

10-Year-Old Boy Stranded With Fiddle, But No Family

By Charlie Fank
VICKSBURG, Miss., Aug. 16—(AP)—He knew when he fell asleep they were going to leave him. They had told him so.
 And the fiddle was his to begin with. He got it in a trade for his best friend, a bob-tailed pup.
 He found the fiddle by his bed when he awakened. His daddy and stepmother had taken everything else from the room where they spent the previous night.
 That's the story a 10-year-old boy told L. E. D. Delaney of the Salvation Army here. He sobbed it out after a Vicksburg businessman found him in tears, attempting to sell the fiddle for enough money to buy a meal and a place to sleep.
Father Had Reported
 The police had a report on him. Before he left town Monday afternoon the father notified police headquarters that the boy had run away—and that he had stolen the violin.
 The cops were on the watch Monday. They were skeptical. It was unusual for a man to lose his son and move on to another town without searching for him.

When found, crying over the fiddle and trying to sell it for six dollars, the boy said his name was Jimmy. His father traveled, he said. He was 10 years old but he had never stayed in one place long enough to go to school.
Mother in Hospital
 At the Salvation Army home, the youngster told L. Delaney his mother is in Whitfield (the state mental hospital); that his father had married again. He had a sister and brother in Gulfport and he wanted to go there.
 Jimmy sobbed protests when they suggested he return to his father.
 The Salvation Army officers were convinced. They called Gulfport. The boy's sister and brother offered to make a home for him and the father returned to the bus ticket. He left yesterday.
 The fiddle? It is still here. Police are holding it for further investigation.
 Jimmy's last name is not important. He's just a boy with a heart and a hope who has never had a home address. None, that is, until now.

Utah Convicts Threaten New Pen Violence

POINT-OF-THE-MOUNTAIN, Utah, Aug. 16—(AP)—Boastful threats of renewed violence were voiced today by ringleaders of Tuesday's Utah state prison riot.
 Authorities moved to make the "escape proof" prison riot proof.
 "The next time someone may be killed," convict Alwin Strauss warned Clarence Dens, chief prison clerk. Wayne Johnston, Strauss' cohort in Tuesday's flare-up at the strife-bedeviled prison, said the same warning was given to acting warden Weston H. Haslem.
 Strauss and Johnston were taken to Salt Lake City today for arraignment on charges of being habitual criminals, and second charges of assault on prison personnel and attempted escape. Later they issued a "statement" to a reporter for the Salt Lake Telegram, Roy Robinson, somewhat recanting their more violent frame of mind.
 Meanwhile, the state board of corrections voted to ask the state for funds to construct prison security features included in original prison plans. These were dropped during construction at the insistence of former Warden O. A. Severson.
 Raymond Ashton, architect, told the board that deletions in security structures, particularly for guards, saved about $100,000. He said it would cost more than that to build them now.

Seattle Murder Suspect Quizzed

SEATTLE, Aug. 16—(AP)—An ex-convict and itinerant laborer admitted in a signed statement today he shared a hotel room and fought with Glen Bell, Portland man whose mutilated body was found here July 4.
 But the suspect, John F. Brown, 57, denied any knowledge of the slaying. He is charged with second degree murder. Brown said he had a pocket knife, when he entered the hotel room, but does not recall what became of it.

Red Suspects Rounded Up

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Aug. 16—(AP)—Military police today arrested about 100 communist suspects, including 16 members of parliament. Official sources implied the group was plotting, with help from Red China, to overthrow Indonesia's middle-road government.
 The lawmakers detained make up most of parliament's extreme left wing. Chinese newsmen, merchants and teachers likewise fell into the net. Some top Indonesian labor leaders were seized. Jakarta newspapers said several officials of the labor ministry were among them.
 The arrests came after a wave of strikes by red-led unions and a gunfight between security forces and a band of 150 machinegunners wearing hammer and sickle arm bands Aug. 6 at the port city of Tandjong Priok.

UN Patrols Probe At Korea Front

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Friday, Aug. 17—(AP)—Allied patrols punched sharply into red positions on the central and eastern Korean war front Thursday, but withdrew under heavy fire.
 Red resistance was toughest southwest of Kansong, near the east coast. There the communists used machineguns, mortars and Russian-type self-propelled guns and 76 millimeter artillery.
 On the central front, three brief—but intense—patrol clashes were reported north of Hwachon reservoir south of Kumsong.

Opium Trade Bid from China Made Public

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—(AP)—Congress heard today that Communist China holds more than enough opium to supply the whole world for a year, and tried to swap 15 tons of it for American cotton.
 The narcotics bureau objected and the deal fell through.
 A house appropriations subcommittee got this and a good deal more official information on the illegal drug traffic in recent hearings, the transcripts of which were made public today. Deputy narcotics commissioner G. W. Cunningham also told the lawmakers that:
 "Lucky" Luciano, former New York vice czar deported to Italy, is reported by federal agents to be "directly connected" with the world narcotics traffic.
 Drug addition in the United States is rising at such a rate that the bureau needs 57 additional enforcement agents and $130,000 more for the purchase of evidence.
 Cunningham said he has information that Communist China possesses 500 tons of opium—"more than enough to supply the whole world for a year." About a year and a half ago, he said, a Seattle broker, who later was killed in the Philippines, telephoned him asking for a permit to import up to 30,000 pounds of Chinese opium.
 The narcotics official said he told the broker he wouldn't give him a permit; that the United States had no intention of letting anyone bring in opium from Communist China, and that no manufacturer would buy it anyway.

Commie Youth Quiet in Berlin

BERLIN, Aug. 16—(AP)—Communist youth leaders talked tough about a new assault on west Berlin today, but never got around to action.
 Still smarting from last night's fracas, the red youth threatened throughout the day to mass thousands of their "world festival" boys and girls for another propaganda march into the American, French and British sectors.

Young Service School Seeker Hits Jackpot

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16—(AP)—Nineteen-year-old Robert T. Lutz, jr., believes in putting plenty of irons in the fire.
 Robert took an entrance examination for West Point a while back. And while he was awaiting the results, he filed out applications for other service schools.
 Months went by. Then Congressman Morris Poulson advised Robert he had appointed him to West Point. The day after he arrived at the academy, he received a letter saying Congressman Donald Jackson had named him to Annapolis.
 Subsequently he was ordered to report to the New London Coast Guard academy, then to the California Maritime academy at Vallejo. Finally his draft board notified him his number was up.
 Robert is sticking to West Point.

Fate of Dams In Congress Up To Committee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—(AP)—The fate of three big Pacific northwest dam project appropriations will rest with a house-senate conference committee.
 The senate bill of the committee was named today. It includes five democrats and four western republicans.
 The projects were approved in the $638,568,213 bill for flood control and navigation works by the senate yesterday. The house had refused earlier to include them.
 The disputed items are: The Dalles dam on the Columbia river, $14,000,000; Ice Harbor dam, on the Snake river in southwestern Washington; Abeni Falls dam, on the Pend Oreille river in northern Idaho, $10,000,000.
 Among other projects included in the senate bill (with the amounts previously voted by the house in parenthesis):
 Oregon-Washington—McNary lock and dam, $42,900,000 ($36,000,000); The Dalles $14,000,000 (none).
 Oregon—Detroit reservoir $16,978,000, ($15,000,000); Lookout Point reservoir, including power and Dexter re-regulating dam $16,000,000 ($15,000,000); Willamette river, bank protection, $400,000 ($100,000).
 For flood control planning (none in house version of bill).
 Oregon—Hills creek reservoir $200,000; Cougar reservoir $75,000; Green Peter reservoir $75,000.

Leisure-Filled Retirement Loses Appeal

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—Only one American breadwinner in four really goes for the idea of retiring to a life of complete leisure when he gets up around 65.
 Three out of four want to keep on working, or at least "do something useful" in their retirement years, according to a survey of male policyholders by the Northwestern Life Insurance Co.
 Of 3,000 men covered in the survey, only 24 per cent want a life of ease when they reach retirement age. Most of those who selected such a retirement were men now under 40. Thirty-nine per cent said they wanted to be financially able to cut their working hours and change to a lighter occupation after retirement.

Red China Sends 2 Priests Home

HONG KONG, Aug. 16—(AP)—Two French Catholic priests were ordered deported from Red China after their trial on charges of "murdering 13,000 children," communist press reports said today.
 The charge of murdering children is a common one against missionaries who have had a hand in administering orphanages in Red China. They are held responsible for every death occurring there for as far back as 25 years.

Oil Deadlock Still Unbroken

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 16—(AP)—Britain, Iranian and American leaders attempted at various conferences today to break the deadlock in negotiation of an oil settlement.
 There were no signs, however, that Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government planned to back down from its opposition to a British proposal to solve the nationalization dispute which closed the world's biggest refinery at Abadan.
