Helping Them Out

Apple Supply Still on Hand, Eating Them Few Times Week Uses Them Up

By Madeline Buren
Statesman Woman's Editor

We hear, according to market reports, that the apple growing counties of Oregon and Washington have a large supply of fruit on hand not yet sold. So we, as loyal Oregonians, should forget about the more expensive fruits from other states, and concentrate on putting more apples into the menu.

There are several apple varieties on the market now, notably the Delicious for eating and salads, Winesaps for cooking and eating, and yellow Newtons also good for both eating and cooking.

Now take the Cobbler-Roly-Poly-Deep-Dish-Pie family. They are an old and respected group, and a large one too. You could serve the family on some sort of apple dessert every day of the week and not repeat.

Take a biscuit mixture, and here is one:

BISCUIT MIX
2 cups shortening 4 tablespoons baking powder
3 cups flour 1 tablespoon salt
Combine all with a pastry blender. Store in a canister for future use.

For a cobbler that's a little richer than biscuit dough (if you like yours that way) add an extra 2 tablespoons butter or margarine to the mixture after it is combined with water and rolled out. The butter is spread on top of the dough, folded over and rolled out again.

The cobbler is a mixture of apples, sugar and spices, dotted with butter and covered with a rolled out biscuit dough. It should be baked for about 40 minutes at 425 degrees.

Then there's the Roly Poly. It begins also with biscuit dough which is rolled out. The apples are arranged on top and sweetened and seasoned and dotted with butter. The dough is then rolled up and cut into two-inch lengths, and each is put end-down into a pan. You can make a syrup of sugar and water and put into the pan first, if the apples aren't very juicy. Or if you prefer, bake the roly poly, and pour a seasoned syrup over the top just as you take it from the oven. Might add some lemon juice to the syrup.

If you'd like apple pan dowdy, do this:

APPLE PAN DOWDY
1 egg cake batter 2 cups apples, sliced
1/4 cup molasses (brown) 1/4 teaspoon each cinnamon, nutmeg

Arrange apples in a pan, sprinkle with sugar or molasses and sprinkle with spices and some salt. Bake until apples are soft. In the meantime, whip up a recipe for an inexpensive one egg cake or use 2 cups of the biscuit mix above, blending in 1/4 cup sugar and adding 1/2 cup milk, one well beaten egg and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour over the apples, and bake at 350 degrees for about half an hour.

The deep dish pies are about the same as the cobblers except that the dough is a pastry mixture. Apple dumplings are similar to the roly poly except that the apples are arranged on squares of dough, the corners of which are brought up and pinched together. They are placed in a pan and baked as the roly poly.

Don't forget fried apples as a breakfast fruit, sliced apples spread with soft cheese as a snack, and apples in salad.

Child's World Is Wonderful

The world that children live in is mighty wonderful... filled with little daydreams and hopes and joys that make the older folks sometimes wish they were school-age again. But boys and girls have their ups and downs, too, particularly when they are not feeling well. Ten-year-old Carmelita Pionka, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pionka of 3202 S. Aberdeen, Chicago, Ill., was not feeling good recently and was just too listless to get the most out of her school days. Fortunately for Carmelita, though, her grandmother suggested that her mother give her HADACOL because she had heard so much it was helping children deficient in Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin. Now Carmelita feels fine and her mother says she has a big appetite.

Here is Mrs. Pionka's statement: "My daughter, Carmelita, who is 10 years old and in the fifth grade, had always been underweight and I had to positively force her to eat. She had no interest in food whatsoever, but I knew that she had to eat. When we were visiting my mother in Missouri over the Christmas holidays she suggested I give Carmelita HADACOL. I bought a large bottle of it that same day and was amazed at the change in Carmelita. Her appetite picked right up and she now eats three hearty meals a day plus in-between snacks. I have really praised HADACOL, and highly recommend it for everyone."

HADACOL can help you if you suffer such deficiencies. Ask your druggist for HADACOL today.
