Miss Taylor Is Married

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Foster in Portland was the scene of the wedding of Mrs. Foster's sister, Miss Lois Esther Taylor, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Fred C. Taylor of Salem, and George William Minifie, Salem, son of W. A. Minifie of Hamilton, Mont., on Dec. 23.

The Rev. Mr. Taylor performed the ceremony for his daughter, Mr. Foster sang and Mrs. Foster played violin selections. The bride's niece, Mrs. Dem Beste, lighted the tapers.

For her wedding the bride wore a powder blue sheer crepe gown with lace yoke and matching veil. She carried a nosegay of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Foster was her sister's honor matron and wore a chartreuse gown and carried a nosegay of pink roses and white chrysanthemums. Catherine Aan Foster, niece of the bride, was the junior attendant and wore a frock matching her mother's. John D. Minifie was best man for his brother.

Mrs. Taylor wore a navy blue gown with a grey yoke and a corsage of lavender orchids for her daughter's wedding.

At the reception following Mrs. Taylor's wedding, Mrs. Harry E. Ward, sister of the groom, presided at the punch bowl and Janice Lea Taylor, niece of the bride, passed the groom's cake.

When the couple left on their wedding trip the bride wore a grey and black check suit with most green trim and black accessories. The newlyweds are now at home in Salem at 806 N. Cottage St.

Designing Woman

WORK OUT A COLOR SCHEME BACKWARDS

One of the best and easiest ways to color scheme is to start with a printed fabric, and choose all the colors for the room to match the colors in its pattern. But what if you aren't starting the color scheme? What if there already are colors in the room that must stay as they are? How can a good color scheme be worked out by changing only a few things? Actually most color schemers must use colors that are established, the starters-with-a-clean-slate are comparatively few. But the idea of color scheming with a fabric pattern is still good—it works backward as well as forward. When there are established colors, say in furniture covers, walls and the rug, find a fabric that combines their colors. It will center the color scheme and give it meaning by bringing together the shades that now may be unrelated and scattered. Use this key fabric for slip-covers, draperies, those things which can be new in the room. (Copyright by John F. Dille Co.)

The Lancaster Unit meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Cleo Keppinger at 10:30 a. m. and the subject is "Step Saving Kitchen".

On Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. What rules apply to a bride's displaying her wedding gifts?

A. Sometimes the gifts are shown only to the relatives and close friends. It is quite all right, however, to let all the guests for the reception view the gifts, a special room being set aside for displaying them.

Q. I know of one person who makes a habit of placing his hand on a person's arm while talking with him. What do you think of this?

A. This may be a friendly gesture, but it is very annoying to some people, and it is better to avoid the reputation of being a "pawer."

Q. Is it all right for a person to butter an entire slice of bread at a meal?

A. No; the bread should be buttered only a small piece at a time.

Date Set for March Rites

Wedding bells will ring on March 23 for Miss Joyce Olson and Arne Skedsvold, whose betrothal is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Olson. The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Skedsvold of Alexander, North Dakota. The ceremony will be performed at the Grace Lutheran Church in Salem.

Miss Olson is a graduate of Salem schools and the Emanuel Hospital School of Nursing. She is now employed at the Salem General Hospital. Her fiancé served in the air force for three years and is now attending Montana State College at Bozeman. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Legion Auxiliary In Session

Members of American Legion Auxiliary, 136, will receive notices of future meetings as a means to increase the attendance. This decision was reached at the meeting of the unit Wednesday night at the Salem Woman's Clubhouse. Mrs. Elwood Townsend, chairman of the Americanism committee, announced that the group's present project is to encourage the schools to instruct the pupils in the pledge of allegiance once a week.

Mrs. Bert Walker, chairman welfare committee, announced that two Christmas baskets were given to needy families and two pairs of pajamas to needy veterans at the Tuberculosis Hospital. The two hospital beds maintained by the unit are now available according to Mrs. Walker.

Hostesses at the meeting were Mrs. Dan Pantovich and Mrs. Charles Driver.

To Cut Down Wardrobe Costs, Cover Own Buttons and Buckles, a Saving

By Sue Gardner
One way to cut down wardrobe costs is to cover your own buttons and buckles. This is a great saving in making a new costume or re-vivifying an old one.

One set of discs for covering your own buttons requires no tools or special talent. The top disc of the button is used for the fabric and has a saw-tooth bottom that holds the material in place while you work. A second disc, which is the back fits into place and the button is finished. A little metal loop on the back allows you to sew the button on the costume. The buckle works the same way.

You can reuse the discs at any time by prying off the back with a safety pin, removing the fabric and starting over again. Any type of fabric from sheer to poodle cloth can be used.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Skopit of Eugene, Mrs. Miller B. Hayden, Mrs. Marie Burch, and Mrs. Gertrude Cheney were New Year's dinner guests of Mrs. Ida Boetticher at her apartment at the Ambassador.

ON VICKS VAPORS

You can give a new look to an old dress with a button-on capelet. By making a button-on blouse for a petticoat you can use it for semi-formal and formal wear.
If you want to give a double life to a cocktail dress with a low neckline, make a button-on bib for daytime wear. Rows of buttons in graduated sizes can be placed across the front of a jacket to give it a jaunty touch.
Placed diagonally, buttons give a slenderizing line to the front of a dress.
A bit of lame or sequin covered buttons will highlight a neckline or any detail on a blouse or dress.
You can even make matching earrings by removing the loop at the back of the button and gluing earring backs on the back disc.
