police Superintendent John A. Lyddy said.

Good Neighbor Day Monday

Gov. Douglas McKay on Saturday designated January 1 for the 19th annual observance of Good Neighbor day.

"It is important that we pause for a candid look at ourselves and ask whether we merely talk love of our country and our associates, or actually live it," Governor McKay said.

"This is particularly vital now because unworthy strife and friction at home must be replaced by shoulder-to-shoulder cooperation so that we may inspire oppressed peoples to search for true freedom and peace on Earth."

The governor suggested that the practice of cooperation be stimulated and implemented by weekly meetings in homes, community halls, schools and churches.

2 Men Placed On Probation, District Court

Two men were fined and placed on probation Saturday morning in Marion county district court, while sentencing was delayed for three others.

Jack Martell, Salem route 3, pleaded guilty to larceny of a gasoline pump from Jefferson, was fined $25 and costs, given a 30-day suspended sentence and placed on probation for one year.

Emmett Henry, Salem route 9, who already has pleaded guilty to a similar charge involving the same circumstances, was given until January 13 for sentencing.

Robert L. Morris, Salem route 2, box 269, who had pleaded guilty to larceny of gasoline and auto accessories, along with a group of juveniles, was fined $100 and costs, given a 90-day suspended sentence and placed on probation for one year.

Sentencing for others who have pleaded guilty was set for January 6 for James Darrell Tegland, Silverton, on a charge of giving alcoholic liquor to a minor; Marion Gene Wirth, 345 Hrubetz rd., on a charge of hunting between sunset and sunrise.

Chiloquin Wins Permission for Liquor License
Ruling that the city of Chiloquin is entitled to renew its liquor license, despite a state liquor control commission order, was issued Saturday by Marion county Circuit Judge Rex Kimmell.

The ruling held that the city should be permitted to renew its license, held since 1937, because the premises on which the liquor store is located is not in Indian country.

"Indian country" was defined by statute in congress Sept. 15, 1948. After congress issued the definition the state liquor control commission notified the City of Chiloquin that it would not be able to obtain a liquor license for 1951.

The city then sought a court order overruling the liquor commission order.

The liquor license held by the city must be renewed by January 1. While Chiloquin is situated entirely within the Klamath Indian reservation, only 48 of the 737 lots in the town are owned by Indians, the opinion said.

Commercial Fishing Poor During 1950

ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 30 (AP)—Commercial fishing in Oregon this year was even worse than the poor year of 1949. Arnie J. Suomela, state master fish warden, said today.

He disclosed year-end statistics, showing landings fell off in all categories.

Suomela added, however, that price increases probably enabled fishermen to keep their dollar volume about the same as the preceding year.

The major salmon fishing period from April to October resulted in salmon landings of 12,000,000 pounds, about 1,500,000 pounds under 1949.

Since they were first minted in 1866, the government has turned out 4,400,000,000 nickels.
