

High School Students Suggest U.N. Admit Chinese Commies If Reds Withdraw in Korea

By Louise Matter
Salem High School Student

A conference of Oregon and Washington high school students have decided that "communist China should be recognized as the governmental representative in the United Nations as soon as she pulls out of Korea."

This resolution culminated a two-day meeting Saturday of the fourth annual International Relations League conference at the University of Oregon campus at Eugene.

About 235 students from the two states debated and thrashed out, in individual panels and sessions the main conference topic: "The United Nations, the United States and the world crisis."

States Delegates Elect
Of the Salem delegations Jackie Jones was elected secretary of the conference for next year, John Bone was chairman of the nominating committee and Louise Matter was discussion chairman.

Frank Neer was faculty advisor for one of the 11 discussion groups. Other Salem representatives were Doreen Cavender, Jean Taber, Marilyn Foxley, Lois Monk and Walton Reeve.

The resolution concerning communist China was the only one adopted, because of insufficient time to discuss the rest. Other resolutions, which will be voted by delegates individually, include: The United Nations should be maintained as it is, members should try to get along better and it should work to establish uniform beliefs throughout the world on Christianity and democracy.

On U. S. action in the U.N.—The U. S. should take action through the U.N. aid to countries in distress should be given without strings, the U. S. is "too imperialistic," let countries choose their own types of government after 10 years of help by the U. S., the U. S. back the atomic energy commission and should back good ideas from other countries.

On disarmament — The U. S. should not press firmly for immediate disarmament measure but should work for gradual and impartial disarmament of all nations. The veto power in U.N.—The Acheson plan should be adopted, Russia has misused the veto, and a plan for circumventing the veto was offered.

The students at the conference expressed faith in the U.N. because the United States is a member. Faculty members of the University of Oregon and foreign students there also engaged in discussions with the visiting high school conferees.

When all the resolutions have been voted upon they will be sent to Oregon officials, congressmen, and U.N. delegates, "so they will know that youth in Oregon and Washington have been studying these problems and what they think should be done."

Reports List Activities of Servicemen

News of Salem area servicemen arrived here Saturday in military press releases.

FPC Stephen L. Gomez, son of H. N. Randall, 1130 S. 18th st., is training as an air force technician at Warren air base, Wyoming. Bernard R. Sibulsky, navy seaman, husband of the former Carol Virginia Cook of 740 Shipping st., is a member of a patrol squadron based at Whidby Island, Wash.

Leo F. Huber, navy chief engineer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Huber of Marion route 1, is aboard the destroyer USS Ernest G. Small in the far east. In the same area is Richard M. Saylor, navy apprentice seaman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Albany, on the destroyer USS Lofberg.

Truman 'In The Pink' at Florida Base

KEY WEST, Fla., March 4—(AP)—President Truman, to use a sporting term, is already "in the pink" after two days in Florida's sunshine.

He passed up protestant divine services at the Navy chapel today to make a trip to the old enlisted men's beach for his second swim and a sunbath on the sands.

He disappointed a capacity crowd at the chapel when he failed to show up for 11 a.m. services.

Particularly one little girl, in a white summer bonnet and a green and black dress.

Her mother had her all primed to say "Good morning, Mr. President" as she left the chapel.

But the president, who rarely misses a service while here, went with his staff to the beach.

Reporters, who haven't seen Mr. Truman since he flew here from Washington Friday, inquired of Presidential Secretary Joseph Short, whether he has acquired a Florida tan.

"Well, I'd say he is beginning to turn pink at this stage," was about the substance of Short's reply, since he did not want to mislead the reporters, having been so recently the White House correspondent of the Baltimore Sun.

Rumors are floating about that Defense Mobilization Director Wilson will show up some time this week to confer with the president about the refusal of organized labor leaders to serve on defense agencies.

Short wouldn't say Wilson is coming. Nor would he say he isn't. He just isn't talking about possible guests during Mr. Truman's stay here.

Mr. Truman listened to his daughter, Margaret, on Tallulah Bankhead's radio show tonight. He wouldn't have missed it for anything. Special plans were taken to provide the best reception possible.

The Jones Law, enforcing National Prohibition, was enacted March 2, 1929. The 18th (Prohibition) Amendment was repealed Dec. 5, 1933.

State Volume Butterfat Sales Said Increasing

By Lillie L. Madsen
Farm Editor, The Statesman

The volume of butterfat sold in the state and can trade in Oregon milk marketing areas so far in 1951 is estimated at five per cent above the same period in 1950, according to official U.S. department of agriculture figures released this week end. However, the January total was one per cent below the December 1950 total, with December one of the heavier milk-using months in the year.

Receipts of butterfat in whole milk for factory use during January was estimated at 740,000 pounds, which is 20 per cent under a year ago, and 7 per cent below the December total. January cream receipts at Oregon dairy plants were also down, being estimated at 415,000 pounds butterfat, or 13 per cent below January, 1950, and 9 per cent below December, 1950.

Prices dairymen received for whole milk and cream sold for factory use increased during January. Bottle and can prices gained slightly over the previous month and were above a year earlier. While milk sold to butter plants during January, 1951, grossed producers 87 cents per pound fat, 6 cents above December, 1950, and 12 cents above January, 1950, average. Bottle and can prices held in brought producers $1.47 per pound fat on the average, 1 cent above December, and 9 cents above January a year ago.

Prices Oregon dairymen were paying for feed grains were up in February over a month earlier. Cost of feed oats and barley on February 15 was up 5 cents from a month earlier while feed wheat prices increased 10 cents this past month.

In the mill feed group, bran prices dropped 5 cents in the month ending February 15, while middlings and mill run held at the same as a month earlier. Baled alfalfa hay was costing dairyman $38.50 a ton in mid-February, which is 50 cents under a month earlier and below the February 15, 1950 mark. However, this is a normal drop as spring nears, and the 1950 prices took a big jump in February because of the severe winter.

The USDA reported Saturday that its survey just completed showed that butter production in the world in 1950 is tentatively estimated at 8 1/2 million pounds and that this is about 7 per cent increase over 1949, but still 12 per cent below prewar. The recovery of butter production has been slow from the low war-time levels. During this past year the excess stocks of butter have practically disappeared.

Cheese production, on the other hand, continues at a level well above prewar throughout the world. The United States is now by far the largest cheese producer in the world.

Chinese Battle Aboard Vessel

BOMBAY, India, March 4—(AP)—A battle between communist and nationalist Chinese crewmen was reported today aboard the 10,172-ton Panamanian tanker Wagon Mound, 100 miles off the Indian coast. One crewman was killed and several others were wounded. Police plan to arrest the entire crew when the ship reaches Bombay Tuesday. The Wagon Mound is owned by the Overseas Tankship Corporation of Panama.
