Bus Fare Rise Plan Delayed By City Council

Action on a proposed increase in city bus fares was deferred by the Salem city council Monday night, but an ordinance bill setting forth the company request was introduced.

Prior to the December 10 meeting, when this bill comes up for disposition, City Manager J. L. Franzen is to prepare a recommendation for the council.

City Transit lines petitioned the council by letter for a fare boost estimated at about 11 1/2 per cent overall. The petition was not discussed at the council's meeting last night at city hall.

Bus Manager Carl Wendt proposed this new fare schedule: Raise present 10-cent fares to 12 cents or four for 45 cents; raise the 7 1/2-cent fare to 10 cents or three for 25 cents; leave the 20-cent fare unchanged.

Wendt submitted a financial summary indicating that out-of-pocket loss in local bus operations in the first eight months this year amounted to $13,145. He added that the proper depreciation charge would bring the loss figure up to $21,707.

He blamed "the increasing number of private cars operating within the city" for a continued falling off of bus revenue.

Wendt's letter stated: "It is our opinion that any cuts in service to the public would be far more distasteful to the public than a slight increase in their daily fare."

"Since the last increase in fares, which took place in July of 1949, there have been two increases in wages to employees, a 50 per cent increase in the cost of tires, a 30 per cent increase in the cost of gasoline and oil, a 35 per cent increase in the cost of material used in maintaining equipment, and a 200 per cent increase in the cost of insurance.

Added to this burden, was the recent readjustment of routes and relocation of the downtown bus terminal, due to the inauguration of the One Way street plan. Because of the short notice to the public, the first three weeks under the new routing because of one way streets, resulted in a passenger loss of approximately 9,000 passengers and a revenue loss of $895.00."

Greenbacks Pick Nominee For President

SEATTLE, Nov. 12 (AP) - A tall, serious and dignified looking Seattle grocer today was nominated for the presidency of the United States.

He is Fred C. Proehl, 65, named to head the Greenback party's slate. The announcement was made at party headquarters in Indianapolis.

Proehl doesn't expect to upset the democratic and republican candidates. He won't even stump the country.

"I don't hope to win," he said, "but I'll send out some literature and make a few speeches and give the people something to think about."

Proehl never ran for office before but he was a member of the village council and the school board in his home town of Parkers Prairie, in Otter Tail county, Minn.

He operated a small bank in northern Minnesota for 10 years prior to 1921 when he quit "in disgust." Now he's a strong foe of the banking system. He says it's unconstitutional. No place in the constitution, he insists, is any private institution or person given the right to circulate money.

The Greenback party, he said, takes the stand that money should be printed and circulated by the government "in accordance with the constitution, for either goods or services rendered."

Strike Halts Salem Phone Installations

Expansion of Salem telephone facilities, now operating at near capacity, was delayed Monday by a walkout of between 10 and 15 Western Electric installation workers.

None of the workmen is regularly employed here, although four are Salem residents. Four

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12 (AP) - Early solution was indicated tonight of a dispute which prompted 800 installers of telephone equipment to walk out in five states. Five hundred men walked out Friday in Northern California and the strike later spread to Nevada, Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

men, whose homes are not here, were ordered transferred to San Rafael, Calif., last Friday in a group of 20 from Oregon, according to a spokesman. Because of a reported absence of living facilities for workmen already in the area, the union has asked Western Electric for extra pay for commuting.

Workers walked off the job in San Francisco area and over Oregon and Washington because of this situation.

Not Affected Telephone operation will not be affected by the walkout. A union member said he did not know when it would end.

The unit has been here about six weeks and is about halfway through its assignment of installing terminals in the central office on State street, to make possible about 2,000 more phone connections, according to Elmer A. Berglund, Salem manager.

Expansion Delayed The expansion equipment is due for availability about January 1, although it was originally scheduled for October and was delayed by materials shortages. The addition was in the company's planning for normal growth, said Berglund, but is being called into use well ahead of schedule, because the local terminal connections, approximately 23,000 are almost filled.

Although similar equipment was added a year ago and about two years ago, the growth in phone service has kept pace. The manager said some 1,700 new customers were added in the year ending October 1, including 1,126 in the first nine months of 1951.

The office is not yet turning down any applications for service, at least on the basis of central office equipment, but is having to pick up numbers disconnected at one location for use in another almost as soon as the first party has withdrawn. Berglund said in the past disconnected numbers have not been reused until a new directory was issued.

Cobalt Bomb New Weapon Against Cancer

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 12 (AP) - The cobalt bomb, medicine's latest weapon against cancer, was dedicated here today.

A chunk of radioactive cobalt—half the size of a flashlight battery and contained in a huge lead box manipulated by heavy machinery—was formally presented to the medical profession by representatives of the Canadian and Ontario governments.

The bomb building is part of the Ontario cancer foundation's clinic at Victoria hospital. The bomb is the most powerful radioactive source ever used for peaceful purposes.

It was developed by the national research council and the Dominion-owned Eldorado Mining and Refining company. A similar bomb has just been put into use in Saskatchewan. An improved version probably will be installed in Toronto's proposed $2,000,000 cancer center.

Basically, the cobalt bomb will be used for cancer treatment in the same way as x-ray and radium. It combats cancer through radiation destruction of cells.

Six more cobalt "bombs" will be constructed by Eldorado Mining company next year for use in Canadian and United States hospitals.

R. F. Errington, manager of sales and development, said more are planned in 1953.

He said construction of the radioactive unit was limited because: 1. Canada's atomic pile at Chalk River, Ont., is the only one "this side of the iron curtain" capable of producing cobalt.

2. Only a few pieces of cobalt can be made radioactive in a year.

REPORTS THEFT TO POLICE W. F. Hilderbrandt, 2607 N. 4th st., reported to city police Monday the theft of $22 in bills and $2.50 in change during the morning hours. He said someone took the bills from his trouser's pocket, and the cash from a box on a dresser.

O'Hara Rebukes Reorganization Of Salem Traffic Safety Board

(Council news also on page 1) Reorganization of Salem's traffic safety commission drew a sharp rebuke from Alderman David O'Hara Monday night as the north Salem councilman took issue with its recommendation that Market street be made a through street except at Broadway.

"Why is it necessary to have these unofficial commissions," asked O'Hara, "when we have a city engineer and council members conduct their own investigations?"

O'Hara went on to question Mayor Alfred Louck's authority for recently reorganizing the commission of laymen appointed more than a year ago by previous Mayor R. L. Elstrom. The alderman said he thought the members affected should have been consulted.

Alderman Albert H. Gille joined O'Hara in maintaining that too many stop streets were being created by the new traffic board. The Market street recommendation, including traffic counts at several intersections, was referred to Aldermen Armstrong, O'Hara and Nicholson.

Action also was deferred on a proposed traffic signal light for Broadway and Pine streets, estimated to cost the city between $3,000 and $4,000. City Manager J. L. Franzen is instructed to ask the state to share in its cost.

He has reported to the highway department of the opinion that several other Salem intersections were in more immediate need of a traffic light.

Traffic Count Asked Alderman Gille called for a traffic count at 14th and Center streets. He recommended early installation of a traffic light there.

Stop signs were ordered on Pine street, the new truck route, at the Oregon Electric crossing between Hazel and Laurel avenues. Informed that the state public utilities commission had ordered, at the city's expense, a flashing light signal there as soon as materials are available, Alderman O'Hara declared the city should demand re-hearing before the PUC or take the decision to court in an effort to get the railroad to share in the expense of such signals.

Other Decisions In other council action last night at city hall: Position of assistant police was abolished. It has been vacant since E. C. Charlton's retirement recently.

On proposed annexation of a small area east of Park avenue, between Center and D streets, a public hearing was called for December 10, prior to a decision on whether to bring the matter to a vote.

December 10 hearings also set on two zone changes that would allow remodeling of the service station at Capitol and Court streets and conduct of Pacific Fruit and Produce warehouse business between Hines and Cross streets at the Southern Pacific railroad track.

Hearing Set Vacation of a short section of Leslie street between Winter street and Fringe creek, asked by property owners, was set for public hearing at the second December council meeting.

Sewage plant contracts were awarded to Builder-Providence for metering equipment at $911 and to H. D. Fowler Co. for automatic controls at $495. The city manager said delay of steel allocations means the plant cannot operate before April.

Parking was prohibited on the east side of 13th street between Chestketa and the alley to the north.

A bill was introduced to prohibit devices on autos to ignite exhaust fumes from the tailpipe.

Reds Heckle Jap Emperor

TOKYO, Nov. 12 (AP) - Three thousand leftist Japanese students heckled Emperor Hirohito and sang the communist anthem to him today in a disorderly demonstration that was unprecedented in Japan's modern history.

Officials and members of the older generation generally were shocked at the disrespect shown the ruler who still is considered divine by many of his subjects.

The incident, of possibly historic significance, occurred at Kyoto, ancient seat of Japanese culture and government, while Hirohito was on a state tour.

Fossils of three and five-toed Eohippus horses are found in the John Day fossil beds near John Day Oregon.

Slaying Starts Election Day In Philippines

By Frank L. White MANILA, Tuesday, Nov. 13 (AP) - A city hall worker was killed here early today in the first reported flare-up of election day violence.

A gunman pumped five shots into Francisco Jonsue, campaign manager for a city councillor, even before Filipinos began balloting for nine senators at large and provincial governors and mayors.

In Pangasinan province, a band of rebel Hukus popped out of a sugar cane field and fired a volley of shots at voters. Troops rushed out of constabulary headquarters only 100 yards away and returned the fire. A Manila Times correspondent said the Hukus escaped.

The shooting brought to 97 the number of deaths since mid-September attributed to the heated campaign. Communist-led Hukus struck at widely-separated points. The Hukus had warned Filipinos to stay away from the polls or face death.

President Elpidio Quirino flew to his home town of Vigan last night to cast his ballot.

The national election commission said about 4,600,000 persons were qualified to vote. This was a drop of 700,000 from the 1949 registration. Manila had 65,498 fewer voters. The cut in registration extended even to provinces outside the Huk-infested region of central Luzon.

Early Monday at Santa Ana, less than 30 miles north of Manila, a woman and a soldier were killed and four soldiers and four children wounded by Hukus. Seven Hukus were reported slain by a
