Like Mother Made

Curried Bananas, Inexpensive Cake, Orange Torte Among Old Recipes

By MAXINE BUREN
Statesman Woman's Editor

We've let Mother's file of old recipes alone for some time now, but every once in a while we feel the urge to thumb through the collection of notations and select some that sound extra good. Mother was fond of cooking fruits, and liked something a bit unusual. We find a recipe for "Curry of Bananas and Rice" which, interpreted means

CURRY OF BANANAS AND RICE
6 large ripe bananas 2 tablespoons curry powder
1 large onion 1 cup canned coconut milk
1 sour apple, cut small 1/2 cup coconut
2 tablespoons olive oil 1 teaspoon salt
1 cup cooked rice

Fry bananas in oil, keep hot. To oil left in pan, add onion and apple and cook for 10 minutes without browning. Add curry and cook another 10 minutes, then milk and coconut. (Ed. note: use some other liquid if no coconut milk available, even water). Add bananas long enough to heat through, serve inside border of hot rice.

Incidentally, though we haven't a recipe here, Mother used frequently to cook onions and apples together in a skillet as a meat accompaniment.

Plain fried apples were a breakfast favorite at our house, cooked as only one woman could cook them. She sliced the apples in about eighths, leaving skins on. After they'd simmered awhile in the butter, a speck of water was added and the lid put on a few minutes, then the brown sugar was sprinkled over and the lid put on again until the sugar was melted and almost caramelized. This usually went over milk toast.

She cooked the onion-apple combination about the same, using a bit less sugar.

Here's a good sounding orange torte among her recipes:

ORANGE CREAM TORTE
2 egg yolks, beaten 1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup flour 1 cup orange juice
3/4 cup sugar 1 teaspoon grated rind
Pinch salt

Combine yolks, flour, sugar and salt, add other ingredients and cook in a double boiler, cool, pour in a pan lined with Graham crust, cover with crumbs or a meringue and bake slowly for 20 to 25 minutes.

Among the recipes is a topping for a one-egg cake which would well suit the modern budget. The recipe will give style to a simple cake.

DATE TOPPING FOR ONE EGG CAKE
1/2 package dates 3/4 cup water
1/2 cup sugar 1/2 cup whipped cream

Boil all but nuts for about 10 or 12 minutes. Spread over cake and bake as usual. Leave pan in pan, cut in squares and serve topped with whipped cream and sprinkled with nuts.
