

NCAA Shapes Video Program

Ruling Body Ready Setup for Next Fall

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic association today began laying ground work for televising college football games this fall. The television committee of the NCAA, headed by Tom Hamilton, director of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh, discussed the situation with representatives of four advertising agencies who appeared in behalf of potential sponsors.

Francis Murray, director of athletics at the University of Pennsylvania, which has been declared "not in good standing" by the NCAA, also appeared before the committee at his own request. Pennsylvania's decision to televise its home games in defiance of the NCAA's policy led to the not-in-good-standing ruling.

Chairman Hamilton explained that television contracts will be negotiated by individual universities, but each market district, under the committee's plan, will have three to 10 Saturdays when no home game will be televised. Each market district, he said, will be limited to one TV game in the remaining seven dates and individual institutions are limited to one appearance at home and one away from home.

Video Not Required
The nine-man television committee will not participate in the selection of games and no university is required to televise, Hamilton said. He added the committee would recommend to the NCAA council that a share of the receipts of televised games be paid the NCAA to help pay the cost of the survey to determine the effect of television on attendance.

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England, July 6 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania's 150-pound crew advanced to the semifinal round of the Thames Challenge cup competition by defeating King's college of London by four lengths today. The Penn lightweight, only American entry in the Royal Henley regatta, turned in the best time of all four semi-finalists and became a strong favorite to win.

Batting, Hill Berg's Michaelis Gets No-No As East Salem Walloped, 22-0

The first no-hit, no-run game of the 1951 Junior "C" league campaign was chalked up Friday night at Olinger as Jim Michaelis hurled the Berg's Market entry to a smashing 22-0 triumph over East Salem Lions.

While Michaelis was allowing nary a blow through the five-inning mix, the Market crew was capitalizing to the fullest extent on a wholesome output of free passes issued by six East Salem hurlers. The big inning for the Berg's was the fourth when 16 runs crossed the platter. The terrific inning was constructed on 12 walks and five hits. Simm, McKeever and Brydon picked up singles during the wild frame and Syring chipped in with a double and single good for three runs. Another batting star for the Marketmen was Jim Gordon who also rapped a double and single during the tilt, knocking in four tallies.

The win was Berg's first in three starts. East Salem now has a 1-2 mark also.

$50,000 Turf Event Today

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—The merry-go-round for three-year-old horses makes another whirl tomorrow in the $50,000-Added Dwyer Stakes at Aqueduct. Ten sophomores from the much-scrambled division, headed by Counterpoint and Battleground, are entered for the mile and one-quarter sprint.

C. V. Whitney's Counterpoint, a flashy chestnut son of Count Fleet, was listed as the overnight favorite for the 54th running of the Dwyer. If he can tack another victory on top of his June 16 triumph in the rich Belmont Stakes, Counterpoint will go a long way towards grabbing the three-year-old division championship.

However, Counterpoint has to hang another defeat on Battleground, George D. Widener's two-year-old champion.

This Prison Nine'll Have No Temptations

FORT MADISON, Ia., July 6 (AP)—There'll be no home run hitting when the Iowa penitentiary softball team plays here Sunday night.

Warden Percy Lanson insisted on a ground rule which provides that when a ball is hit past a designated spot in the outfield the runner must pull up at second base and the outfielder must not chase the ball.

The game will be the only one outside the prison walls this season for the penitentiary baseballers who are known as "The Saints."

"When one of our boys gets out past the circle of the lights he's apt to feel less 'saintly' with every step he takes," the warden explained.

Dixie Gets Season's Suspension

NEW ORLEANS, July 6 (AP)—Atlanta Manager Dixie Walker was suspended for 90 playing days and fined $100 today for allowing his players to abuse a Southern Association umpire.
