

Mt. Angel Folk To Send Relief Box Overseas

Statesman News Service
MT. ANGEL—A letter from Father Alcuin, read at the Catholic Daughters meeting, disclosed startling cases of poverty still prevalent in Cologne, Germany, and the adjacent country where Father Alcuin is now working. He requested that the CDA send a box of clothing and food to nuns in Cologne who will distribute the contents at Christmas. Mrs. Alois Keber, relief chairman, will ship the box overseas. Mrs. Keber reported having shipped six boxes recently.

Plans were made for a fall reception for new members on October 22.
Mrs. Vincent Smith reported on the Junior C. D. A. leadership institute recently held in Mt. Angel, stating that 36 members had been initiated into a new junior court, when then elected the following officers: Marlene Diehl, president; Aileen Anderson, vice-president; Farrell Williams, secretary, and Marlene Prosser, reporter.

Mrs. Smith is chairman of the Junior Board. Mrs. Joseph Ficker is vice-chairman; Mrs. Tony Bigler, secretary; Mrs. Clem Butsch, treasurer, and Rev. Clem Frank, chaplain. Mrs. Smith said the juniors had been divided into four troops, with Mrs. Ficker and Mrs. Butsch in charge of the younger girls and Mrs. Bigler and Mrs. Smith taking over the older ones.

The committee for the next social meeting includes Mrs. Fred Prosser, Mrs. Otto Wellman, Mrs. M. A. Wagner, Mrs. Matt Wagner, Mrs. Ernest Walker, Mrs. J. A. Kaiser, Mrs. Roy Tate, Mrs. Paul Sliffe, Mrs. Vincent Smith and Mrs. Arnold Zollner.
Mrs. Alois Humpert, Mrs. Ralph Stenger, Mrs. Arnold Zollner and Mrs. Melchior Uselman were reported on the sick list.

A. L. Powell Wins Sweepstakes Title at Jefferson Flower Show

JEFFERSON—The sweepstakes award for most blue ribbons at the Jefferson Friendly Garden club's third annual summer flower show went to A. L. Powell. Mrs. Paul McKee won a sweepstakes and blue ribbon on her spike of dusty rose gladiolus. Mrs. Charles Sarver received the sweepstakes and blue ribbon for the best flower arrangement in the show. Her winning arrangement was a collection of peach colored pompon dahlias in a Chinese container, its design carrying out the color of the dahlias.

This year's show was considered the most successful on record. There were 184 entries plus 36 non-competitive displays, compared with last year's 110. The proceeds from the ice cream social netted the club $63. Judges were Mrs. William Neimeyer and Mrs. J. B. Van Cleave of Salem.

Winners Listed
Awards were as follows: Flower arrangements: Pottery containers—Mrs. Sophia Yunker, 1st; Mrs. A. L. Powell, 2nd; Mrs. Gilbert Looney, 3rd. Metal containers—Mrs. Charles Sarver, 1st; Mrs. Les Shields, 2nd; Mrs. Kenneth Cunningham, 3rd. Table containers—Mrs. Sarver, 1st; Mrs. Joe McKee, 2nd; Mrs. Margaret Kelly, 3rd.

Mrs. Tolo and Gargantua the Second, famous infant gorilla featured by the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus, attract thousands of menagerie visitors to the spacious cage in which the magnetic jungle tots are exhibited. Pioneer Relics Displayed at Sweet Home; Oldest Person Title to Grandma Thompson

Statesman News Service
SWEET HOME—Frontier Days in Sweet Home this year brought out the display of many articles of pioneer vintage and manufacture. Included were an old Seth Thomas clock—the 298th one made—that still keeps good time, and a regulation-size bath tub made by hand from a cedar log about 1862. Other antiques were an old horn made from the horn of a bull, a rawhide-bottom chair made in the Sweet Home furniture factory in 1879, and a player piano made at Ithaca, N. Y. about 1860 and now owned by Mrs. Lee Griner. It was brought here by her grandfather, Wesley Scott, when he returned home from service in the Civil war.

Also displayed was an old mowing machine brought across the plains in 1852 by Newton Russell, one of the earliest settlers of the Sweet Home valley. It is now owned by W. R. Rogers.

An object known to older folk as an "Armstrong reaper" also was shown. Younger generations would call it a cradle. "Grandma" Martha Thompson was the oldest person attending the Oldtimers picnic, a feature of Frontier Days. She is 93 and has lived in the Sweet Home area for 67 years.

Henry Jackson, 83, was the oldest native son in attendance. He now lives at Silverton. Next oldest was Hiram Pickens who is only a few weeks younger. Other longtime residents included Mrs. Lula Barr and Mrs. Anna Malone, each 77 years in the community; Fred Rolfe, 70 years; Mack Moss, 81 years; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wiley, 70 years.
