End of the Crop

Green Tomatoes Go Into Pickles or Preserves Before Jack Frost Arrives

By Maxine Buren
 Statesman Woman's Editor
 Experienced gardeners know that there'll be few more ripe tomatoes on the vines this year, and green tomatoes should be harvested and put down in the form of pickles, mincemeat or preserves.

It will take the other gardeners, those who have just begun that fascinating occupation of producing their own food—a few years to realize that one single cold night puts tomato plants out of the running.

You can use a few green tomatoes, but don't expect to handle your entire crop, nature simply didn't mean it that way. Dip slices of green tomatoes in bread crumbs or flour and fry, or as a vegetable or meat accompaniment. Green tomatoes can be stuffed with much the same filling as peppers, and baked.

You can make a very nice casserole dish with the tomatoes by baking with meat cakes or chops, seasoning nicely and topping with crumbs.

Here's one of the more demanded recipes using the vegetable:
GREEN TOMATO MINCEMEAT
 3 pints chopped apples
 3 pints green tomatoes (chopped)
 4 cups brown sugar
 1½ cups vinegar
 ¼ cup shortening
 3 cups raisins
 3 teaspoons cinnamon
 1 teaspoon clover
 ¼ teaspoon each, allspice, mace and pepper

Mix apples and tomatoes and drain. Add other ingredients except butter or shortening. Cook slowly for 3 hours, add butter and store in a crock or glass jar.

Then there are green tomato pickles and a combination of green pickles and pineapple:
GREEN TOMATO PICKLE
 1 gallon green tomatoes
 ½ dozen large onions
 2 cups brown sugar
 ½ lemon
 ¼ cup salt
 3 green peppers
 3 cups vinegar
 1 tablespoon each, whole black pepper, cloves, all-spice, mustard

Slice tomatoes and onions very thin, sprinkle with salt and let stand in a crock overnight. Drain well. Slice lemon, chop peppers fine and tie seasonings in a bag. Combine all cook for half hour, stirring gently frequently. Remove spice bag, pack hot in small jars. Put on lids and process 15 minutes in boiling water.

HOLLYHOCK PICKLES
 3 pounds small green tomatoes
 1 No. 2½ can pineapple
 2 pounds sugar
 4 cups vinegar
 Little mace
 1 cup honey
 1 cup pineapple juice
 1 tablespoon each, stick cinnamon, allspice and whole cloves
 2 tbsps. yellow mustard seed

Cut tomatoes in thick slices and pineapple in quarters. Mix sugar, vinegar, honey and pineapple juice and spices which have been put in a bag. Bring to boiling point and pour over pineapple and tomatoes. Cover and let stand 24 hours. Drain off liquid, bring it to a boil and add tomatoes and pineapple. Cook until tender and clear. Put solids in jars, boil down syrup until thick enough to coat a spoon, and pour over fruit. Fill jars to overflowing and seal.

Pi Phi Alumnae Meet at Chapter
 First meeting of the season for the Pi Phi alumnae was held Thursday night at the chapter house with 28 attending. Mrs. Cornelius Bateson presided at the business session. Plans were completed for the rummage sale to be held October 18 above Greenbaum's with Mrs. Kenneth Potts as general chairman. Mrs. Marion Mulkey was elected to the house advisory board.

Announcement was made that the active chapter will be hostess for a tea on November 4 in welcome to the new house mother, Mrs. Vine Buchholz. New mem-

Mr. Rutherford Speaks On Art To Club Group

Herbert P. Rutherford of the Rutherford Art Galleries in Portland was the guest speaker at the Salem Woman's club meeting on Friday afternoon. He spoke on art and showed a collection of fine paintings. Mr. Rutherford stated that to enjoy art, we have to see it. He encouraged people to go to the art galleries to view work done by the contemporary American artists. The water colors of Joshua Meador, Ralph Hulet, Arthur Stewart and Herbert Runyan were shown and also the oils of Burt Proctor and Nell Walker Warner. The Rutherford Galleries will now be associated with the Deltzell-Hatfield Art Galleries of Los Angeles.

Mrs. William Bush sang a group of numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Thomas McNeill. Mrs. Jessie C. Singleton read one of her original poems.

Mrs. Merle Travis presided at the business session and the club voted to give contributions to the Girl Scouts, buy a defense bond and participate in CARE packages. Delegates elected to the Marion County federation meeting on October 26 at the Leslie Methodist church were Mrs. Curtis

Hale, Mrs. Ray McEvoy, Mrs. Frank Marshall, Mrs. Guy Hickok and Miss Eleanor Stephens. Mrs. Alexander Tieski was in charge of the tea committee and assisting were Mrs. J. A. Brownson, Mrs. John Carr, Mrs. W. W. Chadwick, Mrs. I. M. Doughton, Mrs. J. D. Walker, Mrs. J. E. West, Miss Antoinette White and Mrs. Don S. Smith. Mrs. Carl Chambers and Mrs. Mem Pearce presided at the tea urns. The table was centered with a handsome crystal epergne filled with fall fruits and flowers and flanked by chartreuse candles.
