

Seen and Heard...

By JERYME ENGLISH

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

For Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. Earl Latourette, who will be moving to Salem the first part of September. Their many friends are pleased to hear that they will be establishing their residence here. They have taken an apartment at the Lee and Mrs. Latourette was here one day during the past week seeing about draperies and furnishings for the apartment. The Latourettes have sold their attractive home overlooking the Willamette river near Oregon City and this summer have been vacationing at their beach home at Gearhart.

Back in Oregon

are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Rogers, who have been at Willow Run, Michigan the past three years, where he was with Kaizer-Frazier. Mrs. Rogers will be remembered by her many Salem friends as Cleo Saurensis. After leaving Salem they lived in Portland before going east. They are temporarily in Portland and definitely will remain on the west coast. Cleo and Glenn decided there is no place like Oregon and could hardly wait to get back, even though it did mean giving up a fine position.

New at home in their newly built modern residence in Short Hills, New Jersey are the Wallace Spragues and son, Charles who have been living in East Orange. Their home is on two levels with three bedrooms and a library. Shortly after moving in the Spragues and their son drove up to Maine, where they vacationed at one of the lake resorts the first part of August.

WEDDING ECHOES

Outstandingly beautiful the wedding of pretty Joanne Fitzmaurice and Joseph R. Gerber, jr., a week ago Saturday. St. Paul's Episcopal church the setting for the high noon nuptials. Ohs and ahs for the beautifully frocked bridesmaids and the radiant bride. The girls all wearing lavender and violet tiered skirted organdy dresses with crownless wide brimmed hats and carrying organdy ruffled fans. Joanne's dress also with tiered skirt and train and lovely was her train length veil adorned with lace applique, which had been sewed on by hand. Joanne planned and designed the dresses, including her own, and compiments to her and her mother who made them all. Even to the hats and fans. The couple all smiles as they walked slowly up the aisle after the ritual. Adorable were small Stephanie and Phillip Gerber, the flower girl and ring bearer.

The reception

the lovely garden of the Robert M. Fitzmaurice home on Oak Hill avenue the setting. The gardens a mass of color with gorgeous roses, begonias, fuchsias and phloxes. The bridal party receiving under the large trees. The punch tables arranged in the lower part of the garden. One table with a deep violet cloth and the other a green and white embroidered organdy over lilac. All white was the bride's table with an embossed organdy cloth caught at the corners with clusters of white gladioli blossoms. In the center the exquisite tiered cake with pillars between each layer. Nearby were the buffet tables. Delicious crab and shrimp cocktails, turkey and ham sandwiches and relishes. Later in the afternoon Joanne throwing her bouquet from the upper garden with blonde Ann Wilkins, the maid of honor, the lucky catcher.

A colorful sight

to see the women in their pretty pastel summer frocks mingling about the garden. Lots of cameras clicking all during the reception. Catching the many candid shots and scenes of the garden. Among those present. Patty Wilson in a fetching red and white cotton with stole tied in front. Mrs. Lester Barr in a smart blue and black print with black cape lined in the print and a pale blue satin pill-box. Many from out-of-town. The bride's grandparents, the Sherman Wades of Condon. She in a navy blue outfit with lavender orchid. Other relatives from Portland, Corvallis and Condon. Here and there. Margaret Edwards and Emily West of Portland, Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority sisters of the bride, among those assisting. Margaret, a pretty brunette, wearing a strapless bon bon pink net ankle length frock with stole and matching shoes. Emily in a becoming pink and white embroidered organdy. Peggy Gumbert, also of Portland, in a green and black print with pleated skirt and Persian lamb stole. Mrs. West Stone and her daughter, Sally, down from Portland. The latter wearing a navy duster with navy hat. Mrs. Robert Sid-doway of Portland and the McClintock twins, Mrs. Glen Holden of Portland and Mrs. Phillip Welling of Eugene. Patricia Brock, just home from Hawaii, squired by Ernie Miller. Dozens of the young marrieds on hand for the occasion. A wedding long to be remembered.

PARTY NOTES

A week ago Friday Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huggins were at home to a large group of their friends. The affair celebrated their silver wedding anniversary, but very few of the guests knew it before the party. A beautiful summer's night with the garden and the outdoor fireplace the popular spots. The buffet table, laden with delicious delicacies, arranged in the dining room. Guests staying way past the 8 o'clock hour. The hosts daughter, Suzanne, who is now in Cheyenne beginning her airline stewardess training, assisting informally. A very important guest at the party was the Huggins' bulldog, Poochie. Several noted from out-of-town. Senator and Mrs. Dean Walker over from Independence. This is hop picking time for the Walkers, but they took a few hours off to come over for the party. The Orris Frys and Palmer Macdonalds down from Portland and the Gus Hixsons of Eugene.

A garden luncheon on Tuesday for which Mrs. Karl Becke was hostess for Mrs. F. J. Griffin of San Francisco, who visited here earlier in the week with her sister and brother-in-law, the H. G. Maisons. A perfect summer's day for the affair. A handsome marble top table arranged in the garden with blue lace doilies and centered with a white swan filled with burgundy gladioli. And smaller tables on the terrace by the creek. The buffet table set in the dining room. The honor guest wearing a brown the silk. The hostess in an attractive pink sleeveless dress. Even to the hats and fans. The couple all smiles as they walked slowly up the aisle after the ritual. Adorable were small Stephanie and Phillip Gerber, the flower girl and ring bearer.

Protests Game Amusement Tax

Statesman News Service

JEFFERSON — Mrs. Ted Cotman, representing the Jefferson Terminal protested the 12.50 per month amusement license on the bowling game board in the Terminal at the city council meeting last week.
