"No Favor Sways Us. No Feat Shall Awe" -From First Statesman, March 28, 1851

THE STATESMAN PUBLISHING COMPANY

CHARLES A. SPRAGUE, Editor and Publisher

Published every me ning. Business office 215 8 Commercial, Salem, Oregon, Telephone 2-2441. Entered at the postoffice at Salem, Oregon, as second class matter under act of congress March 3, 1879.

"Social Graces" for the Irish

George Bernard Shaw was an Irishman but his wife was English. They lived their lives out in England. Whether it was a natural reaction from living with GBS or some fixed notion regarding the Irish in general-something prompted Mrs. Shaw to leave her estate for educating the Irish in the "social graces." The bank serving as trustee under her will recently went to court and had judicial confirmation of its purpose to carry out its trust, which was, in the language of her will, to teach the Irish "self-control, elocution, deportment, the arts of personal contact and social intercourse." The bank will have her $263,-000 to use in the instruction.

Now how will the Irish feel about this? Will they resent this reflection on their social grace and take a shillalah to the first banker's man who comes with a book of etiquette? Or will they see the humor of the situation, take the pamphlet or the lecture and enjoy the time withat?

The Irish long have had the reputation of being apt at personal contact and social intercourse -so apt that those who came to America rose quickly in politics. What would the police force of New York city and Boston be without the Irish? As for "elocution" wherever did you see an Irishman who was tonguetied? Do they not have the Blarney stone, the kissing of which loosens the tongue and promotes eloguence?

We fear the bank will just be throwing Mrs. Shaw's money away. The judge himself was skeptical of the success of its project. For once the Irish themselves have not spoken up to say how they feel over this course in social deportment. We fancy though they will take it all in stride. After all the punishment the Irish have endured this will be minor and of short duration.

Stop, Look and Listen

So involved are the complications respecting possible dropping of membership in the state refirement system for public employes and shifting to federal social security that it is advisable for groups of municipal employes considering it to step, look and listen first. Salem employes must have come to that conclusion after hearing the subject discussed Monday night.

Perhaps the wiser course is to reexamine the state system and see what may be done to improve it, so the federal system will not be attractive in comparison.

Tuesday's Windstorm

Dec. 4, 1951 will not rank in history with Dec. 7, 1941; but in this vicinity it will rank with that April day in 1931-the 21st-as the day of the Big Blow. Only this time it was from the other direction. In 1931 it was an east wind that developed into a duststorm. It blew the fine soil of the Inland Empire over the Cascades and the air on this side of the range was filled with dust. As a matter of fact dustclouds were carried out to sea 500 miles off San Francisco, as ships re-

Tuesday's blow was in the opposite direction. Instead of dust it bore rainwater picked up in the broad expense of the Pacific. Where the wind "blew itself out" we do not know yet; but lewas going fast when it rushed by Salem. Locally the damage done was slight. There

By J. M. Roberts, jr.

Associated Press News Analyst

The traditional scimitar of the moslems has but one edge, but there seems to be an increasing interest away from the failures of government. In doing so, the government may find itself the evenful victim of rebellion

Renewed violence in the Suez canel reminds that it has been just 70 years since Britain had to conduct a major campaign to save the Khedive from his own become a rebellion against a gov-erament which was both corrupt and inefficient, the same as today. The Khedive was in hock to France and Britain, and when they moved in to put his financial house in order, they cut down on the army. Part of it revolted.

had occurred in Cairo and the Sudan. The rebels took advantage of the situation. They struck first against the Khedive, and finally occupied Alexandria, where it turned the other edge of its sword

. Then occurred one of the trag-odies of that era. The British naity's dorts. When that job had been completed, however, occu-pation of the city was unexplainedly and disastrously delayed. The rebels looted and burned it, killing thousands of foreigners and left the whole place a sham-on foreign interests.

Nationalistic uprisings already

A Nationalist movement had suspicion that it is about to start cutting both ways in Egypt.

have been turned against the British by a cynical leadership which sought to bolster ets own position by turning popular against all authority.

The fanatic

nationalists |

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5-(AP)-

Egyptian Leaders' Plan to Turn People

Against Great Britain May Boomerang bels attracted much sympathy throughout the Moslem world.

Their leaders were exiled to Ceylon rather than executed as the Khedive wished, and Britain moved in to take over Egypt for fair. Governmental reforms were instituted, the people began to get a little better break. But Britain was a foreign ruler, the fires of Nationalism had been lit, and Moslem blood had again been

New the Egyptian government has sicked the fanaties on the Bri-

By Jane Eads

John Steelman, wife of the assistant to President Truman, who whips up sensational hats over-she enjoys getting dinners ready for her busy husband even though sometimes he phones from the White House he won't a straight 24-hour stretch," she said. "I just put the food away

Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer, widow eneral, hasn't missed a Supreme

The feather in Mrs. Henry F.

of President Wilson's attorney in the refrigerator and wait."

court opening since 1922.

Grady's hat was paradise

"Sometimes he works through be home for dinner at all.

night, now picks in her own living room Someone sent her an orchid plant. In addition to hat-making and orchid culture,

Mrs. Steelman

has a reputation cook. She told friends recently orchid corsages

WASHINGTON - (AP) - Mrs.

spilled by a European army.

was less extensive electric outage than in an earlier storm this season. But power and telephone linemen were kept busy keeping service open. Several fatal accidents occurred in the region affected, and much property damage was reported along the west coast.

Every year we get heavy storms, but only once in a blue moon do we get one like that of Tuesday, where the barometer drops nearly out of sight, and the wind lays the rain out nearly flat. The storm blows itself out, however; and the calm is a welcome relief from the tempest. We can endure the few days of storm for they are well offset by the pleasant, mild weather we have most of the year.

Portland Council and Liquor Licenses

City Commissioner Jake Bennett has the Portland tavern keepers sitting on the edge of their chairs for fear they will get no renewals on their liquor licenses. Licenses are issued by the state liquor control commission, but it asks for the recommendation of the governing body of the locality where the licensee's place of business is. The Portland city council-Mayor Lee, Commissioners Bennett and Bean-are requiring licensees to pledge to run no pinball, punchboard devices as a condition to getting the city's endorsement for a new license.

This has put the state commission on the spot -and now Treasurer Pearson wants the state board of control to sit in on the game by urging the commission to ignore the reports of the Portland city council. The commission inclines to the view that the ruckus is up to the city to iron out; but that it should adhere to its policy of issuing licenses only on the recommendation of the local council or county court.

Bennett claims the devices are illegal, that the attorney general has said so; and that liquor licensees should obey the law. A local ordinance banning punchboards has been held up by local referendum. But that doesn't stop the council from adding its requirement for a renewal recommendation.

The gambling devices are illegal and should not be tolerated; but it does seem an arbitrary ruling to require a self-denying pledge before approving of a new liquor license. The state commission, however, would get into hot water if it started granting licenses without local endorsement. It's up to Portland to settle its own

Sen. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois is on the way to make a name for himself as a liberal who is also economical. As he says, "to be a liberal is not to be a wastrel." In the senate he has led many drives to cut government spending, but usually the free and easy spenders are in the majority. Too bad Douglas counts himself out as a possible democratic candidate for president.

Young Republicans in Oregon are up and going. For proof look at the sharp competition they had in electing a new president. Clay Meyers of Portland was elected after a spirited race, over Phil Roth, Portland and Douglas Spencer, Cottage Grove. Shows the youngsters are politically wide awake.

The Washington Bar association is broadcasting a series under the heading "You and the Law." The normal man's reaction probably is:

tish, but stands in constant danger of itself being caught in the ebb and flow of violence. The government has the support of a Gandhi-like non-cooperation movement started against the British by Al Azhar, the great international central religious organization of Moslems. This is next of kin to a hely war. What will happen to this if the ugly public temper of Egypt's Moslem begins to cut both ways-against the government as well as against Since they arrived here from Iran, the ambassador and his wife

Britain-is another matter.

D. F. Hughes, Aurora farmer, doesn't stand for any monkey business in his hen house. When his wife went out to gather eggs the other day here was this monkey in the chicken coop. And it was no yoke to the hens who were wild with excitement. So Mr. Hughes came out with his shot gun and put an end to the strange simian pullet plaguer. Later everyone concerned found out the morkey was an escapee from a nearby roadside zoo.

Apparently there are no lovers in Salem who are willing to climb the highest mountain, swim the widest sea, go through sleet, hail or snow for each other . . . Because during Tuesday, what with the wind and rain in everybody's hair, not a single marriage license application was issued at the Marion county clerk's office, Christmas is going to be a mighty slim affair for a family of 10, recently arrived here from the mid-west. The Frank Dynes family, including eight children, were flooded out of Topeka, Kan., last July. They landed in Salem broke. A new baby came last month. Dynes, who is living at 1115 S. 17th st., apt. 3, says he doesn't want charity, he wants work. But he can do only light work. He's a carpenter by trade.

The price of keeping dogs may go up . . . Marien county court is considering a request from the county deg control board to boost the license ante on dogs. Tags now cost canine keepers $1 for males and $2 for females. The control board wants to boost each a buck. Oregon law leaves it up to the county courts to set fees. It's getting to be doggone expensive even to lead a dog's life these days. Marion county fees are the lowest in the state.

Marion County District Judge Val Sloper got a letter from a south Salem housewife. She complained that lunch meat sold in some stores was getting worse all the time. Wanted the judge to take up the matter of allegedly bad meat being sold in Salem ... Street scene: It was pouring down rain and the street corner at Broadway and Market street was badly flooded. A young couple (probably married) came along. The woman was wearing boots, but not the man, so she hauled him across piggy-back. Politest woman we've ever seen.

Better English

By D. C. Williams

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "I'll be through by five o'clock, and we'll try and solve your problem then. 2. What is the correct pronunciation of "vague?" 3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Emporium, calsium, millennium, helium. 4. What does the word "conjectural" mean?

ANSWERS

1. Say, "I'll have finished by five o'clock, and we'll try to solve your problem then." 2. Pronounce vag, a as in may, not as in bag. 3. Calcium. 4. Pertaining to a surmise or guess. "It was a mere conjectural opinion."

Ways in Washington GRIN AND BEAR IT by Lichty ter of the secretary of the treasury, and mother of a small son. is one of the capital's most active young socialites, what with radio programs, charity work and party-giving. Now she's taken on another activity this season. She will be co-producer, with Mrs. Gladstone Williams, of a weekly fashion show luncheon at the Shoreham hotel. Mrs. Williams' husband is a newspaper correspondent. Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, jr., who used to be co-producer of "Washington Party," which attracts capital celebrities and one of the most extraordinary socialities, will take part only ocyou've ever seen. Shooting up casionally. As "Austine," pretty Britain, then as now, is in a from the center, it sprayed mag- Mrs. Hearst is a well-known soprecarious position. The re- nificently almost to her shoulder. ciety columnist the moves that Stassen makes on his return from Europe.

TRILLIONS

The Eisenhower campaign, virtually headless as it is, has gone so far that the country assumes Ike is going to make a try for the republican nomination. If he were not he surely would laid a restraining hand on his admirers before this. The Oregonian thinks the political agitation has done so much damage to his military position in Europe that Ike ought to resign now. At Rome the word was around that Ike would be through March 1st, and speculation was rife on who his successor would be. From here on out it looks as though he would be in the position of one winding up one job with his eyes turning increasingly toward the next one.

Well, it's too bad-too bad that the parties, both parties, are so destitute of able and popular leaders that they have to turn to a military leader, without experience in the field of politics. without known political affiliation, though one with an excellent reputation as a commanding general, and press him, against his own desire, to enter the political arena. With a good many the draft-lke movement seems to be one of playing for winner rather than to pick the best man for the present critical period.

At any rate, Eisenhower can't keep up his Sphinx-like silence much longer. And if he really intends to stand for the office, he'd better not wait too long. The "early bird" (Taft) is busy gathering in the delegates.

Quote for the Day

If the frontiers of thought be not advanced steadily, they retrograde, like an abandoned farm growing up in brush.

-Boston Globe

NO MORE STEAKS

ST. LOUIS-(AP)-William Thornton was carrying no money when he answered a knock on the door and was confronted by a robber. But the robber didn't leave emptyhanded. He reached in Thornton's pocket and took his false teeth, valued at $75.

(Contributions to this column should be limited to 300 words. Write only on one side of paper; give name and full address. Poetry is not accepted. whole picture and that when all factors were considered the effect was very different from that given by the figures he submitted. The figures themselves may After spending most of my life in the newspaper business, I am have been accurate but the imwell aware of the futility of an pression they left was false, in the opinion of committee mem-

The Safety Valve.

Flagg Defends Shift to argument with a publisher. In fact, I would not even consider writing this letter were it not for the fact that I have long had a great deal of respect for your fairness and appreciation of the kindnesses you have shown me in comments from time to time re-garding the administration of

I have no apologies for accepting a position with the Oregon

Highway Council. They represent a major industry, and have a cause they believe to be just.

I see no impropriety in making this change, any more than there was in Commissioner Frank Mc-Colloch leaving the position I now hold and becoming a representative of one of the major railroads. He was a good public servant, and is a man of the highest type and unquestioned integrity. I doubt if you attacked

You state that my employment "is a signal that the public

A. F. Harvey-and I do not believe anyone who knows him will question his absolute honesty— and his assistants. My only in-struction to Mr. Harvey was that he furnish all figures desired the legislature, and in most cases the legislature, saw them. But even at this late day I will guarantee

Oregon Highway Council with a good many people and not one raised the question or even suggested that there was any impropriety in my taking a much the industry has a story to tell, and it will be my job to do it.

better job than I have. I believe

You have never attacked my administration of the very difficult and complicated job I have held

The news story in the same issue of The Statesman that contained your editorial comment stated that there were two important orders pending in the department whose issuance by me appeared doubtful, one a rate order of The Pacific Telephone on an increase in truck rates. I & Telegraph Company, the other assure you that I will not dodge the responsibility of issuing the telephone order, and will take matter, as I would consider such action improper under present

Public Utilities Commiswe stated that Flagg could cite precedent for making the change.

Frank McCulloch did leave the which had a leading railroad as one of its clients. It was a return to a profession in which he had engaged, and was not taken that affected the client railroad.

Harvey to the legislative committee, he admitted at a subsequent hearing, on questioning by Sen. Patterson, that his figures were partial and did not give the

BECKE

WADSWORTH

'All Kinds of Insurance

Surety Bonds"

562 State St.

Opposite Court House

Phone 4-3333

law passed by the legislature

As for the figures submitted by on the eve of a battle over a same office to enter a law firm

(Editor's Note-In our comment

GEO. H. FLAGG,

conditions.

sioner.

no action in regard to the truck during the past years, and I still

I discussed my offer from the their accuracy and honesty.

him for making the change.

Post With Truckers

To the Editor:

this office.

House Movers Wanted

To the Editor: What is the matter with Salem business men? The town of Detroit is to be moved, and so far Bend is the only city that nas any house movers here, and I don't see any ads of house movers in your paper.

JAMES E. STAHLMAN,

SHIPPING SPURRED

Detroit, Ore.

DUBLIN -(INS)- A new shipbuilding program aimed at making Ireland independent of foreign shipping in wartime has been started by the Irish Government. Irish Shipping, Limited, the stateowned company plying a fleet of vessels on the trans-Atlantic and other world routes, has placed orders for five new ships to be delivered between 1952 and 1956 .

THEN DO YOUR SHOPPING FOR HIM hope that you will keep an open mind as regards my future ac-

☐ Alligator COATS

Botany ROBES

Arrow SHIRTS

McGregor JACKETS

Interwoven HOSE

Mallory HATS

☐ Timely SUIT$

Manhattan

PAJAMAS

Samsonite

LUGGAGE

Jarman SLIPPERS

Arrow

Handkerchiefs

Scully SUEDE JACKETS

Swank

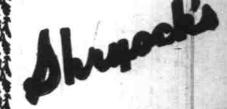

JEWELRY

☐ Hickok BELTS

Botany SPORT SHIRTS

GIFT CERTIFICATES

All Gifts Boxed!

Shopping Center

HOLLYWOOD'S BEAUTIFUL GIFT CENTER

OPEN SATURDAY EVENING

And Every Evening Until 8 P. M.

"Come, come, men! . . . we haven't got that war contract, yet this is still private industry . . . not urgent Government business!"