Salem Chamber of Commerce shifted its membership drive into higher gear Friday and Drive Chairman Earl Gooch predicted 15 new members would be introduced at a chamber luncheon Monday.

Twenty leaders in the recruiting effort met at the Senator Hotel Friday noon to continue their work as "Community Builders," by getting better informed on chamber activity prior to membership solicitation. They heard Clair Brown, past president, describe a recently announced proposal to convert the farm labor camps near Salem Airport into industrial sites. The chamber's industries committee is now studying the plan. In its weekly membership announcement the chamber office listed as new members Cherry City Electric, Wallace H. Truck, 4 Cars In Collision Near Brooks

Four autos and a truck scrambled headlights and rear bumpers in a mass pileup on the Pacific Highway near Brooks Friday night.

One driver, Mark Siddall, 71, Astoria hotel owner, was injured. The multiple-vehicle wreck occurred about two miles north of Brooks at the entrance to Bethel Park, a religious center. State police pieced together the accident this way:

When Gardner L. Johnson, who lives at Bethel Park, was making a left turn into the park an auto driven by Wesley J. Burns, Kelso, Wash., slid into the rear of the Johnson car. Then an auto driven by Jack Cook, Dallas, cracked into the rear of the halted Burns auto. And Otto Fred Miller, Boring, route 1, drove his car into the rear of the Cook vehicle. Adalbert R. Fickelimer, Portland, who was behind Miller, managed to keep his truck to halt momentarily undamaged—until he was smacked from the rear by the Siddall auto. The wreck jammed traffic up and down the highway for nearly an hour. Three state patrolmen on hand. Most of the wrecked autos had to be towed from the scene.

Siddall was brought to Salem Memorial Hospital by Salem City Ambulance Service. He was reported in good condition at the hospital Friday night. He was reported to have several cracked ribs and abrasions.

County School Census Lists 24,115 Total

Marion County has 24,115 children and youths of ages 4 through 19. This is indicated in school census totals made complete Friday by the final tabulations of the big Salem School District census.

Taken in recent months, the census shows Salem District had 12,142 children of those ages, including 804 in the Polk County part of the district. The 11,338 total in the Marion County part of the Salem District compares with 12,777 census children elsewhere in Marion County. The census age bracket is established by state law and is used in determination of state and county tax apportionments for school purposes.

To the Salem total census will be added 200 or more children in the school districts recently consolidated with Salem's school system. This would mean an increase in census of about 450 over last year, and a resulting increase in funds from state and county.

Night Driving Claims Half of Traffic Deaths

Fifty per cent of all fatal traffic accidents during the last six months period took place at night, state traffic safety division officials reported Friday. The division pointed out that there were not more than half as many cars on the road at night as in the daytime. A basic driver-error in most cases, officials said, was an over-estimation of the visibility headlights can give.

The southern pine beetle is especially troublesome in East Texas and Eastern North Carolina.

Deputies Clear 11 Burglaries During Week

Burglar badgering deputies in the Marion County Sheriff's office this week cleared up 11 hitherto unsolved recent burglaries in the Salem area.

Deputy Larry Wright cleaned up one burglary each day this week (Monday through Friday) and Tuesday he cleared three. Harvey Frankum cracked four more.

Wright went to Kelso, Wash., Tuesday and heard Edwin Frankum in Ward, 28, inmate of the county jail there, confess to burglarizing the Sublimity Gun Club last October 16. Ward said that he and Robert Sylvester Williamson, 24, now in custody at Tacoma awaiting action on a federal charge of postoffice burglary, robbed the Sublimity clubhouse of $30 in cash and cigarette and candy.

Ward has been sentenced in Washington to two 15-year prison terms for safe burglary. He will soon go to Tacoma to face the same federal charge as Williamson.

Deputy Frankum said that admissions secured this week from Robert Keith Huits, Salem, in Marion County Jail awaiting sentencing on burglary charges, have cleared up four burglaries in the past two years at the George W. Kins residence in Marion.

This was announced Friday by Frank McKennon, chief of the Division of Plant Industry of the Department of Agriculture which administers the act. He said examinations for operators' licenses would be given on Jan. 30 as originally planned.

Constitutionality of the act is being attacked by Lee Demers, owner of a flying service, in the Marion County Circuit Court.

Job Placement Total Highest In Five Years

Job placements reported by Oregon's 28 local employment offices during 1951 increased to the highest number in five years for trade, service and industry, the State Unemployment Compensation Commission reported Friday. The year's total of 92,272 was only a few hundred short of the 1946 peak when thousands of veterans and war workers were finding new jobs over the state. In 1950 placements reached 79,661, while in the previous year only 56,038 were reported. More new job openings were received from employers than for any year since 1946. An average of nearly 10,000 a month were given to local offices, compared with about 8,600 in 1950 and 8,000 a month the year before.
