Styling, Power Cited in 1952 Automobiles

DETROIT—New body styling, improved engine power and major mechanical changes characterize the 1952 Mercury, which will go on display in dealer showrooms Wednesday, January 30.

Available in eight different body styles, with a choice of 22 colors or color combinations, the new Mercury introduces a distinctive new style trend in automobile design, officials say.

The new Mercury is declared to offer a roomier and more luxurious interior and a smart, "big car" exterior, and at the same time is easier to handle and more economical to operate.

In addition to a two-door sedan and two four-door sedans, the doors of which are hinged from the front, Mercury for 1952 has two sport coupes with "hard-top" styling, plus a convertible and two four-door station wagons. This is the most complete line ever offered by Mercury in the 14 years of its history.

Completely re-styled, the 1952 Mercury combines smooth flat surfaces with a minimum of curves and extruded projections. A simulated air-scoop on the low flat hood and similar features on the sides are declared to add pleasing touches and individuality to the styling.

This year, for the first time, Mercury cars are equipped with brake and clutch pedals suspended from a bracket between the instrument and dash panel, giving more foot room for the driver and eliminating the necessity for access openings in the floor.

Numerous refinements to the famed Mercury V-8 engine have boosted its power to 125 horsepower. The compression ratio has been increased to 7.2 to 1.

Again in 1952, Mercury cars will be available in any of three transmissions: Standard, Touch-O-Matic overdrive, and Merc-O-Matic.
