State Income Tax Collections Rise Sharply

Income tax collections in April and May, aggregated approximately $6,000,000 more than in corresponding months last year, the state tax commission reported Wednesday.

Officials said that while there was a material increase in income tax collections for the months of April and May this year, there were indications of a leveling off next year. The officials pointed out the possibility of higher federal income taxes, price and wage controls and other government restrictions which would tend to reduce state income tax collections.

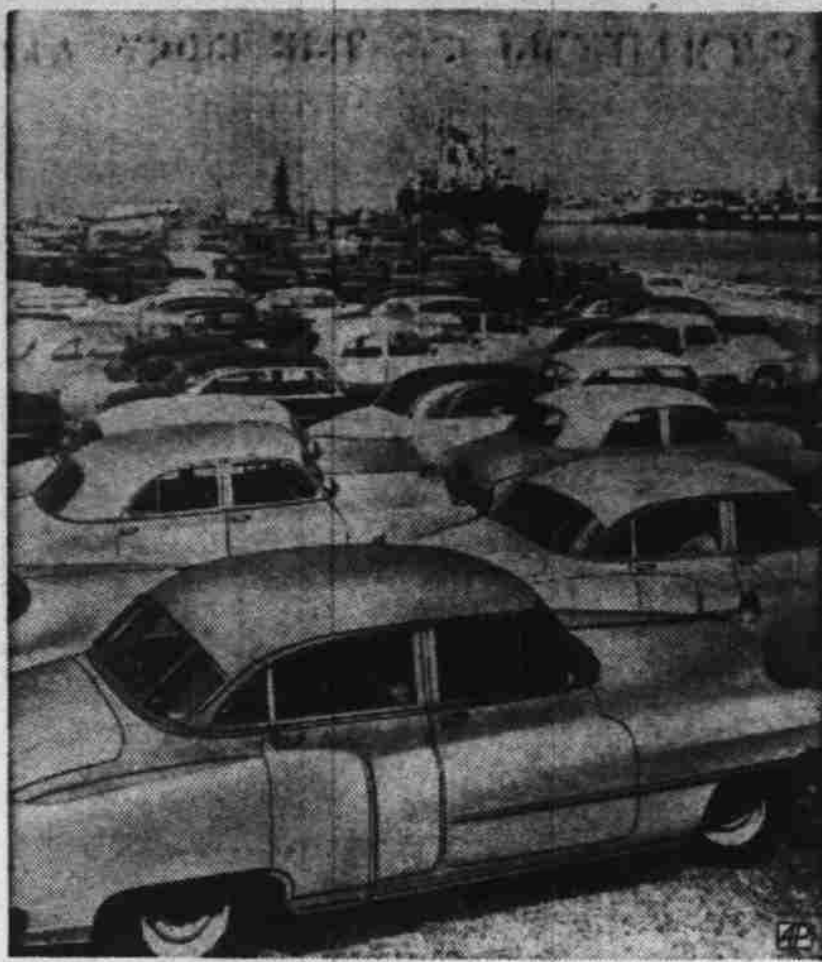

Officials agreed with a recent statement by Governor Douglas McKay in a Klamath Falls address that ample funds are available to cover the state's financial demands for the biennium beginning July 1. They emphasized, however, that in coping with the state's financial situation for the 1951-53 biennium the last legislature permitted the use of $32,000,000 of surplus state funds. They also said they agreed with Governor McKay that the 1953 legislature would face a financial deficit ranging from $45,000,000 to $60,000,000.

Governor McKay denied here Wednesday reports he had opposed the three-cents-a-package cigarette tax in a recent address.

"I neither opposed nor supported the cigarette tax proposal in the address," Governor McKay said. "I merely discussed the cigarette tax in commenting on the state's financial condition and said no additional money would be required during the next biennium."

The cigarette tax was approved by the 1951 legislature but is now under referendum attack by the Oregon state federation of labor and other groups. The legislature estimated the cigarette tax would raise approximately $5,000,000 during the next two year period.

Members of the tax commission refused to comment on the cigarette tax.

Tom Bartlett Visits Here; To Work for U.N.

Thomas A. Bartlett, recent recipient of a Rhodes scholarship, is visiting here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bartlett, 1980 N. 24th st.

Bartlett graduated Sunday from Stanford university where he majored in political science. He is a Salem high school graduate and attended Willamette university for two years prior to studying at Stanford.

He said Wednesday he plans to leave Salem July 5 for New York, where he will be employed at the general secretary's office of the United Nations. He hopes to gain a berth in the public relations division.

In September Bartlett will go to England where he will study politics, philosophy and economics at Oxford university. He has a two year scholarship, he said.

1950 County Payrolls Hit All-Time High

Increased construction work boosted Marion county payrolls last year to an all-time high, the state unemployment compensation commission reported Wednesday.

Statistics compiled this week show that industries in the county covered by unemployment insurance paid a record $47,278,583 to employes during 1950. This compares with $41,552,030 paid out in 1949.

Covered employment here represents about 70 per cent of private industry. It does not include state employes or agricultural workers.

While the covered payroll increased 13 per cent last year over the previous year the average number of employes working for these firms increased by about 5 per cent.

Marion county remains one of the few major counties in Oregon in which covered payrolls have steadily increased each year since the last war. The payroll for this county 10 years ago was only $9,136,000.

Construction work, including a big work load at Detroit dam, totaled payrolls of $7,895,918 last year compared with $5,268,787 in 1949. Other 1950 payrolls include food processing, $6,163,772 (7 per cent below 1949); lumber, $6,077,602 (2 per cent below 1949) and other manufacturers, $6,003,045 (9 per cent increase).

Wholesale and retail trade accounted for another $13,216,570, slightly higher than the previous year.

AAA TESTS SHOW

protects against blowouts

Certificates by the American Automobile Association certify to B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire safety. After deliberate injury the tire lost air slowly—kept safe pressure while driven several miles.

... seals punctures, too

In AAA tests, BFG Tubeless Tires were driven over spike boards with "no loss of air pressure indicated on the gauge." Even before AAA tests, actual users had reported: "no blowouts," "no flats from punctures."
