3 Probation Cases Heard in Circuit Court

Three probation cases, one innocent and one guilty plea, and a request for commitment to the state hospital were heard Monday in the courtroom of Circuit Court Judge George R. Duncan.
Duncan revoked the probation of Joe Vincenzi, convicted July 6, 1950 of larceny, and sentenced to six months suspended sentence three years probation. Vincenzi was convicted of obtaining money under false pretenses.
The probation of LeRoy Smith, Canby, was reinstated. Smith's probation was revoked on April 10, 1951 and his sentence reduced to six months. He was convicted Oct. 27, 1950 of obtaining money under false pretenses and sentenced to one year in the county jail and three years probation.
Duncan extended until July 20 a motion to revoke the probation of Melvin Forcier. Forcier was convicted April 12, 1949 of non-support and given a one year suspended sentence and five years probation.
Pleading innocent to the charge of escaping from the state penitentiary in 1943 was James Edward Shouse. He was indicted on the charge May 31, 1951. The case was continued for trial date.
A guilty plea was entered by Anthony Blando, Stayton, who was charged a grand jury. The case was continued to August 6. Blando was charged July 12 with taking a $250 circular saw from the Bert Bradley mill near Sublimity.
Also entering a guilty plea was George Baca, Albuquerque, N. M., charged with grand larceny of a paint sprayer rented from Howser Bros. Equipment company last August. Baca waived a grand jury hearing and his case was continued until July 20. He is wanted on a similar charge in Portland and Walla Walla.
Carl A. Marvel waived a grand jury hearing and requested commitment to the state hospital. The case was continued until July 20. Marvel was charged June 30 with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Italy Cabinet Resigns Again
ROME, July 16-(AP)—Italy's cabinet resigned today in a move designed by Premier Alcide de Gasperi to reshuffle and broaden his anti-communist government.
The resignation ended a two-week period of intense political activity. De Gasperi had been trying to coax leaders of the liberal and anti-communist socialist parties to join his Christian democrat party. The resigned cabinet included only members of De Gasperi's ruling party and two republicans.
The resigned cabinet was the sixth headed by De Gasperi since the ousting of communists and leftwing socialists in 1947.

County to Share In Road Fund
Marion county is due to receive $121,795.32 as its share of the state highway fund, Earl T. Newberry, secretary of state, announced today.
The fund, divided among Oregon's 28 counties according to automobile registration, comes from registration fees, fuel taxes, motor carrier fees, and fines.
Multnomah county received the largest amount, $553,778, and Lane county was next with $157,333.17. Marion county was the third largest recipient.

NOMINATION APPROVED
WASHINGTON, July 16-(AP)—The senate finance committee today unanimously approved the nomination of John B. Dunlap of Texas to be commissioner of internal revenue.

Eagles Study Court House Cupola Plan

The Salem Eagles' lodge and the Marion county court gave considerable study to the newly-announced project of preserving the courthouse cupola. Shown here (left to right) are: V. L. Wick, chairman of the Eagles' major activities committee; Elmer Church, committee member; County Commissioner E. L. Rogers; Herbert Barker, committee member; County Judge Rex Hartley; Alfred W. Loucks, committee member and mayor of Salem; Eagles President E. C. (Tim) Lindstrand and County Commissioner Roy Rice.

Plan to Preserve Cupola Of Courthouse Favored

The Eagles' lodge program to preserve intact the cupola of Marion county's picturesque old courthouse drew widespread commendation in the Salem area.
County Judge Rex Hartley said that "in view of the popular support of the project, I think it is a fine thing, and the county court is very glad to cooperate."

Mayor Alfred W. Loucks, speaking as the city's chief executive, said "if this plan is feasible, it certainly is a fine one. Many people in Marion county have grown up with the courthouse and hold it in reverence. That feeling certainly deserves recognition."
Loucks was a member of the Eagles' major activities committee which recommended the plan to the general membership for adoption. His comment regarding the feasibility of the project was in connection with its magnitude—the moving of the entire cupola with its statue and clock.

Many Sites Considered
The committee said Monday that "many new sites are under consideration, and in all probability others will be offered free of charge for this purpose, yet the main interest centers around the northwest corner of Bush park (pasture), at the intersection of High and Mission streets, particularly due to the fact that this already is a park area and a museum may be established in close proximity."

It was declared that a base for the cupola, preferably cement, would be large enough to provide solidity and to accommodate future desirable adaptations, and that "constructional features... will be so designed as to make practically impossible any acts of vandalism."
Trust Fund Planned
Funds would be raised through public subscription and "a trust fund is to be established to insure the proper maintenance and repair." Cost of the moving and installation is estimated in excess of $10,000.
The Salem Eagles lodge previously sponsored such projects as the acquisition of the mid-valley's iron lung and the blood donor program, and nationally is credited with instituting the social security statute—the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt presented the lodge with the pen used to sign the legislation into law. Among other projects of the Eagles during the lodge's 53-year existence is a $175,000 dormitory at Boys Town, Neb.
The Marion county courthouse, scheduled to give way to a new structure within a short time, was started in 1872 under a $9,000 contract signed by W. F. Boothby and Harry Stapleton. When completed in 1874, total cost was estimated at $110,000. Architects were Piper and Burton of Portland.

Stripping of 3 Autos Reported
Stripping of three autos over the week end was reported to city police Monday.
Ray Van Vleck, 1865 N. Commercial st., reported the theft of a tire, tube and wheel and a box of carpenter's tools from his auto Saturday night.
Tom Collier, 195 S. Cottage st., complained of the theft of a carburetor from his car parked at Center and Commercial streets, and G. K. Talmadge, 3290 Duncan ave., reported two hub caps were taken from his car while parked at his residence.

Alteration of Sorority House Planned Soon
A permit for extensive alterations to the Alpha Chi Omega sorority house at 610 N. 15th st. was issued Monday by the city engineer's office. Estimated cost of the project is $16,000.
The building, formerly the Herman Lafky residence, was purchased by the sorority earlier this year. The remodeling project, undertaken by Contractor Robert D. Morrow, is expected to be completed for opening of fall term at Willamette university.
Other building authorized Monday included a $7,200 home, 2291 Townsend way, Melvin Propp; house alterations, 1117 6th st., $2,000; Charles Wyant; alteration of processing plant, 696 Bassett st., Oregon Turkey Growers, $400; and alterations to store and tire shop, 339 N. High st., $250, Walter Zozel.

Elizabeth Lord Reappointed to State Board
Elizabeth Lord, 545 Mission st., Salem landscape architect, Monday was re-appointed to the state capitol planning commission by Gov. Douglas McKay. Miss Lord is the daughter of former governor William F. Lord.
Also named to the capitol planning commission was Herman Brookman, Portland.
J. H. Van Winkle, Oregon City, was reappointed by Governor McKay today to a five-year term on the state game commission.
Morgan Beck, Ontario, was named to the state board of livestock auction markets. He succeeds Frank Wink, The Dalles.
Governor McKay also announced the following reappointments:
W. L. Erikson, Portland, to the furniture and bedding advisory council.
U. S. Alderman, Dayton, to the state board of agriculture.
Francis J. Kern and Mrs. J. H. Thomas, both of Portland, to the advisory committee of the fair employment practices law.
E. C. Lemler, Merrill, to the Oregon potato commission.
Rev. Robert L. Greene, Coos Bay, to the Coos county public welfare commission.

Drivers Charged With Failure to Heed Road Signs
Three Salem drivers were cited Monday by city police on charges of failure to heed detour and blockade signs where street resurfacing projects were underway.
Charged with driving around blockades and onto new surfacing on Broadway street were Gary Evan Mahnkey, 3125 Lynn ave., and Arnold Lewis Temple, 2755 D st. A similar charge was filed against Joseph Dare Johannes, 185 Erubetz rd. in volving Gaines street.
Police said motorists ignoring the signs had done considerable damage by driving over the roads before the asphalt surfacing had time to harden.

Baker Residents Told To Cut Use of Water
BAKER, July 15-(AP)—The city manager asked Baker residents today to cut down on their use of water. He said the current hot-spell has lowered the water level in the city's two reservoirs.
Water rationing will follow if the plea for voluntary reduction does not succeed, City Manager G. S. Vergeer said.

Hearing Set on Zone Change For Nursery

A proposed business zone to allow location of a nursery school on Mission street will be given public hearing before the Salem planning and zoning commission at 7:30 p.m. today in city hall.
The change from residential zoning is petitioned by Robert Carolan, 940 E. Rural ave. The property in question is on the north side of Mission near Winter street. The commission also has received a remonstrance against such change from Carl B. Hansen. Center street zoning will be back in the commission's lap tonight, as a business zoning request from Dr. Roy Reynolds has been re-referred by the city council.
Councilmen asked that the change stipulate that Reynolds remove the present frame residential-type building before establishing a new naturopathic clinic on his property at 1144 Center st.

Use Present Church
The plan will allow use of the present church, erected in 1888, until the new one is completed. Seating will be expanded considerably, since five masses are required now each Sunday to accommodate members of the parish.
Another project which it was hoped will begin this year, if NPA gives approval, is a multi-purpose building on Cottage street, opposite Sacred Heart academy, where the parish recently purchased a gymnasium, a lecture room, chanted two lots. It would include kitchen, shower rooms and other facilities.
The Rev. Mr. Bernards, who serves as chairman of the steering committee for the building program, said most of the funds required for the church buildings have been accumulated.
Other members of the committee are Edward Majek, Henry Kropp, Daniel J. McLellan, August Luckestein, Michael J. Buschko, Lawrence Kelsch, E. H. Burrell and Charles Schmitz, secretary.

Construction of Catholic School Addition Starts

Construction of a school addition, first portion of a large construction program slated this year for St. Joseph's Catholic church block, began Monday morning.
The project is to include, if National Production authority gives approval, a $300,000 church and a multi-purpose structure to replace the auditorium now being razed.
The beginning portion is an addition of two classrooms, a heating plant and multi-purpose room to the south end of the grade school on Winter street. The city building permit estimated the cost at $25,000. Contractor is A. N. Minden company of Portland, with owner "Gus" Minden here to supervise.

To Reinstall Plant
The present heating plant, which was under the auditorium, will be lifted out and re-installed to serve the church, school and rectory. The addition will be of reinforced concrete, faced with brick, of modernistic design.
Minden said pouring of concrete will begin this week. Yesterday's work was in preparation for foving the furnace and boiler.
The Rev. T. J. Bernards, pastor, said the large frame rectory on Chemekeka street will be moved immediately to a site facing Cottage street north of the church. The location will be temporary since a new rectory is on the long-range program.
Plans have not been completed for the church itself, although it is to face east on Winter street, adjacent to Chemekeka street. It will be of reinforced concrete, with brick veneer except on the front, where marble facing will be used.

Policemen Attend Corvallis School

Three state policemen from the Salem area are attending the annual state police school which began Monday at Corvallis.
Patrolman R. M. Haynes and Floyd West will attend sessions, which are being held on the Oregon State campus, for one week; Lloyd Morrill will attend for two weeks. Instructors at the school include Capt. Ray Howard, Lt. Farley Mogan and Sgts. Avon Mayfield and Robert Baker, all from the Salem district office.

3 Plead Guilty To Vandalism At Breitenbush

Two men, including one juvenile, were released Monday after pleading guilty to disorderly conduct charges, and one was still being held by Marion county sheriff's department today following arrest of the three Saturday at Breitenbush Hot Springs.
Sheriff's deputies said the three men were drinking and destroying property in the neighborhood of Bruckman's resort and had first been reported to the sheriff's department by state police.
Released into the custody of his parents, on six months parole, was a fifteen-year-old Gates youth. He pleaded guilty and paid a $25 fine. Also released after pleading guilty and paying the $25 fine was Lloyd Ivan Schroeder, 19, of Gates.
The third man, Truman Douglas Tibbets, Lyons route 1, who also pleaded guilty was still being held today in the Marion county jail, pending payment of $35 in fines on the disorderly conduct charge and on an old warrant citing violation of the basic rule.

Enlistment Deadline Held Until August 1
The deadline was extended Monday to August 1 for enlistment of youths who have taken pre-induction physical examinations. Salem recruiting offices reported an unusual rush of business last week prior to the Sunday night deadline, now extended.
More names were expected to be added, following yesterday's announcement by Marion county selective service board that men were being notified of their classifications resulting from college deferment tests and school standings. Some 45 men have been classified from this group, with most of them listed as 2-As and able to remain in school next year. The others will continue as 1-A, acceptable.
The navy enlisted 10 and the army and air force 25 from the mid-valley last week. Most of them were reported to be college students.

Discarded Cigaret Given Blame for Grass Fire
A discarded cigaret was blamed Monday for starting a grass fire in the 1100 block of Woodrow st. in north Salem, city firemen reported.
North Salem and central station answered the call at 1:50 p. m. The blaze was extinguished before it caused any damage, firemen said.

O&C Meeting Set Wednesday

Consideration of fund legislation concerning Oregon and California grant lands will be the subject of a meeting of the Association of O&C Counties in Salem Wednesday at 11 a.m.
The informal meeting has been called by the executive board regarding the association's stand on apportionment of receipts from the lands to counties.
Marion county court was informed Monday that receipts from sale and rental of the land and sale of timber during the fiscal year just ended totaled $6,422,255, 913 in 1950. Fifty per cent of this up 72 per cent from the $3,624, is divided among 18 counties in proportion to their areas of grant lands.
