Arms Shipment Control Plea

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27-(AP) What looked like a prospective filibuster was broken up tonight when the senate formally agreed to take up tomorrow a hotly dis-puted bill aimed at choking off the flow of arms to Russia and her satellites

After several hours of talk over whether it should put the mea-sure on its calendar for immediate consideration, the senate agreed by a roll call vote of 32 to 29 to take it up Tuesday.

The senate then recessed until noon tomorrow, putting an end to what had appeared likely to be a prolonged night session.

mock war involving more than 100,000 soldiers and airmen, ended at 7:20 a. m. (EST) after an enemy aggressor force had been crushed by the three divisions of the U. S. Seventh corps. The divisions were the 28th and 43rd infantry divisions and the 82nd although divisions airborne division.

News of the end of the war games spread rapidly through the ranks. There was some shouting among the tired ground troops, who ha' trudged many a mile over the rolling, pine-covered Carolina sandhills.

To many of the troops, the end of the war games meant special passes to their homes. To all of them, it meant a return to their home stations, scattered across the nation, for normal training under more comfortable conditions.

The same realism that marked the maneuvers continued today. Anti-noise ordinance amended to allow a householder to do carpentry around his own home until a p.m.

Bowlers May Be Permitted Cash Prizes

Salem's bowlers will likely have cash and game prizes to shoot at again this fall, it was indicated by city aldermen at a council meeting in city hall Monday night.

But they made no promises, pending the drafting of legislation "if possible" to allow prizes in bowling alleys while still prohibiting cash prizes in coin-operated bowling machines. City Attorney Chris J. Kowitz was instructed to delve into the legislative possibil-
