

From certain opinions aired at City Council the other night, there's the strong likelihood that City softballers will operate minus lights this poming season—meaning that it could be twilight ball for the Major as well as the industrial circuit ... The city's powers-that-be ap-parently are reluctant to dish out funds to equip the projected Bush Pasture diamond with arcs, there has been some dissatisfaction from the direction of the school system about the expense of nightly use of the Leslie lamps during the summer-and the City Softball As-sociation itself is without funds to finance facilities. So it looks like night softball is on the ropes . . .

A little nod should go to the Olympic Games ruling body, which put its foot down and wouldn't move it even for the Russian Bear. Moscow hem and hawed and deliberated shout entering the Winter Games-and in the meantime idea the Commies figured deadlines were for others but not for them. Long after the deadline was passed, Moscow announced in lordly manner that Russia would condescend to put a team in the Olympic ice hockey competition. But the Olympic chiefs stood firm. Nothing doing; the deadline was up-even for Stalin's boys . . .

Obviously Moscow's hesitancy about entering the Winter Games stemmed from a lack of confidence in her athletes. Victory must be certain before the Reds will venture into anything-and they're priming for the Summer Games.

Let's all root for our guys as we never rooted before when time comes for the big summer show in Finland . . .

Unable to catch up after the halftime tie, but never more than two or three points behind, Salem finally knotted the count again at 48-48 when Larry Paulus slammed in a lay-in. But Guard Dean Beck of the red-hot and sharp-eyed Warriors immediately pitched in a long one-hander to again put the visitors in front.

Paulus followed this with another lay-in as the premises went slightly berserk, and was fouled on the play. But he missed the free throw and Lebanon captured the rebound. The Warriors raced down he floor, got the ball over to
