Solomon to Be Heard Here Thursday

One of the interesting musical personalities of the present day, pianist Solomon will appear in Salem Thursday night January 17, on the Willamette University Distressed Artist Series. The British pianist has had a fine build-up here, following several radio appearances and a program in Portland last week for which he won high praise from both critics and audiences.

Solomon made his debut at the age of nine with the queens Hall Orchestra in London and then played a command performance for the Royal Family at Buckingham Palace.

Since his first appearance in the United States in 1926, Solomon has played many concerts but it was not until 1949 that he made a transcontinental tour. This year's is his third.

Solomon, though a man whose art is his life, remembers well the first concert, when gifts he received meant more than the applause. After playing the second movement of the Tchikowski Concerto, following a complete Mozart Concerto, a tricycle was rolled onto the stage, and the nine-year-old pianist forgot all for his excitement at the gift. He rode wobbling off the stage, through the violin section, stands falling in his wake.

Solomon, since being billed as such in his first program, has gone by the single name.

His program here will include works of Bach, Scarlatti, Beethoven, Debussy, Ravel and a group of 20 short works of Schumann listed under the heading of "Carnaval".

"Tickets are on sale at Heider's, Steven's Jewellers, Salem Record Shop, and Will's Music Store.

Washington Wife Has Important Job

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. George C. McGhee, wife of the new U. S. ambassador to Turkey, had a titanic job on her hands getting the family ready for sojourn in Ankara.

It was not just a matter of preparing for her husband and herself. There are five McGhee children, a nursemaid and a housekeeper-secretary to think of.

Young, pretty, vivacious Mrs. McGhee figured the McGhee entourage would take up half a plane. "As when the other passengers see the McGhees coming, we'll probably have the other half too," she remarked before leaving Washington.

Mrs. McGhee was in the midst of packing and moving, preparing for Christmas and prepping-up for her husband's swearing-in ceremony at the State Department when I phoned. But she wasn't too busy to talk.

"I can put the mascara on my eyelashes and talk on the telephone at the same time," she laughed.

One of Mrs. McGhee's biggest problems was the buying of a year's supply of clothing for everyone, immense quantities of drugs and practically a grocery store full of canned goods, especially peanut butter and baby food. She had to guess how much the children would grow in the next year. She had difficulty she said, buying summer clothes for the youngsters, adding that all the local stores had were "cruise clothes for ladies".

In addition, she had to ship along scads of sheets, pillow cases, blankets and other household equipment.

Though the handsome new American Embassy at Ankara has been entirely furnished by the government, including lovely crystal chandelier, Mrs. McGhee says she's taking along some of her own "for the children to break, so it won't cost Uncle Sam so much money."

Michael, 4, is the one who is most excited about the future. "He thinks he's going to a wonderful land where he will eat turkey all the time," Mrs. McGhee said.

The three older children, Dorothy, 7, George, 9, and Marcia, 7, are interested, however, in the fact that the embassy building has its own motion-picture theater. "I think they expect Hopalong Cassidy to run 24 hours a day," their mother said.

Mrs. McGhee isn't worried about the social obligations of her new position, though she protests she is a "novice" at the job.

The St. Joseph's Mothers Club will meet at the school hall on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. Mrs. J. D. White will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. A. L. Adolphson has invited members of her study club to luncheon on Monday afternoon at her North Summer Street home.

SPELLING EYE
DENVER (INS)—The Colorado Health Department's monthly newsletter suggests its correspondents keep an eye on their spelling, explaining: "In ordering reprints of an article on rabies, someone asked for copies of 'Guideposts in Control and Prevention of Rabies.'"

St. Olaf's to Sing Jan. 31 At Auditorium

Salem High School auditorium will be the scene of a concert by the world-famous St. Olaf Choir on Thursday January 31, sponsored by St. Mark Lutheran Church.

The choir, which is appearing in Salem for the 2nd time, is composed of 60 college students from St. Olaf College a four year liberal arts college situated in Northfield, Minnesota.

St. Olaf, recently observed its Diamond Jubilee Anniversary. The music department of this school has long been held in high esteem. The college brought to its campus in 1903, the man who was to mold a choir which would have national and international fame.

Through his influence, a cappella singing has grown throughout the nation.

The choir which Dr. Christianesen developed began its nationwide tours in 1902, and since have had national and international fame throughout this country and abroad. Its purpose is to perform the best in choral literature with the highest degree of artistry.

NEW COLOR SCHEMES FOR BEDROOMS

What colors for bedrooms? Pastels — blue, pink, yellow, peach, green? Yes, if you're still happy with the colors that some mysterious color ruler once said were the only colors for bedrooms. But if you want a change, here are ideas.

Everett Brown — who has designed hundreds of rooms for real homes and dream homes, for real people who live in them and for stores and model houses all over the country — believes that bedroom color schemes should be as interesting and varied as living room schemes. He livens the pink bedroom with rosy red, perhaps in velvet for a bedspread and chair. With dark mahogany furniture he has used a single color with rich and handsome effect, an unusual shade of melon yellow for white bedspreads and bright turquoise bedspreads and upholstered chairs. And here is a new bedroom he has just completed in black and white. Except for the beautiful silver elm of the furniture and gray for the floor, white is relieved only by the bold black and white paint.

16 U.S. Planes Lost in War's Costliest Week

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The U. S. Far East Air Forces announced Saturday their costliest week of the air war in Korea — three Sabre jets shot down in dogfights and 13 other planes destroyed by Communist ground fire.

FEAF listed Communist losses for the period—the week ended Friday—as 12 Russian-built MIGs shot down and 14 damaged in air battles. The Air Force reports Red losses from day to day, but now lists Allied losses only by the week.

An Air Force spokesman said the weekly average Allied loss since last spring has been about seven planes. Recent weeks have averaged 10 planes — attesting to the growing challenge of Red air power and anti-aircraft.

210 Red Jets Downed
The 12 MIGs shot down during the past week brought to 210 the number of Soviet Red jet fighters destroyed by Allied planes since the beginning of the war. FEAF said 51 others were probably destroyed and 325 damaged.

Communist losses of all types of planes were listed as: 336 destroyed, 100 probably destroyed and 380 damaged.

In Washington, the Air Force announced United Nations aerial losses from all causes exceed 900 since the war's beginning. The figure was said to include 532 Navy and carrier-based Marine planes through Oct. 1 — of which 215 were lost through enemy action.

In Tokyo, the Air Force was working to consolidate all losses more exactly, but said the best available figure thus far was 423 U. S. Air Force combat planes lost to enemy action through Jan. 11.

The 423 figure did not include losses by attached units such as South Africans, Australians, U. S. Marines, Republic of Korea, Army liaison types, service plane losses or Navy planes.

Combat Planes
The Air Force said it applied only to U. S. combat types, such as B-29 Superforts, B-26 light bombers and fighter-bomber and fighter types.

There were three brief dogfights over Northwest Korea Saturday, but no damage to either side was reported. Sabre jet pilots spotted some 200 MIGs north of the Yalu River, in Manchuria, but only about half ventured south of the border into North Korea.

On the snow-mantled battlefield, Allied raiding parties probed Communist positions in the Western and Central sectors against light to moderate resistance.

FISHING FIRST
LONDON (INS)—Littlehampton Council have decided that fishing is of more importance than fiddling. They decided to make a money grant to the local angling society but refused financial help to the philharmonic society.

AERIAL SAFECRACKER
DENVER (INS)—Robert Tripe has built himself a career as a "flying safecracker." Tripe, a former aerial gunner, is a master locksmith employed by a Denver firm. He has flown 10,000 miles (as a passenger) to coax stubborn safes open, and retrieve needed papers or valuables from vaults, strong boxes or filing cases.

The Duke of York opened Australia's first Parliament, May 9, 1901.

OPEN STOCK

If you are faced with solving one of the commonest of all home-planning problems... furnishing your home on a shoe-string, then the new "open stock" furniture is your most satisfactory answer. You're all pretty accustomed to thinking about dishes and silver in terms of open stock. Now, thanks to forward-looking designers and manufacturers, you can buy furniture this same convenient manner. This plan has several distinct advantages. It enables you to buy better pieces by buying just a few to begin with, then adding matching pieces as you go along. Open stock furniture has become the decorator's delight. Designed with distinctiveness and good taste, it mingles well with furniture of other periods. Just a few pieces can transform a tired room into a new modern setting... give it a smart up-to-date look. The sketch above shows an interesting grouping of "open stock". Note how beautifully the upholstered chairs relate themselves to the occasional pieces. A color scheme of dove grey and tomato red sets off the beauty of blonde mahogany wood surfaces. A beige-grey rug is of deep-pile wool broadloom. Whatever style you've chosen for your home decor, you'll find that we offer some of the finest furniture items available. Many types of wood finishes, many attractive designs. Come in soon, won't you? FINE FURNITURE COURT AND LIBERTY PHONE 36543 SCHATZ SALEM FURNITURE
