SILVERTON — Strawberry picking is underway in the Silverton Hills berry district east of Silverton. Berries here usually are later than on the valley floor, but this year, due to the late frost, ripening was even later than usual. However, the crop is good, and berries of excellent flavor. Mrs. Alous Moen (above) is quite happy with the way the Moens' 23 acres of berries are turning out. The Moens came to Silverton Hills five years ago and dug out the land for strawberries from timbered and logged-off acreage. (Larsen photo for The Statesman.)
