

Non-Farming Employment At Top Mark

More than 450,000 persons are engaged in non-farm employment, the biggest May total on record, the state unemployment compensation reported Thursday. The total is 20,000 more than a year ago, and indications are that records will continue to be broken in the summer months. New records are being set in every main line of activity, with lumber, construction, metals and machinery manufacturing in the lead. The commission said its employment office listed 3,445 unfilled jobs this month, while 4,761 persons drew unemployment compensation. Spain for centuries was the world's greatest lead producer.
