

Tornadoes Slap Midwest Area, One Man Dies

By the Associated Press
Several tornadoes raged across the Midwest Tuesday, killing one man and injuring at least seven. Winds roared as high as 100 miles an hour.

The twisters ranged through four states as a storm belt moved toward the east along the leading edge of a cool front.

Parts of Missouri, Illinois and Indiana were hit, and a tornado struck Kentucky dam village state park at Gilbertsville, Ky., killing one man.

One funnel-shaped storm slammed a narrow path through farmland east of Parma, Mo., injuring one person. Then it hopped northeast across the Mississippi river and struck Campbell Hill, Ill., a town of about 800, where six persons were reported injured.

Considerable damage was reported in the business district of Campbell.

In central Illinois a tornado swept through the towns of Mason City, Minier, Danvers, Hopedale, Mackinaw, Stanford and Hudson.

Mason City reported severe damage. Minier was without electric power for several hours, and roofs were blown off barns, garages and chicken coops in the farm area.

On the far north end of the tornado belt, Gary, Ind., suffered damages in suburban areas from a high wind, and police said ambulances had been sent to the Glen Park residential section.

The weather bureau at Chicago said the tornadoes ranged along the leading edge of a cold front traveling across the Midwest in a belt extending from the Great Lakes to southern Missouri. The high winds, thunderstorms and tornadoes were caused by the clash of cold air against the warm southern air which has been covering the area the last few days, the weather man said.

He said the tornadoes carried winds as high as 100 miles an hour.

4 County Officials In Portland for State Conventions

Four Marion county officials are in Portland today for annual state conventions, and three more will join them Thursday.

County Judge Rex Hartley and Commissioners Roy Rice and E. L. Rogers went to Portland Tuesday for a meeting of Oregon and California land grant counties and will remain for the three-day Association of Oregon Counties convention beginning today. Rice is secretary-treasurer of the association.

Engineer Hedda Swart is at the county engineers' meeting. Beginning Thursday are the treasurers' meeting, to which S. J. Butler will go, and the clerks' and recorders' conferences, to be attended by Clerk Henry Mattson and Recorder Herman Lanke.

MILL BUYS TIMBER

PORTLAND, Nov. 13—(AP)—The M and M Working Co. of Portland bought 30,900,000 board feet of forest service timber on the Mount Hood national forest with a bid of $644,980. The timber is mostly Douglas fir and white pine.

Students from 12 Portland Schools To See MacArthur

PORTLAND, Nov. 13—(AP)—Superintendent Paul Rehms said today that students in 12 public schools on the line of march of General MacArthur's parade here Thursday would be dismissed from classes to see the Pacific hero.

But other school pupils will be expected to attend class and no excuses from parents will be accepted, he said. Earlier the school board voted against a school holiday.

Governor McKay and other state, civic and military leaders will be in the parade from the airport to the Veterans' hospital. The general's plane is scheduled to arrive here at 8:15 a.m.

3 Solons Listed As Friendly to Farm Co-ops

PORTLAND, Nov. 13—(AP)—Friends of farmer co-operatives in the tug of war to enact a new tax bill during the first session of the 62nd congress were Sens. George (D-Ga.), Taft (R-Ohio) and Kerr (D-Okla.), Karl Loos, Washington, D. C., attorney, told the agricultural cooperative council of Oregon at a meeting here today.

The three senators, members of the senate finance committee, were the leaders in the fight to remove the measures proposed in legislation by enemies of the co-operative movement, Loos said.

"What congress did in the light of what it might have done," Loos said, "the picture does not look so black." The new tax bill puts a tax on un-allocated reserves held by co-operatives. They were formerly tax exempt.

Deciding factor in the scramble to enact a tax bill was the stand of the American farm bureau federation, the farm organization "with more influence in congress than all the rest of them put together," Loos said.

He added that the Farmers Union is the most potent "in the White House and with the cabinet."

D. W. Brooks, Atlanta, Ga., president of the national council of farmer cooperatives, said earlier that the new tax bill removes the tax-free stigma from farm co-ops. He spoke during the general business program and again as banquet speaker tonight.

$350 in Fines Meted Out in Salem Court

Fines totaling $350 were meted out to two men Tuesday by Municipal Court Judge Peery T. Buren.

The stiffest fine was levied against Glen Wheeler, 1085 S. 13th st., charged with reckless driving and driving without an operator's license. Buren fined Wheeler $200 and gave him a 10-day sentence, to be suspended on payment of the fine for the first charge. He was given another 10 day sentence on the second charge, with eight to be suspended on payment of a $150 fine.

C. Woodrow Miles of Sweet Home charged with driving while intoxicated drew a $250 fine and a 30-day sentence, to be suspended on payment of the fine.

Cordon Seeks To Free Steel For Dam Work

PORTLAND, Nov. 13—(AP)—An attempt to bring about release of steel for completion of McNary dam occupied Sen. Guy Cordon today, his first day back home in Oregon.

The Roseburg senator said the agency charged with electric power wants McNary dam construction stepped up to be able to produce power by 1953, but the production administration doesn't want to release the steel for it.

He described it as an inexcusable situation which "bureaucrats can't get together with bureaucrats."

The senator said he believed the recent northwest power curtailment to aluminum plants to be "almost criminal."

Cordon plans to go to Roseburg in a few days to remain until early in December when he will leave for Washington.
