On Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. When a man is forced by circumstances to send a girl, whom he has been accompanying, home in a taxi, should he pay the taxi fare?

A. Of course. He should ask the driver the approximate amount the fare will be, adding enough for a tip.

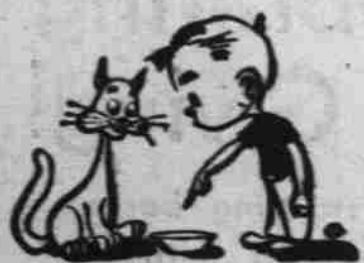

Q. When a man is dining with a woman in a restaurant, should he give his own or the woman's order to the waiter first?

A. He should consult his companion and give her order first, followed by his own.

Q. Whose duty is it to see that the bride and the bridegroom's car is ready and waiting for them at the wedding reception?

A. The best man should attend to this.

Designing Woman

By Elizabeth Hillier

SHORT CUT

Don't let a narrow wall space between windows dictate to you. If you need two chests there, use them, even if the actual wall space is only wide enough for one. Make plain, straight-hanging curtain. One pair, to hang at the farthest side of the windows, can be fashionably floor length. Make the other pair just long enough to touch the chest tops. There's really no reason for crushing curtains behind the chests, and here you have the effect of floor length curtains and save fabric. But the big success of this chest and window arrangement is that the whole wall is decorated. All the elements are tied together to give the kind of simple, well-proportioned unity that good decorating strives for.

"WHAT'S WRONG WITH THAT ROOM?" is Elizabeth Hillier's new booklet, just out in time to help with the new decorating. It takes up 18 subjects covering room faults and tips on correcting them—almost a short-course in practical decorating. Please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents with your request for the booklet to Miss Hillier at this newspaper.
