By The Associated Press The annual four-games-infive-nights tour through the Palouse country is next on the basketball schedule for the University of Oregon Ducks. The Ducks leave Eugene Thursday and are to play at Pullman against Washington State Friday and Saturday nights, and then at Mescow against Idaho Monday

These games will be the only ones in the conference for the weekend, although Washington's champion Huskies will be occupied in a pair of games at Laramie, Wyo., against the Wyoming Cowboys Friday and Saturday

Oregon defeated WSC twice at the start of the season, and broke even with Idaho when the Vandals played at Eugene. Coach Bill Borcher's Ducks downed Oregon State twice last weekend also and are now established in third place with five wins, five losses. The second place Idaho quint has an 8-7 record and fourth place WSC

Probable starters for Borcher forwards, Chet Noe at center and out the services of regular Guard Phil Brown who has left school because of grade difficulties. Replacing Brown in the starting lineup for the Cougars will be Jim Howell, a senior. Other Cougar starters are Pete Mullins, George Rosser, Eric Roberts and

Bearcats Set For Linfield

Willamette's Bearcats finish up final drills today for their weekend pair with the Linfield Wildcats, and stand ready to button up their fourth straight Northwest Conference basketball championship if they can twice upend the Paul Durham-Roy Helser McMinnvilles. The Friday

The Bearcats go into the Linfield games with a sparkling record of 11 wins, 1 loss. But that ord of 11 wins, 1 loss. But that one setback was administered by AAU Tourney Linffeld on January 12 at Mc-Minaville, an item the Bearcats haven't forgotten.

Clark Pioneers have a 9-3 record, but are faced with a three-game invasion of Whitman and College of Idaho where they could find the going plenty rough.

One win for the Bearcats In their three remaining games will cinch at least a tie for the title, if three remaining games. Two wins for Coach Johnny Lewis' court Agents. magicians will haul home the whole thing.

They aim to capture those two wins the coming weekend.

The former Kentucky captain will be questioned again Thursday but no date has been set for his appearance before the New York Grand Jury.

Hogan charged in an affidavit signed by O'Connor that Hirsch and two other Kentucky players, Dale Barnstable and James Line, accepted bribes to shave points in games played in Kentucky and Arkansas in 1949 and 1950.

Barnstable already is under indictment, along with Alex Grozaand Ralph Beard, on charges of accepting money to fix a game in New York.
