

Bank Robber's Pal Caught in New York City

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Commissioner George Monaghan announced Wednesday the capture of Thomas Kling, whom he identified as a pal of bank robber Willie Sutton and one of the nation's 10 most wanted criminals.

Monaghan also reported the arrest during the day of an armed confederate of Sutton's in New York. He did not immediately identify the individual or add any other details.

Kling was described as a prison acquaintance of Sutton, who was seized in Brooklyn Monday. "They had been seeing each other off and on," Monaghan said, "and we have definite information that they were going on a really big 'job' in the near future."

Lois of Handcuffs
Three detectives cornered Kling in a Manhattan rooming house. They said three pistols and 19 pairs of handcuffs were found in the room. There was no explanation for the presence of the handcuffs.

The police commissioner described Kling as "one of the toughest bandits in this country." The commissioner would not reveal how they picked up Kling's trail. But he said the detectives put in "28 hours of continuous work" on the case.

Earlier, a tall young clothing salesman with a memory for faces turned up as the unsung hero in the capture of the notorious Sutton.

Given Tip
He is 24-year-old Arnold Schuster, who tipped off Brooklyn police that a man he'd noticed on a subway was the elusive, long-sought bank robber.

"Don't think I'm crazy," he told two radio car patrolmen, as he pointed out Sutton to them.

Schuster recognized the 51-year-old Willie from a "wanted" picture that hung for months in his father's Brooklyn clothing store, where young Schuster works.

The original police version of the capture omitted any mention of Schuster's tip.

Long Machine Soundly Beaten In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Louisiana rebelled against Gov. Earl Long and swept into the governor's office a homespun country judge who flayed "Longism" and voiced dislike of Mr. Truman.

Robert Kennon, a judge on the second Circuit Court of Appeals in rural North Louisiana, walloped Carlos Spaut of Baton Rouge, who was the governor's choice as a successor.

The governor's opponents joined in a coalition supporting Kennon, who ran as an independent. His home is in Miden.

Gov. Long's four-year term ends May 6. The constitution bars a chief executive from succeeding himself.

Unofficial returns from 2,092 of the state's 2,113 precincts in Tuesday's Democratic primary—equivalent to election—showed:

Kennon 477,913
Spaut 299,032

The total vote thus far—776,945—had set an all-time high for Louisiana.
