The game, played in the UCLA gym at Westwood, closed out the regular season for both schools. It left them tied for first place in the Pacific Coast conference's southern division and necessitated a sudden death playoff for the division championship.

Police could not say immediately if there is any connection with last night's incident and the basketball betting ring in New York. The New York scandals have resulted in wholesale arrests of players and the indictment of Salvatore Sollazo, accused as the brain behind the bribes there.

District Attorney's Investigator Adolph Alexander did say, though that betting markers were found in Scroggins' hotel room along with narcotics equipment.

The markers, Alexander indicate that Scroggins had dealings with the Sica gang and other West Coast gamblers. Scroggins denied any attempt to fix the game. Police quoted him as saying: "You guys know I gotta dummy up or I'll get my head blown off.

I've been arrested about 40 times but I've always beat the rap." Flower told officers that Scrog gins contacted him in a hotel lobby, ostensibly to buy game tic Bill Mikvy of the Temple Owls kets. Flower said the man told whose 73-point night Saturday him that Southern Cal was sup-
