Rustic Touch Gives Glamor to Utensils Popular to Prepare Food Before Guests

By Sue Gardner
With so many combination living-dining rooms in contemporary homes, it has become quite the thing to prepare your refreshments in front of your guests. Amateur gourmets are finding out that many attractive cooking utensils are both decorative and useful for small, informal gatherings at home.

Copper chafing dishes add a continental touch to the room as a mantle accessory or when placed on an end or cocktail table between uses for cooking. The man of the house has a chance to shine at the chafing dish as he does at the summer barbecue. Such delectable dishes as flambéed bananas au grand marnier, are no longer purely the province of those with educated tastes. Another favorite utensil to come out of the kitchen into the living room is the big heavy skillet with an old fashioned charcoal broiler. You can cook a complete meat dinner on the skillet and use the dish for a rustic touch at other times when an unusual accessory is wanted for decoration. If you have any old-fashioned cookie cutters bring them out, shine them up, and you have some original additions to your nick-nack corners. Wicker baskets that will undoubtedly appear in your holiday gift packages are excellent for dinner rolls. The bird-cage pocket-books are also being used for rolls, with gayly colored napkins to accent a buffet table.

For a conversation piece, save your fine perfume bottles and use them for French dressing and sauces. Chemistry glassware makes attractive individual syrup servers when you make waffles for your guests.

Mr. Hunsaker to Claim Bride

Recently announced on the Willamette university campus was the engagement of Miss Jean Shepherd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Shepherd of Pepeekeo, Hawaii, to Morris Hunsaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hunsaker of Salem. The wedding is planned for next June following the bride-elect's graduation from Willamette. Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd plan to come over from the island to attend their daughter's graduation and wedding.

The bride-elect is a member of Delta Gamma sorority, where the betrothal was first made known. Mr. Hunsaker is a graduate of Salem schools and Willamette university. He is now with the state tax commission.

FOUR CORNERS—A son, Ralph Alan, was born December 10 to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Youmans (Katie Sue Bennett) at the Salem Memorial hospital. He weighs ten pounds and fifteen ounces. There is a brother, Dale Lee Jr., and the grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Youmans of Turner, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bennett, St. Louis, Mo. The great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Watson, Poplar Bluff, Mo.

On Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. When carving a turkey, should the host ask each guest which piece he prefers?

A. Merely ask if he prefers light or dark meat. If there is but one turkey and everyone would request a leg, there would be quite a problem.

Q. If one has a house guest, who is in the home on Christmas Day, should there be a gift for this guest?

A. Yes. And, of course, the guest should have gifts for the host and hostess and their children, or one gift that they all can enjoy.

Q. Doesn't the bridegroom and his family send out some of the wedding invitations?

A. No; all of them are sent out by the parents of the bride.

Chapter Party at Kelly Home

Eta chapter, Beta Sigma Phi held its Christmas party Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Percy Kelly, the director. The pledges were hostesses with Mrs. Tom Deal as chairman.

"The Night Before Christmas" was presented by Mrs. Francis Rothweiler, Mrs. James Seacat, Mrs. Rance Winer and Mrs. N. W. Vaughn. Ed Lais, assistant librarian at the supreme court, played piano and accordion numbers. Refreshments were served and gifts exchanged.

Donald—Donald Woman's Society of Christian Service entertained the ladies of the community with a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Pearl McMillan on Wednesday. A program consisted of carols, "Story of Bethlehem," read by Mrs. Millie Bartrum and a story, "A Surprise Christmas Package," told by Mrs. Gladys White.

The Christmas party for members of Salem chapter, OES, will be held Saturday night at the Masonic temple at 8 o'clock. Members are asked to bring a toy, which later will be given to the Sunshine division.

RICHMOND SCHOOL

A Christmas program was held last night at Richmond school with Richmond students taking part.

A Nativity pageant included special chorus and acting parts by each of the grades, some carols sung by the whole school and a play portraying the Christmas story.

The cast for the play consisted of Joyce Clark as Mary, Dean McCargar as Joseph, Arthur Krueger as the innkeeper, Ben Kelley, Dennis Gorman and Butch Main as the three wise men, and Linda Seburn, Kathleen Schmidt, Joy West and Jo Eve Hailey as the four angels.

Paul Boal played a clarinet solo. The curtain manager was Fred Barnes, teacher Joe Bowersox was in charge of the stage scenery and Lorina Cline and Marjorie Woods were choir directors. Edith Gayle Brown was narrator for the program and Mrs. John Schmidt accompanied the musical numbers.

McKINLEY SCHOOL

The student body will sing Christmas carols to highlight the annual Christmas program at McKinley school today. Also there will be some recitations pertaining to the Bible story.

The students at McKinley school have gathered several cartons of fresh fruits which they will send to the Boyce Convalescent home.

McKinley school students had their customary processional Thursday during which they visited all of the rooms to see the Christmas decorations.

BUSH SCHOOL
Bush school will hold its Christmas program today in the auditorium. The program will include scripture readings by a group under the direction of Joan Jarnagin. Christmas carols sung by a chorus under the direction of Janice Stein and several Christmas selections by Bush school band and orchestra. Dale Merrill is in charge of the stage setting.

SALEM HIGH SCHOOL

The Salem high student body council Thursday voted to restrict students from walking on the gym floor after basketball games. The gym floor will be waxed and cleaned during Christmas vacation and starting with the Jefferson-Salem game after Christmas, lettermen will be posted at each corner of the floor with ropes between them to keep the students off the floor.

Also at the council meeting, the Inter-club council voted to let Civics club, Crescendo club and Paleters club back into this year's Inter-club carnival.

PARRISH JUNIOR HIGH

Parrish junior high will hold a Christmas program at 2 p. m. today. It will include a movie, "The Littlest Angel," some numbers by the Parrish band, under the direction of Karl Thelen, and a play, "Everywhere Christmas," directed by Helen Gatewood.

The members of the play cast include Bill Freeman, Susan Jenkins, Scott Tippetts, George Darland, Marilyn Shafer, Bob Evans, Marilyn Rehm, Darold Schoneboom, Yvonne Miller, Shirley Freeman, Richard Diven, Barbara Mollenbeck, Judie Hoppe, Delores Winters, Cynthia Chase, Vernon Whitehurst and Edgar Martin.

LESLIE JUNIOR HIGH

A Christmas program will be held at Leslie junior high today in the auditorium. Included in the program will be the ninth grade chorus, under the direction of Philip McHarness, singing several numbers, the performance of the Leslie band and orchestra, directed by Raymond Carl, and a one-act play, "Pop Reads the Christmas Carol," under the direction of Eleanor Roberts.

Cast for the play includes Julian Thurston as Pop Jones, Ronnie DeHut as Junior, Stephen Little as Paul, Peggy Reid as Mary Jones, Diane Graham as Jane, Loretta Bates as Mrs. Jones, and Cabot Clark as Jack.

HIGHLAND SCHOOL

A movie, "Night Before Christmas," and the whole school singing Christmas carols will highlight the Christmas program to be held at Highland school today.

The students at Highland school made a tour of the building Thursday to get a chance to see the decorations of the other rooms.

Gwen Rancetta's class at Highland school gave a Christmas tea for their mothers Thursday afternoon.

At the close of school today each student at Highland school will be given a bag of candy, popcorn, etc. as a Christmas treat from the Highland Mothers' club.

The earliest known member of the giraffe family had a shorter neck and was less than 6 feet high at the shoulder.

Christmas Music At Meeting

Members of Ainsworth chapter, OES, held its Christmas party and meeting Wednesday night at the Scottish Rite temple. The Business Girls social club presented a piano bench and aluminum pitchers to the chapter and Mrs. Elmer Sherman gave an electric star for the order.

Christmas carols were sung by the group and there were solos by Eleanor Sholseth and marimba numbers by Jean Haynes. A gift exchange followed and refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gabriel and Mr. and Mrs. Morse Stewart.
