American Designer Now Combines Contemporary and Traditional

By SUE GARDNER

Edward J. Wormley is one American furniture designer who manages to bring a feeling of fine traditions into his creations. Although each year he adds new ideas to his collections, you have the impression that his work is based on the best of past periods combined with the finest of the current developments.

Wormley's newest collection of Dunbar modern has much of the American tradition in its beauty of line, color and wood. A new version of the Windsor chair has a trim back with four vertical poles within a back frame that ends in a curved crossbar a few inches above the seat.

Buffet Cabinet Handy

The chairs have seats upholstered in modern, textured fabrics and are shown with a new oval shaped American walnut table, the same wood as is used on the chairs.

Although Wormley believes that the formal entertaining of past generations is passe, he does not recommend that you have all your dinner parties with guests "sitting around with dishes teetering precariously on their laps." He has designed a buffet cabinet that has storage space for everything the hostess needs, including a full length drawer for table clothes, smaller drawers for silver and napkins, adjustable shelves for china and crystals and even a section for your liquor collection. Side cabinets that form one large unit with the buffet hold three folding tables and a double hot plate among other accessories necessary for entertaining. The side cabinets have doors that open out, while the center one has a sliding tambour front.

Also American in influence are the Wormley bedroom pieces. You will see here the trends begun in our early colonial and provincial days. There are hickory spindle beds and cabinets featuring beautiful walnut woods and molded plywood cherry pulls for a contemporary note. His foot-stool beds have two sections at the foot that drop to form upholstered footstools.

Handsome Day Beds

For the one-room home, or the dwelling which requires at times extra sleeping accommodations, Wormley's day beds are a far cry from the usual studio couch idea. They look like handsome sofas and have reversible foam rubber mattresses. When put in a setting with his glass or copper topped tables their double duty function is not realized.

The accessories by this designer are also both functional and decorative. His "magazine tree" is a stand that has five tiers, diminishing in size from bottom to top. It will hold a year's supply of ten magazines, and the

Canning Show For 4-H Clubbers

Vivian Freeman, educational representative of the Kerr Glass Manufacturing corporation will be in Salem June 28 at 1 p. m. to give a canning demonstration for training 4-H leaders and members. The meeting will be in the Hoggs Brothers' kitchen. Anne Bergholz, county extension agent doing 4-H work, will follow Mrs. Freeman's canning demonstration by showing the correct procedure in freezing foods.

Marion County has eight standard clubs carrying the food preservation project and a number of members carrying the project individually. The food preservation clubs are under the leadership of Mrs. J. C. Mount, Kelzer; Mrs. Elmer Klein assisted by her daughter Sally, Aumsville; Mrs. Ed Holmquist assisted by Lois, Aumsville; Mrs. Myrtle Katka assisted by Margaret, Hayesville; Mrs. Robert Garrett, Hayesville; Mrs. Melvin DuRette assisted by Mrs. R. B. Gotchall, Butteville and Chumposse; Mrs. Henry Hochspeler, Jefferson; and Mrs. Sam Drager assisted by Irene Thomas, Cloverdale.

All 4-H leaders, members and people interested in correct canning and freezing procedures are invited to attend the meeting.

Young Pianist to Give Concert

Next meeting will be July 8 at the home of Mrs. Adkinson.

On Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. Is it absolutely required that a person give the reason for declining an invitation?

A. It is not obligatory that one do so, but unless it is a very intimate reason, one should explain why, and with regret. Otherwise, the hostess might resent a curt "Sorry, I cannot accept."

Q. Isn't it proper for a man to walk along the street between two women he is accompanying?

A. No. The man should always walk on the outside.

Q. Isn't it quite all right to use the fingers to convey French-fried potatoes to the mouth?

A. Never; the fork should be used.

Storvick, to Philip Gordon Clites, Silverton high school teacher, who came here three years ago from Nebraska. The wedding will be held July 14 at 8 o'clock at Trinity Lutheran church. Miss Storvick has been attending Oregon State college for the past two years.

Mrs. Merle Travis, president of the Salem Woman's club, will entertain members of her board at a dessert luncheon on Thursday afternoon at her Shipping street home at 1:15 o'clock. Plans for the club will be outlined for the coming year during the afternoon.

Hopewell — A bridal shower honoring Joy Manley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Manley, was held at Hopewell Seventh Day Adventist church. Miss Manley will soon become the bride of Glenn Stevens of Tillamook.

Henn-Pantle Vows Read

Woodburn—A bride of June 17 at the Woodburn Church of God was Miss Vera Darlene Pantle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pantle of Woodburn route 2, when she was married to Merle Lloyd Henn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Henn, also of Woodburn route 2. The Rev. Donald Priest officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride's uncle, Mr. Nelson, sang and Mrs. Alice Rose Jones played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was gowned in a white satin dress with long pointed sleeves, white net inset, with small pearls forming a flower design across the front. She had a long train and pleated skirt and her fingertip veil fell from a bonnet ayle head dress. Her flowers were a white orchid and pink gladioluses.

Miss Carol Taylor of Salem was maid of honor and wore an orchid dress while the bridesmaid, Mrs. Harley Piper of Woodburn, wore an aqua dress. Both carried white gladioluses and a white head-dress.

Roy Lester Henn, brother of the groom, was best man and Fred Pantle, brother of the bride, was the groom's attendant. Ushers were Don Sacramento, Don Horn and Jim Cole, all of Woodburn.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and the groom's mother wore a blue dress with white accessories. Both had rosebud corsages.

A reception was held at the First Christian church. Assisting were Zaida and Velda Nelson, cousins of the bride, Charlene Horn, Mrs. Ora Sheppard, Verma Metzheim, Mrs. Floyd Pantle and Mrs. George Henn.

The young couple went to Yellowstone National park for their wedding trip for which the bride chose a pink suit with white accessories. After July 7 they will be at home in Piper's apartments here. Both young people are graduates of Woodburn high school.

Roberts—Mrs. George Crockett of Los Angeles, former resident of Salem, is a houseguest of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Doak at their home on Croisan Creek Road. Mrs. Vrockett who will be here for several weeks will be feted by a number of informal affairs planned for her by Mrs. Doak.
