

Winnie Judd's Escape Baffles Arizona Police

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Baffled police were without a single major clue Sunday as they pressed their search for red-headed Winnie Ruth Judd, the wily trunk murderer who broke out of the State Hospital for Insane Sunday night.

"We've run up against a blank wall," said Sheriff L. C. Bois of Maricopa County. "We're checking every possible place we think she might go, but have no new developments."

Bois said all border crossing points, all main roads and homes of her former friends and acquaintances were being watched.

Winnie Ruth, 48, was committed to the hospital in 1933, two years after she killed two girl friends and shipped their dismembered bodies to Los Angeles in a trunk and suit case.

Her latest break for freedom, the fifth since she entered the institution, was apparently well planned.

She slid down a 48-foot rope from the window of a third story tower of the ward to which she was confined. Attendants said the rope, made from restraining harnesses and clothing, reached the ground.

Picked Door Lock
While 93 other patients watched television in a darkened second floor ward, Mrs. Judd picked the lock of a door leading to the tower. Once there, she removed screws from a heavily-secured window, dropped the rope and slid to the ground.

To get out of the hospital grounds she had to scale a nine-foot fence topped by three strands of barbed wire.

Dr. A. H. Wolff, clinical director, told police that four attendants informed him they saw a black sedan with California license plates parked near the fence about the time Mrs. Judd vanished.

Parked Close to Ward
"There were two women in the car, and the attendants told me it was parked as close to Mrs. Judd's ward as possible," Dr. Wolff said.

It was only last Nov. 29 that Mrs. Judd made her fourth escape. That time she used a rope ladder fashioned from electric iron cords and rags to climb down from a window.

She was recaptured near the downtown section of Phoenix within 24 hours.

Candidates of Both Parties See 'Victory'

Party confidence in the eventual outcome in the still-distant presidential election radiated from both national camps, Republican and Democrat, Saturday.

Guy Gabrielson, chairman of the Republican National Committee, asked what Democratic candidate he considered "really most formidable," replied: "I think we will lick them all, as a matter of fact, or any one they might put up." He made his comments during an NBC TV program.

Equally confident was Frank E. McKinley, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, speaking in Detroit. He said: "Our record and the sorry record of the Republican Party, are the surest guarantees of a Democratic victory."

These expressions of confidence came as both Democratic and Republican candidates for the presidential nomination carried their campaign to the country.

Taft in Kentucky
Sen. Taft of Ohio, invaded Kentucky in his presidential drive, with an obvious eye on the border state's votes in the Republican nominating convention.

Sen. Kefauver, the Tennessee Democrat, opened his campaign for the presidential nomination with a speech at Detroit at a general Democratic rally.

Meantime, President Truman kept his own counsel on whether he will run, but said he expects to do a lot of campaigning to get the "truth" before the voters. In a letter in "The Democrat" a Party organ, he predicted a campaign of "distortion" by the Republicans.

Back Truman
California's most powerful Democrats voted unanimously at a Los Angeles meeting to back President Truman for re-election.

A slate of delegates will be selected to oppose in the California June primary a group backing Kefauver for the Democratic nomination.

In St. Paul, Minn., Harold E. Stassen began his Minnesota campaign with a challenge to Taft to get into the Republican presidential fight in that state.

He said this would give the people of Minnesota a "thorough choice" of candidates, as both he and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower are entered. He repeated a previous prediction neither Eisenhower nor Taft could win the GOP nomination.
