This, that, etc.
St. Mary's publicist comes up with this one on the Gaels' football fortunes: Great in '48, fine in '49, nifty in '50 and done in '51. . . . Gent who originally flattened George Emigh's proposed WIL playing schedule, therein costing George the $300 fee that goes with the headache that is in trying to keep everyone happy, was Alan Strange the Spokane mgr. He didn't like a couple of the jumps his Spokes would have had to make, and squawked long enough that he got the entire slate tossed out. . . . Look for quite a "night" the first trip the Victoria A's make to Waters field next season. Plans already are under way for a "Bury the Beavers" evening, inasmuch as said Bevos are now taboo here and have taken up with the Vics. We've quite a spot in mind for the burial too. . . . That half-a-block long and lavender Cadillac seen on the streets the other day wasn't hauling Lana Turner as might be thought. Piloting the thing, and attired in a suit the same purplish color as the car was "Gorgeous George." He was merely passing through. . . . Apparently getting tuned up for his 1951 trip with the Seattle Rainiers, Rogers Hornsby is managing a club in the Puerto Rico league and has it in third place. . . . The annual National high school All-America football team for 1950 lists George Shaw, the Grant high whiz-back quarterback on the third team and Cliff Brumbeole, a Grants Pass tackle on the seventh unit. Honorable mentions went to Tackle Dean Parsons of Eugene and Fullback Jerry Langer of Ashland. All are eligible to play in the East vs. West all-star game next August in Memphis, Tenn., an annual game sponsored by the Wigwam Wisemen of America, main office Oklahoma City, Okla. . . . Bad news for most WIL batsmen - Long Lou McCollum has signed his 1951 pact with Tri-City. Always a pain to Senator swingers, Lou won 21 times last season. . . .

Nifty Shifties? How's This One by Owen?
Credit rassin' Matchmaker Elton Owen with maneuvering the slick trick of the week. He knew "Gorgeous Gus" the rassin bear was coming through this way, and had the difficult chore of selecting one of the biceps to tangle with "Gus" in the armory ring Tuesday night. Even though most folks feel that the muscled matadors will do most anything for a few bucks, they do shy away from climbing in with the bruin. After all, "Gus" has grown bigger and rougher since he was last here, and always has given his human opponents an unenviable cuffing around. So Owen went about his matchmaking slyly, and is getting just as hefty a bang out of it as the next guy. One who openly admits he hasn't much use for bearded meenie Soldat Gorky, other than that the guy can draw customers to the Ferry Street Garden, Owen got Soldat to sign a contract to meet "any available opponent" come Tuesday night. Not knowing that the bear was coming up, and that Owen had secretly found his foe for "Gus," Comrade Soldat signed up. "And I'll be okeh by the maestro after his dastardly deed. . . . him, too," cheered the maestro after his dastardly deed. "Gus" was a smash hit the last time he appeared here, and far outdid the wondrous antics provided by "Ginger," another rassin' (Continued on next page)

31-Year-Old Faces Big Job Stanford Names Taylor as New Pigskin Mentor

PALO ALTO, Calif., Feb. 3-(AP)—Stanford university today reached into the professional ranks and picked Charles A. "Chuck" Taylor as head football coach. Taylor, Stanford alumnus and for the past year line coach of the San Francisco 49ers, had been favored as the likely choice.

Only 31, Taylor is one of the youngest men ever to take over as head football mentor at a major university.

His appointment to the post was announced this morning by the Stanford athletic board. From the beginning of the search for a new coach, begun five weeks ago following the resignation of Marjorie Schwartz, Taylor was rated a prime contender. Taylor, a red-haired, square-jawed gent, earned All-America rank as a guard on Stanford's 1942 squad. He made All-Pacific Coast teams three years running.

Taylor was graduated in 1943. He spent three years in the navy and, after his discharge as a lieutenant J.G., played a year of pro ball for the now defunct Miami Seahawks in the old All-America conference.

In 1947 Taylor returned to Stanford as head freshman coach. He amassed an impressive record of three consecutive undefeated frosh teams. He was director of intramural athletics and rugby coach before he left the Palo Alto campus to join the 49ers.

Stanford Athletic Director Al Masters said the school "canvassed the field very carefully and arrived at the unanimous decision that Chuck is the best man . . . for the position."

"I feel that Chuck is a players' coach," said Masters, "and will do a splendid job for us."

The Falcons won last night, 57-53. The visitors took a 29-21 halftime lead and kept it as the Falcons were hitting on only 13 per cent of their shots in the second half.

Peterson Shot Puts UO's in 2nd Place

MOSCOW, Idaho, Feb. 3-(AP)—Oregon's Bob Peterson tipped in a rebound with two minutes left to night and the Ducks held out for a 47 to 46 basketball victory over Idaho in the Pacific Coast conference northern division. The Vandals missed half a dozen shots and two free throws after Peterson's tip brought Oregon from behind. That was the last Idaho chance. The Ducks were able to stall out the final minute. The Oregon victory evened the two-game series and pushed the Webfoots to within 42 percentage points of first place Washington State.

Sophomore Hartley Kruger, who scored 15 points for Idaho, put the Vandals ahead for the first time in the second half at 42-41 and the rat-race was on.

Ken Hunt tied it with a free throw at 45-45 with six minutes remaining and sophomore Roger Lillbridge put Idaho back in front with a gift toss, 46-45.

Then came Peterson's shot, a routine tip-in of an erratic Oregon field goal attempt.

The Vandals booted their chance to recover. Lillbridge, a hero seconds before, lost the ball three times as the Vandals desperately tried to get a shot. Kruger missed his favorite hook from the key, then missed two straight free throws.

Kruger had to carry the load in the hectic finish. Big Bob Wheeler, the usual Idaho scoring gun, had a bad night and fouled out with seven minutes remaining. Jim Loscutt of Oregon covered him like a blanket and held him to two free throws, one in each half.

Oregon led 20-18 after a first half in which neither team could hit its shots. The Ducks built it up to 25-18 early in the final period before Kruger and Sam Jenkins began connecting to close the gap.

Curt Barclay and Loscutt each had nine for the Orecons. Jenkins and Kruger both scored 15 to pace Idaho.

Husky Quintet Barely Snares 40-36 Triumph

SEATTLE, Feb. 3-(AP)—Four heart-thumping long shots by Bill Harper of Oregon State came close to upsetting the University of Washington Huskies tonight but the hometowners rallied for a 40-36 victory in a Pacific Coast conference northern division basketball game.

Behind most of the way, Oregon State prevented a repetition of its 74-38 walloping last night by playing a ball-control game. The visiting Beavers trailed by 8-0 early in the tussle, but let the crowd of 8,200 know some excitement was coming by pulling up to an 18-23 halftime deficit.

Coach Slat's Gill sent Harper into action at the start of the second half, after holding him on the bench throughout the first canto. Slowly, Oregon State pulled closer. Harper setting the stage by hitting on four out of five long two-hand set shots. Jim Nau, who also appeared only in the second half, faked into the clear around Doug McClary of Washington for an open shot and tied it up for OSC at 33-31 after 12½ minutes.

Harper then stepped to the foul line and caged a free throw to give Oregon State its only lead of the two-game series, 34-33. Bob Houbregs, Washington's tall sophomore center, matched it immediately and Sophomore Mike McCutchen made another from the charity line, putting Washington back in front for keeps.

Another Boston Skater Victor

By Paul Wells
SEATTLE, Feb. 3-(AP)—Tall, poised Dudley S. Richards of Boston followed the grooves of his famous world champion teammate tonight to a title of his own—top ranking in the national junior men's figure skating division.

When the 18-year-old Richards finished his tricky and original free skating display he glided off the ice into the arms of the world's best, Bostonian Dick Button.

Button, who captured his sixth national senior men's crown last night, was on hand to cheer Richards on and later give an exhibition for the sell out crowd of more than 4,000 watching the wind-up of the 1951 three day national.

Quick as a cricket and not much bigger, 11-year-old Carol Heiss, New York, spun her way to the national novice ladies' figure skating championship today against seven other contenders.

Brie Buchanan of Chicago, carried Noel T. Ledini, 16, Chicago, to the novice men's championship.

Coyotes Fall From NW Lead

No Immediate Decision Likely Committee to 'Screen' Commish Possibilities

NEW YORK, Feb. 3-(AP)—The committee named to "screen" candidates for the job of commissioner of baseball will meet tomorrow to "sit" the list of names on file, Lou Perini, president of the Boston Braves announced tonight.

Indicating that the committee of which he is a member, probably will have nothing definite to report, Perini said that "We're meeting to see if we are going about the matter in the same way."

Earlier, he said that a successor to A. B. Chandler, the incumbent commissioner, probably will not be named until Chandler's contract, calling for $65,000 a year, expires in April, 1952.

"I have plenty of names, but no personal candidates," said Perini. "I was asked at our league meeting if I had any report to make, and I said no."

"It is quite possible that considerable time will elapse after Chandler's contract expires before a new commissioner is named," said the Braves' president. "In the interim baseball would be efficiently run by the league presidents."

"There is a possibility, of course, that the next commissioner will be chosen at the joint meeting in July," at the time of the 'All-Star game, but I wouldn't say it is likely."

Pioneers Nose Whitman 61-59

PORTLAND, Feb. 3-(AP)—A late rally fell short tonight as Whitman college lost a second Northwest conference basketball game in as many nights to Lewis and Clark of Portland. The score was 61-59.

The Pioneers took the lead with five minutes remaining in the first half and never were headed, although Whitman made a desperate attempt just before the game ended. At the halftime, the score was Lewis and Clark 34, Whitman 30.

Hot Tourney Action Today

The 1951 State Bowling tourney resumed action at University Aileys Saturday with initial firing in singles and doubles and more team competition. But scores remained low. The team action saw a new leader emerge in the Class B division and saw first action in the Class A group—and in the first "A" team action a defending champ saw its hopes for a repeat blasted as the Eugene Jim-the-Shoe-Doctor crew could do no better than 2514 as compared with the 2533 tallied by Palace Bowl of Portland.

These were the only two teams to roll in the "A" group up to the 9 o'clock squall action, results of which will be found on page two.

Salem rollers predominated at the top of the list in the early singles and doubles play. Ed McCluskey took the lead in Class A singles with a 572 effort and Warren Valdez was next with 544.

In Class B singles Tony Vittone of Salem is top man with a 567 as compared with runnerup Bill Schmitt's (Portland) 537.

The Class C singles pacesetter is Ego Holmes of Salem, with a 538. The Don Young-Tony Vittone team of Salem, was early leader in Class C doubles with 1037.

Karl Emmrich and Tim O'Connor of Portland are the tandem leaders in Class A with 1001, the local Ed McCluskey-Ben Valdez duo being next with 988. In Class B doubles the pacers are Mel Lucas and Vern Gustin of Portland with 1041, best doubles figure in the early action.

A new leader emerged in Class B team play, Roseburg Lumber Co. Saturday chalking a 2672 to better the 2535 figure set by the previous leader, Starr Food of Salem. Millers for Men, Portland moved into second place in the "B" team category with 2607 and B. E. Ellis of Portland stands third with 2549.

Marion Motors of Salem remains the leader in the Class C team firing with a 2453 rolled Thursday night. No "C" teams could better that figure Saturday. Little Casino, Portland, hit a 2408 for the best Saturday Class C score.
