Rehabilitation Program for Blind Revealed

A new and more extensive program for rehabilitation of the blind proposed by the Oregon commission for the blind, based partly on recent surveys and recommendations of a legislative interim committee and out-of-state officials interested in the project was announced Saturday by commission members.

Included in the proposed new program are education, blind industries and social service, conservation and restoration of vision and prevention of blindness, vocational rehabilitation and operation of a service center.

The commission said employment of a permanent administrator would be considered later.

It was emphasized that any industrial program should be business like, effective and economically sound. These conditions have not been met in the past, commission members said.

During recent years, according to the commission, the whole trend has been toward elimination of state-owned institutions as homes for the blind.

Walter Snyder, commission secretary, said investigation of the program has progressed slowly so that each step may be thoroughly analyzed and understood.

Disgruntled Job-Seeker Attempts Arson on Store

DALLAS, March 23—(AP)—A discontented job-seeker, turned down by Groceman T. M. Gardner, attempted to set fire to the grocery store today in West Dallas.

But Gardner did not call the police. He just took the offender home to his Mom.

What the Mom did to the five-year-old job-seeker wasn't reported.

In the United States about 43,000 people are admitted to hospitals each day.

Sgt. Johnson Commissioned As Pharmacist

FT. MACARTHUR, Calif., March 24—M. Sgt. Andrew Johnson, formerly of Salem, Ore., is the first member of the 409th engineer special brigade at Fort MacArthur, Calif., to receive a commission since the brigade's activation, it was reported here Saturday.

He is with the 409th quartermaster company, commanded by Col. Homer G. Lyon, jr., 4220 Gardner rd., Salem. Johnson received his commission as a first lieutenant in the medical corps as a pharmacist. He expects to be called to active duty as a lieutenant about May 25.

During World War II Johnson served with the 62nd armored field artillery and during his three years overseas earned seven battle stars and one arrowhead while serving in Africa, Sicily and Europe. He and Mrs. Johnson and their 15-month-old son live at San Pedro.

He went into active duty last October with the Salem army reserve unit.

John Cage, leader and Jack Woff, member of the Associated Grease Monkeys tractor maintenance club, will tell of their club program and coming events for the year.

Mrs. Galen Siddall, Hayesville, president of the Marion county 4-H leaders' association, will discuss the activities of the leaders.

January Pay Of Production Workers Up

Oregon's production workers earned an average of $72.61 a week during January, 17.5 per cent more than a year ago, and close to the record levels of last summer and fall, records released Saturday by the state unemployment compensation commission revealed.

Employers of durable goods concerns dropped to $74.87 from $78.18 the previous month, but non-durable firms increased pay from $51.50 to $65.31. Both average hourly pay and average work week were slightly lower than in December but considerably above a year ago.

Workers in plywood mills and similar operations again led all groups with average earnings of $81.27, nearly $3 below December's figure. Printing and publishing employees held to second place with a similar reduction. Both differences were due mainly to fewer hours in the work week. Lumber and logging workers' pay also fell off, with the hourly scale varying but little from recent months.

Machinery manufacturing and paper and pulp employees also improved their wages during January. The textiles and apparel group had higher earnings than during the fall and early winter.

FORT MACARTHUR, Calif.—M. Sgt. Andrew Johnson (right) who has just received a direct commission as a first lieutenant in the army reserve corps, is shown as he is sworn in by Capt. Frank Turner, adjutant of the 409th brigade quartermasters. Both men are from Salem.

Well Sir, Spring Is "Sprung"!

Sorta looks that way at any rate. And, every farmer's fancy is turning to thoughts of more intensive cultivation of fields, orchards and hopyards. That means farm equipment and machinery take it on the chin again. So, wise farmers are checking NOW for any immediate or future repairs or changes they want made. That's a smart idea, too! You see, steel supplies definitely are getting tighter and tighter. W. W. ROSEBRAUGH COMPANY advises earliest action in making any of those repairs or changes because the steel picture is getting no-better-faster! That's why W. W. ROSEBRAUGH COMPANY, having served Valley customers for 39 years now, is reserving available steel supplies for use in this area. After all, home-folks come first. So, you can count on service for repairs to farm-equipment and machinery. What's more, if you plan on a new furnace for your farm or ranch home, be specific and order a PACIFIC FURNACE, designed and manufactured right in Salem by W. W. ROSEBRAUGH COMPANY. Yes, production of Pacific Furnaces this year will be equal to last year's because the steel has already been earmarked. Pacific Furnaces are available for wood, coal, oil or sawdust burning. Oh yes... are you thinking about a new spray tank? Call 3-7609 and talk it over Monday morning!

Owen F. Ogden Succumbs on Train Trip

Owen Francis Ogden, Salem resident since 1921, died suddenly Thursday on a train at Spokane, Wash., while on a trip to the Midwest.

Death came while he was enroute to Sioux City, Iowa, his home town. Ogden resided at 914 Saginaw st., where he operated a Bible and Book store.

Ogden was a native of Soule City, from there he went to Seattle, Wash., and then to Salem. He arrived in Salem as manager of the Liberty theatre. Later he was with the New York Life insurance company here. He was a member of the Assembly of God church.

Survivors include his wife, Evelyn K. Ogden of Salem; son, Vernon Ogden of Portland, and a sister, Mrs. Ethel Clancey of Seattle. Funeral arrangements are being made by the Virgil T. Golden chapel.

Chamber to Hear Dr. Smith

Problems facing Willamette university will be outlined to Salem

Chamber of Commerce Monday noon at the Senator hotel by Dr. G. Herbert Smith, university president.

Dr. Smith, Willamette's president since 1942, will speak on "Willamette Faces the Emergency." Also at the Monday meeting of the chamber, Marion county campaigners for the Red Cross drive will give a progress report. Robert L. Eifstrom, general chairman, will explain the drive and will conduct a 10-minute report session with division leaders.
