Janowicz, Karras, McCall
Star in Hula Bowl Game
HONOLULU (AP)—College All-Stars from the mainland passed and ran almost at will Sunday to defeat the pro-bolstered Hawaii All Stars, 41-40 in a Hula Bowl football game before a shirtless crowd of 25,000.

Ohio State's Vic Janowicz passed to Johnny Karras of Illinois and Stanford's Bill McCall for four touchdowns, his receivers catching two apiece. Washington's Hugh McElhenny and Wisconsin's Gene Felker scored the two other touchdowns on ground plays. Janowicz, the outstanding back of the game, converted three times, McElhenny once and Loyola's Don Klosterman once.

New York Giants halfback Kyle Rote and the San Francisco 49ers' Frankie Albert starred for the Hawaiian eleven. Rote ploughed over for two. Albert passed to Tommy Low and Buddy Abreu for two more and Herman Wedemeyer shook loose for two other touchdowns.

Rote and Abreu each kicked two conversions.

A second Hula Bowl is scheduled for Friday night, Jan. 12.

Terrapins Add Auburn to List

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The addition of Auburn Saturday gave Maryland seven definite football games next season with two more and possibly three to be added.

Maryland's original 1952 schedule of 11 games was cut to five when it was banned from Southern Conference competition for going to the Sugar Bowl, where it conquered Tennessee, the nation's top ranked eleven.

Clemson, also banned for playing in the Gator Bowl, and Maryland were given permission to play each other to bring the Terrapin schedule up to six.

It previously had been reported Coach and Athletic Director Jim Tatum also had lined up Boston U., Mississippi and either Miami or Florida as replacements.

Oregon's basketball Ducks met San Jose State and College of the Pacific for the first time during the 1951-52 season.

REVIEW OF THE YEAR—By Alan Mayer

2 Upsets Mark Opening PCC Play; Races Tied

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Teams in both divisions were tied up at a win and a loss apiece Sunday as the Pacific Coast Conference basketball campaign swung into its second week.

The opening weekend produced two noteworthy upsets and enhanced early predictions of a furious championship race right down to the wire.

Round Along

by Jerry Stone

Wayne Willard, operator of The Village, Portland Road night spot, is particularly proud of his moniker since he's of the same family tree as Jess Willard, the onetime heavyweight king. . . . To be specific, the local man is a grand-nephew of Jess. . . . Wayne, in fact, spent seven years in pro boxing himself, fighting under the name of Young Jess Willard. His fistcuffing came just before the war and among his foes were such well-known names as Buddy Peterson, Tony Kahut and Leo (The Lion) Turner. . . . And Wayne notched more than one victory at the expense of these gladiators. . . .

Willard quit the ring game the night he got three broken ribs, a splintered nose and a fractured jaw while in the ring with Al Horta, the ex-middleweight champ. Wayne's array of injuries didn't come at the hands of Horta, however. He got 'em when he tripped over a rope and fell out of the ring. Nevertheless, he figured it was high time to hang 'em up. . . .

Vik Stock Jumps

Well, what about our Salem Vikings? Previously rated as one of the less effective machines to emerge in recent seasons, the Hawks go and administer a merciless upset shellacking to the Jeff Democrats, defending state kings and picked as one of the big ones this campaign. . . . We'd say that the fiery and much-improved play of Larry Paulus and the surprising response of lanky Jack Bishop have been key factors in the upswing of the 14th Streeters. . . . Bishop, all six-foot, five-inches of him, has been an extremely pleasant surprise to Mentor Hank, particularly on the defense. . . .

Sedgman Rates a Nod

We feel an inclination to tip our hat to the world's No. 1 amateur tennis player, Australia's Frank Sedgman, after noting his statement that he aims to remain an amateur the rest of his days.

Sedgman, the guy who put the quash on American hopes of getting back the Davis Cup, has had all kinds of dazzling offers thrust at him by the pros. But after some long consideration, and perhaps a bit of soul-searching, he has decided to stick within the ranks of the simon-pures.

Sedgman's stand is unique in this age of sports commercialization. The dollar seemingly hasn't hypnotized him; his attitude harks back to that sports-for-sports-sake era of long ago.

Australians know, and Sedgman also surely realizes it, that his presence could mean a long sojourn for the Davis Cup in the land "down under." So maybe it's a form of loyalty to his country that has brought about his decision to remain outside the fold of the pros.

But maybe the Aussie star is smart in another way, too.

Pro Sport Lacks Appeal

Anyhow, it's always been our impression that professional tennis is a poor cousin to its amateur counterpart. The top amateurs make the plunge, haul in some good dough for a couple of years—and then become orphans of the trade. And the reason is that pro tennis just never has managed a firm foothold. It has never been top "box-office" and it has never approached the glamour of the amateur version. . . . Maybe it's because the customers can't find any particular inducement in turning out to watch guys matching strokes, for no greater stakes than their weekly paychecks. . . .

Bearcats Get Jump

Dick Spiess, the College of Idaho point leader whom Willamette's Lou Scrivens so effectively muzzled Friday and Saturday nights, played in the local City League last year. . . . And with their pair of wins over the Coyotes, Jack Lewis' Bearcats are off to a roaring start in the 1951 Northwest Conference chase, their eyes fastened on a possible fourth straight title-winning finish. . . .

Top scoring threat of Amity's Warriors is Center Bob Edgren. Wonder if he's any relation to the onetime great sport cartoonist of the same name? . . . Marlin Cole's 40-point evening for Gates Friday night at the expense of the Salem Sophs rates as the super-duper prep performance of the week. That 40 points may amount to a record performance in this area. . . . They had to lock the Parrish gym doors against further patronage during the Friday eve Junior High Jam-boree, so tight was the jam of screaming students. And, brother, those juniors can really scream. . . .

Vandals Go and Do It

Idaho's surprise win over the Huskies in the first of their two-game set plunges a dagger into the hopes of all who anticipated that for the first time a Northwest team might lead the AP's national poll. . . . That setback will knock the Washingtons way down the ladder. . . .

As with other parts, people out in this neck of the woods tend to being sectionally-minded. If Oregon or Oregon State can't have the

Evashevski Named Iowa Coach

Resigns WSC Job Earlier
Successor Expected At Pullman Very Soon

IOWA CITY, Ia. (AP)—Forest Evashevski was appointed head football coach at the University of Iowa Sunday, succeeding Leonard Raffensperger.

Evashevski, who resigned earlier Sunday as head coach at Washington State College, was given a five-year contract effective Feb. 1. His salary was not disclosed but is presumed to top the $12,000 he received at Pullman, Wash.

Athletic Director Paul Brechler said Evashevski told him in a long distance telephone conversation Sunday he is bringing three members of his present staff with him. Evashevski named Line Coach Bob Flora, Backfield Coach Alton Kircher and Dan Staveley.

Raffensperger, who drew $10,333 as head coach last year, has been under fire since his 1951 football team won only two of nine games. He became head coach in 1950 when Dr. Eddie Anderson quit to become head coach at Holy Cross.

At Pullman, Evashevski said he'll use the same Michigan single wing attack at Iowa that he installed at Washington State in 1950 when he succeeded Phil Sarboe, a T-formation mentor.

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—Forest Evashevski resigned Sunday as head football coach at Washington State College, presumably to accept a similar job at the University of Iowa.

The resignation was announced by William A. Pearl, acting president of WSC, after a two-hour meeting on the campus.

Evashevski, a $12,000 a year man here, resigned the day after the WSC Athletic Council recommended "substantial salary increases" for him and his staff in an effort to keep them at State.

Pearl said an announcement concerning a successor at WSC could be expected "within a very short time."

Evashevski just finished the second year of a five year contract here and last fall gave WSC its best season in 20 years. The Cougars won 7, lost 3 and have a wealth of material coming back. WSC is regarded as a strong contender for the 1952 Pacific Coast Conference title and a Rose Bowl appearance.

Evashevski's assistants here are Bob Flora, line coach, Backfield Coach Alton Kircher and Dan Staveley. Flora and Evashevski were teammates at Michigan.

All but Staveley came here from Michigan State where they were aides to Clarence Munn.

Kroll Leader In L.A. Open

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Balding Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., who is combining business with a honeymoon, shoved some of the nation's better known stars into the background Sunday when he took over the lead at the end of the third round of the $17,500 Los Angeles Open.

Kroll, a slight, 32-year-old newcomer to the headlines, clipped three strokes off par with a 68 that sent him to the front of the field with a 54-hole score of 214.

He will go into the final 18 holes Monday with a one-stroke margin over veteran E. J. Harrison of St. Andrews, Ill.

Jack Burke Jr., of Houston, and John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., were back in the race for the $4,000 money. The Texan took a 73 to 217, where he was tied with Tommy Bolt of Durham, N. C., who shot a 70.

Barnum wound up with a 74 for 218. One stroke behind him was another seasoned tournament performer, Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, who had a 73.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, the pre-tournament favorite and winner last year, as well as in 1948, goes into the final round with scores of 73-78-73—224, 10 strokes off the lead.

Ola Gjestrud Takes B.C. Ski Meet Championship

ROSSLAND, B. C. (AP)—Ola Gjestrud of Wenatchee Junior College took the jumping event Sunday which wound up the fourth-annual International Inter-Collegiate Ski Meet on nearby Red Mountain.

Washington State College and the University of Washington tied for first place in the meet while the Red Mountain Club, the only non-collegiate team allowed to enter, placed second. Montana State College was third, University of British Columbia, fourth, and Wenatchee last.

In 29 years of Northern Division competition Oregon's Ducks have won 229 league games and lost 192.

See De-Emphasis In Grid Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of a committee of college presidents studying what's wrong with sports said Sunday a de-emphasis program would not hurt the quality of competition.

The committee, which hopes to come up with a written report before it adjourns Monday night, met behind closed doors Sunday with representatives of accrediting associations. They would have the job of policing the proposed code.

The presidents at their meeting here last month proposed that post-season football Bowl games be eliminated, that freshmen be barred from varsity competition and that athletes be compelled to take the same courses as, and keep up with, other members of their class.

News Agency Holds First In City Basketball League

Salem News Agency took over sole possession of first place spot in City Basketball League by virtue of twin triumphs Wednesday and Thursday nights. And they did it by ousting Wolgamott's Service and the 12th St. Market, with whom they had gone into the play tied for first.

Another double winner was the Campbell Insulators who took over second spot with a four and one record. The Insulators downed Wolgamott's and the Cannery Local 670.

12th St. Market held on to third spot, by losing only one game, but Wolgamott's dropped from a tie

2-Game Series Set for Eugene

Webfoots Look to Peterson for Spark

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene—(Special)—Coach Bill Borchert's Oregon Ducks open their 1952 Northern Division season tonight and Tuesday at McArthur Court against the rapidly improving Washington State Cougars.

The Webfoots move into conference competition after a rugged six-game tour of Northern California. The holiday trip concluded a pre-conference schedule which included Utah and Wyoming of the Skyline Eight, Wisconsin and Iowa from the Big Ten and Portland, San Francisco, College of the Pacific, St. Mary's and San Jose State among the independents.

Washington State moves into McArthur Court after opening its annual Willamette Valley trip against Oregon State, where they split a pair. The Cougars started the season slowly, losing the first three games. Coach Jack Friel's Cougars then caught fire and won nine of their last 10 non-conference games and wound up the December schedule with a record of 10 wins and four defeats, second only to Washington.

The Cougars will again use their platoon system and the first five is built around three talented veterans. Eric Roberts and Pete Mullins will handle the forward roles and the agile George Rosser will be at center. Two sophomores, Phil Brown and Bob Swanson, round out the starting five.

Cach Borchert will undoubtedly stay with his usual starting lineup. Bob Peterson, the nation's leading rebounder and one of its top scorers, will be at forward with Mel Streeter. Chet Noe, the improving junior from Los Angeles, will open at center and Capt. Ken Hunt and Ken Wegner will start at guard.

Last season the Ducks were able to edge the Cougars three times in the series. Oregon won the opener at Eugene, 66-57, and won a 57-55 thriller the second night. At Pullman the Ducks lost the first, 66-63 and won the second, 54-52.

5 Home Grid Games for SHS

Salem High School will play five home football games this year, opening on Sept. 12 with Cleveland High School of Portland, Vern Gilmore, director of athletics announced.

Other home games will be with Astoria the next week end, Sept. 19, with Sweet Home Oct. 10, Gresham, Oct. 17, and concluding the season with arch-rival Eugene on Nov. 17.

Away games will be Albany, Sept. 26, Bend Oct. 3, Corvallis Oct. 24, and Lebanon Oct. 31.

Preps Capture 2nd Card Win

MT. ANGEL (Special)—With three of Sacred Heart Academy's regulars sitting on the sidelines, Mt. Angel made it two straight by coasting to a 37 to 27 victory here Sunday night.

Out of the game were Virgil Weber, Dave Mock and Johnny Hoy, all of whom watched the game from the sidelines.

Highpoint man of the evening was the Preps Ray Wellman with 11, followed by John Gorman with eight and Jim Zauner with 7. Ron Bremer was high for Sacred Heart Academy, scoring eight points.

The game was slow all the way, marked by repeated failures to hit the bucket. Mt. Angel got 15 out of 64 shots, with SAC's average about the same. The score was tied 8-8 at the quarter, but Mt. Angel led 19-10 at the half, and 28-18 at the three quarter.

The B score was 34-24 for Sacred Heart.

Sacred Heart (27) (37) Mt. Angel
 Daniels (2) F (7) Zauner
 Thomson (8) G (8) Bremer
 Haener (8) C (11) Wellman
 Dempewolf (2) G (2) Erwert
 Cooney (4) F (1) Plate

Reserves scoring: Aodewald 2, Matt S. Palmer 2, Schumacher 1. Halftime score: Sacred Heart 10, Mt. Angel 19.

Freddie Wilt Sets Record

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (AP)—Flying Freddie Wilt Saturday night began his warmup for the Olympic Games by bettering the best known flat floor two-mile record in the world by covering the distance in 8:25.5. The race highlight of the annual Knights of Columbus games.

Although no official records are available, the top recorded performance before Wilt's sterling effort was the 9:03.4 set by Walter Mehl of Newark, N. J., in 1940.

Problems of televising of football games; over-emphasis of athletics, particularly football; the sports gambling scandals; and the future of post-season Bowl games are a few of the matters expected to come before the NCAA members when they get down to the busy part of their convention Thursday.

The preliminary sessions will start Monday, however, among various NCAA committees and affiliated groups.

grave, they'll turn to rooting for the Huskies or the Cougars. For the Northwest's colors must be carried by someone, and, lousy sakes, there are enough jibes from the transplanted Midwesterners who trekked out to God's country but left their hearts back home. . . . So guess it's a matter of us Northwest folk sticking together against the field, and that could be widened to include the whole coast. Certainly enough mournful people around here after the Rose Bowl debacle. . . .

On Hand for Webfoot Opener

EUGENE—Forward Eric Roberts, six-foot, three-inch Washington State veteran who also excels in the high jump in Coast Conference circles, will be in the action here Monday and Tuesday nights when the Cougars and Oregon Webfoots clash in the first two conference games of the campaign for the latter. Roberts is one of the top WSC scorers.

Kentucky Gets Scared

NEW YORK (AP)—College basketball went into "conference" Saturday night, and only in the South were there any near upsets.

Starting down the long road which leads to NCAA tournament berths for conference champions, most of the early season favorites were in great form in winning opening games.

Kentucky, defending NCAA and Southeastern Conference champs, trailed Louisiana State by 28-17 at the half, and anxious Wildcat fans sensed the first Kentucky loss at home in 103 games. Led by Soph Billy Evans, however, Kentucky came back strong in the second half and walked off the floor with a 57-47 triumph.

Top Teams Still Rolling, Conference Play Opens

North Carolina State, trying for a sixth straight Southern Conference crown, had to battle through two overtime periods to down arch-rival Duke, 72-70.

Kansas began its drive for the Big Seven title with a routine 71-48 shellacking of Oklahoma, while defending Big Ten champion Illinois restricted Minnesota's big Ed Kalafat to one field goal for a 52-43 decision over the Gophers.

The Big Ten's other unbeaten teams, Indiana and Iowa, kept pace with the Illini as Indiana, No. 5 team in the poll, dumped Michigan, 58-46, and Iowa handed Michigan State its first loss, 61-60.

Washington, ranked third in the poll, whaled Idaho, 61-42, to get even for an upset loss to Idaho Friday night and regain a head-of-steam for their drive to another Pacific Coast Conference title.

UCLA, beaten by the Huskies last spring in the play-off for the PCC title, bowed to Stanford, 73-71 last night, and Southern California won another thriller from California, 44-43.

It was a great night for the top 10 poll teams, as all came home winners. Besides the difficulties of Kentucky, No. 4, New York University and St. John's, rated sixth and eighth, had considerable trouble at Madison Square Garden.

The Violets were slowed by Lafayette's deliberate brand of basketball, but survived a late threat to win by 59-49, while St. John's almost blew a 13-point lead before downing St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, 59-57.

Kansas State, No. 9 in the poll and defending Big Seven titlists, defeated a tired bunch of Arizona tourists, 78-52.

Little St. Bonaventure, tenth in the poll, stayed in the ranks of the unbeaten with an 80-56 win over Westminister.

Dayton, however, tripped Murray State of Kentucky, 69-55, to drop the Blue Grass team from the all-winning circle.

for first into fourth with their double loss.

Keizer, victors over the Salem Auto Parts retained fifth spot and came up with an even two and two record. The National Guard finally hit the win column, defeating the powerless Cribbs Loggers and moved into sixth, replacing the Auto Parts, who fell to Keizer and have held a one and three record.

Still holding onto cellar spots are Cribbs and Cannery.

Missions Split With Linfield in Conference

WALLA WALLA (Special)—Willamette's surging Bearcats, fresh from a convincing two-game sweep over College of Idaho, take on the Whitman College Missionaries here tonight.

Whitman split a series with Linfield College, over the week end who with Willamette, are defending Northwest Conference championships.

Coach John Lewis' fast-breaking Bearcats, paced by Hugh Bellinger, Ted Loder and Doug Logue will be out to make it three straight for Willamette in the conference chase which finds Willamette leading squarely on top of the standings.

Under Bob Burgess, the Missionaries operate a double post system, which eliminates the center and gives them two forwards and three guards. Co-Captains Bud Knight and Bob Brownbridge run the team from the forward spot. In one of the guard spots will be Dick Fain, 6 foot 1 Walla Walla boy who dropped 20 points through the bucket Saturday night against Linfield.
