

Baum Attacks Policy of Game Commission

"Oregon's sportsmen no longer have confidence in the state game commission," Rep. David Baum, La Grande, told the house game committee Tuesday.

"The last legislature," he said, "was told by the Isaac Walton league and Wildlife Federation that we would have a new game director."

Baum said this promise and many others were not carried out in the game reorganization bill passed two years ago.

Questioned by committee Vice Chairman E. R. Cardwell, Sweet Home, Baum said that both the commission and its director, Charles Lockwood, "are unsatisfactory."

Baum spoke in behalf of a bill by Rep. Earl Hill, Cushman, to increase the membership of the commission from five to seven. It also would give greater representation to eastern Oregon, which Hill said is sometimes underrated by the commission.

Baum said eastern Oregonians are laughing at the commission. He denied that promises of complete reorganization of the commission and better service to Oregon's sportsmen by commission backers had been carried out since passage of the 1949 bill.

Rep. Alva Goodrich, Bend, said he approves the bill.

Neither Baum nor Goodrich are members of the house committee. The committee took no action.

Ben Hur Lampman Commissioned as Poet Laureate

PORTLAND, Feb. 20—(P)—Ben Hur Lampman became Oregon's poet laureate today.

Governor Douglas McKay, in a brief ceremony at the ailing writer's home, presented the commission.

He is recuperating from a recent cerebral hemorrhage.

The state legislature, which passed the bill creating the office of poet laureate and appointing Lampman to fill it, was represented at the ceremony by Rep. Earl Hill, Cushman, and Rep. Russell Hudson, The Dalles.

He has been a member of the Oregonian staff for 35 years.
