

Good Turkey Crop Forecast By Felix Wright

By Lilla L. Madsen
Statesman Farm Editor

SILVERTON—That turkeys are going to be pretty good this year is the opinion of Felix Wright, owner of the Silver Falls Turkey hatchery at Silverton. Wright is taking 5,000 poulters off the "nests" at the hatchery each week. This has been going on since February 23 and will likely continue to mid-June, the hatchery owner reports.

There are now 11,000 poulters in the brooders at the hatchery. While some of these are to be sold for shipping, many will remain for the Wright poultry ranch. The ranch, which is the former Silverton golf course, now has 2500 breeder hens. Montana and Utah are the heaviest purchasers outside of Oregon breeders, Wright adds.

But there is plenty of range on the Wright ranch and with the belief that turkeys "are going to be okay this year", the owner will increase the laying stock considerably.

Besides hatching the broad-breasted bronze, which is the variety he raises himself, Wright has been doing considerable custom hatching for the Ellison Turkey project at Mulino. Here Beltsville Whites, the small family-sized turkey are being specialized in.

These, turkey growers say, are largely a boiler turkey and find their biggest outlet in cities. Portland, Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles are the places where this bird is most popular. But, Wright says, there is a definite consumer demand, especially where the smaller family of two, three or four, desire a whole bird. It is an ideal bird for apartment house cooking, Wright believes. It may gain popularity as it becomes better known, he thought.

"But these Oregonians," Wright added, "Well, they haven't gone too heavily for the smaller bird yet. May be they are more price conscious and feel they get more for their money in the heavier bird."

There is a premium of something like 10 cents a pound to be paid for the white turkey. The Beltsville Whites, which are comparatively new throughout the nation, were introduced in Oregon on any commercial scale, less than two years ago.

"But Oregon poulters of either variety," Wright said, "are widely known and in considerable demand."

A lot of breeder hens and toms were lost during the winter through "mud-disease" and these are being replaced by turkey producers.

2 Boys Admit Shop Burglary

Two burglaries of the Reinhold and Lewis shop at 560 S. 21st st. were cleared Tuesday by city detectives with the apprehension of two 11-year-old boys.

The youngsters admitted to police that they had entered the building March 11 and March 18 by squeezing between sliding doors at the south side of the building.

Listed as stolen were 50 feet of Bend chain, two staplers, two screw drivers, two pair pliers, two pair side cutters, and two steel tapes. Part of the loot was returned by the two boys.

Ray-O-Vac to Send Engineers

Inspection of the Continental Chemical Co. plant on Cherry avenue will be made over the coming weeks by two engineers of the Ray-O-Vac company which recently purchased the local concern.

They are A. G. Rimmel, mechanical engineer, and Lloyd Lewis, electronics engineer, for the Madison, Wis., dry battery industry which operates several plants across the country and in Canada and Mexico. They expect to go to a Sao Paulo, Brazil, plant this fall.

FARM HELP BILL READIED
WASHINGTON, March 20—(AP)—American farmers would pay all the costs of transporting Mexican farm workers needed to aid with harvest and other seasonal work under legislation approved Monday by the house agriculture committee.

Danish Youth Visits Valley for Farm Study

Death Closes Varied Career Of Levi Balmer

The long, colorful career of Levi Balmer, one-time Faro dealer, chicken rancher, and Alaskan steamboat operator, closed Tuesday with his death in Salem at the age of 86 years.

Balmer was born in Bluffton, Ohio, Christmas day, 1864. As a youth he sold newspapers in his hometown and worked in a newspaper office. He came to Salem in 1882 and except for intervals had made his life here since.

For a time Balmer was employed as a clerk in the Weller brothers store in Salem, later becoming a faro dealer at the Bureau saloon on Court street until gambling was prohibited. He later owned a chicken ranch on Croisan creek and was interested in ranching enterprises in central Oregon.

He was a faro dealer at Tex Richard's Northern saloon during the Alaska gold rush. While in Alaska he acquired and operated a steamboat.

A long-time friend of Ex-Governor Oswald West, Balmer was appointed head of the commissary department at the state penitentiary.

In recent years he has made his home with a niece, Mrs. Oliver Myers, 1535 Jefferson st. Also surviving are several cousins in Ohio.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. from the W. T. Rigdon chapel with the Rev. Dudley Strain officiating. Concluding services will be at Mt. Crest Abbey mausoleum.

Influenza Cases Show Decline

Influenza cases reported last week in Marion county totaled 236, of which 216 were in Salem, the county health department announced Tuesday following reports from physicians. The previous week's total was 419.

Other new cases of communicable disease reported for the week included mumps 11, lobar pneumonia 5, virus pneumonia 3, chickenpox, conjunctivitis, impetigo, measles and broncho pneumonia one each.

JERSEY CATTLE SHOW
Salem will again be host to the Marion County Jersey Cattle club spring show. Show date has been set for Saturday, May 19, at the state fairgrounds.

In other years, the show was held on Mondays but members felt that a Saturday show would give youths more of an opportunity to attend.

Everett Poe Succumbs to Heart Ailment

Everett Poe, 50, resident of Salem for the past 15 years, died unexpectedly of a heart ailment Tuesday while working as a brakeman on a Consolidated Builders train near Gates.

It was the first run in several years for Poe who had been employed as a stationary fireman in Salem since quitting railroad work. He was stricken about 11 a.m. on the train about a mile from Gates.

Born in Adel, Oklahoma, Sept. 21, 1900, Poe came to the north-west when he was 14 years old. He had been employed on the railroad for many years before retiring to other work several years ago.

Surviving are his widow, Mase I. Poe, Salem; sisters, Mrs. Irene Layce, Grants Pass; Mrs. Bertha Dawson, San Francisco, and Mrs. Gladys Howard, Portland.

Funeral services will be held Friday, March 23, at 1:30 p.m. from the Clough-Barrick chapel with the Rev. Seth R. Huntington officiating. Interment will be in Belcrest Memorial park.
